When Dealing
In Permits

ACCORDING to a rumor which is being circulated around town today, the Glendale city council is planning on granting, at their next meeting, a bus franchise to one of two local companies which are now being promoted.

We would suggest that the city council hesitate for some time before granting any permit for bus lines. This is too valuable an asset to Glendale for the city fathers to rush it through.

As we have mentioned in previous editorials, we should recognize that the Pacific Electric company has a large investment in Glendale and we should look at the proposition, taking this into consideration.

WE are absolutely convinced that Glendale should have lower fares and we feel that if the matter is presented in a proper manner to the Pacific Electric officials that they will see the justice of our conviction.

We are also convinced that it would be much to our city's benefit to offer to the Pacific Electric a local bus franchise, if they in turn will reduce the present fare on their lines out of Glendale.

ONE company making money is more desirable than two companies, either losing or just paying expenses. For we can rest assured that if on account of competition the present lines become losing ventures, a cut-down in service is inevitable, while if lines are paying, the services and equipment will without doubt be kept up and extended.

A COMMITTEE of local business men has been appointed by the chamber of commerce to go into the transportation problem with the Pacific Electric officials, and it is to be hoped that the city council will not throw away our chance for lower fares by hurrying a franchise through.

NOW that the list of entries for the coming councilman race is complete we may look over the qualifications of the several candidates.

There are seven men in the race, all new in a local political way, with the exception of A. H. Latham. He has just served a term as councilman and must be judged on his accomplishments. In other words—how he acted in harness. The other aspirants are unknown in a political way, so far as local offices are concerned.

THE majority of our citizens are unbiassed at this time—all they want is the two men who are the best qualified to serve the city.

We are all impressed with the importance of electing men at this time who can give us a level-headed business administration—men who will give careful thought and consideration to the numerous problems confronting our city.

AS a means of becoming acquainted with the different candidates we would suggest that they be invited to appear before our civic and business organizations and give us an opportunity to become acquainted.

POSTMASTER IS AWAITING ACTION

Allowance for April Will Indicate "The Limit" Promised by Washington

Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson is awaiting news from Washington as to the allowance for this office for April, in the hope that it will make good its promise to "go the limit" in meeting Glendale's needs. Nine auxiliary men, six of them carriers and three clerks are taking an involuntary vacation because the quarter's appropriation was insufficient to pay them.

Some of the carriers are voluntarily laying off without pay in order that some of the substitutes may be retained who would otherwise have to be dropped.

Carriers who are left are doing extra work to meet the demands of the service, some of them carrying over 100 pounds of mail.

BUILDERS EXCHANGE IS FORMED

Initial Steps Are Taken at Meeting Held Friday Night

TO BOOST BUILDING

Thirty Attend the Meeting to Start Organization Work

The initial steps in the formation of the Builders' Exchange of Glendale, which is to be a branch of a similar organization of Los Angeles, were taken at a dinner meeting at the Harriet Mae Tea room, corner Maryland and Harvard, Friday night.

The action taken was the selecting of a committee consisting of Peter Ferry, J. C. May and J. W. Kern to go further into the matter and to arrange for a meeting to be held at the same place next Friday evening.

The purpose of this organization is to promote building in and around Glendale, and to assist the industries that are represented, in general. About thirty builders of Glendale were present. H. W. Hellman is president.

WOMAN INJURED IN AUTO CRASH IN GLENDAL

Mrs. O. L. Lake of L. A. Is Victim of Accident on Verdugo Road

Mrs. O. L. Lake of Los Angeles was injured at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon when machines operated by O. L. Lake and Mrs. Randall, 1818 North Verdugo road, collided, the accident taking place on Los Feliz road. The injured lady was taken to the office of R. E. Chase, where medical attention was given, after which she was removed to her home.

E. W. Woolsey, 1013 East Palm avenue and C. Uhlenberg, 827 East California, were driving machines that came together at the corner of Orange and Broadway at 3:45 o'clock Friday afternoon. Little damage was done.

Another accident occurred when cars driven by Roland Carlisle Owens, 347 North Brand boulevard, and C. Anderson, 3732 Seneca avenue, collided at the corner of Central and Park at 6 o'clock Friday night. The fender of the Owens machine was bent.

Valley Boulevard to Hold Carnival

At the meeting of the San Fernando Boulevard Association Friday night at the office of the president, L. H. Wilson, a decision was reached to celebrate the conversion of that thoroughfare into a great white way by the illumination of the electrolights just installed, with a carnival which will be one of the biggest and jazziest affairs that have ever been given on the south side of the city.

The date has not been fixed but it will be some time within the next two weeks. $100 has already been subscribed for publicity and expenses.

Other business transacted was the drafting of a petition to the city council for the strict regulation of private camping grounds, and recommending that the city establish a municipal camp ground. There was general discussion of the ground at Riverdale and San Fernando road which was declared objectionable as now conducted.

The association endorsed the proposed election for a bond issue to purchase the Glendale airport. The general committee appointed for the proposed carnival included: L. H. Wilson, Charles Griffin, Roy Johnson, William Griffin, Harry Smith, H. S. Cobb, John L. Rondou, Fred A. Barlow and A. M. Salyer.

FINED FOR SPEEDING

Kenneth Charles of 5913 1/2 Pasadena avenue, Los Angeles, pleaded guilty of speeding in Glendale before Judge Lowe, Friday morning and was fined $15.

SARAH BERNHARDT ALARMS PHYSICIANS

PARIS, March 24.—The illness of Sarah Bernhardt is causing the greatest alarm. The noted actress had a very bad night and her physicians today expressed fears of the worst.

ORPHEUS CLUB TO GIVE CONCERT FOR THE KIWANIS FOLKS

Arrangements have been perfected for a concert by the Orpheus club, one of the leading musical organizations of Los Angeles, to be given under the auspices of the Kiwanis Club, Saturday, April 14, in the auditorium of the Tuesday Afternoon club at 8 p. m. There are fifty-five male voices in the club.

SUNRISE SERVICE PLANS COMPLETED

Community Celebration to Surpass the Big Event of Christmas

Plans have been completed for Glendale's first Easter sunrise service to be held under Glendale Community Service, and which is expected to surpass in magnitude the big Community Christmas celebration which was attended by over 8000 people. The services will begin Easter morning at 5:30 o'clock and will be held at the top of Mount Forest Lawn, formerly known as Tropic Hill. The Kelly Shrine club band will furnish the music for singing.

According to K. E. Tucker, local Community Service executive, banners will be stationed at various points throughout the city to give the call at 4:30 o'clock. This feature will be in charge of Ed Moniot. The members of the Boy Scouts will assist in handling the traffic, as will the Glendale police force. The National Guards and American Legion members are also being asked to assist in this.

What will no doubt draw a large crowd is the fact that this hill is easy of access and that people coming from Los Angeles may leave there one or two hours later than would be necessary if they were to attend any of the other Easter sunrise services in Southern California.

The Pacific Electric will run special trains from Los Angeles to Glendale, the first train to leave the Main street station at 4:40 o'clock. There will also be special service from North Glendale and the Eagle Rock and Montrose stations. There will be ample provision made for the parking of automobiles at the base of the hill, which will mean a short hike for those attending. Those not coming by machines may take the trail on the north side of the hill or the one which starts just back of the Little Church of the Flowers.

The electrically lighted cross is being installed at the top of Mount Forest Lawn and will be in place and lighted by tomorrow night. Large signs are being placed on Los Feliz road, Glendale boulevard, San Fernando road and the streets of Los Angeles, announcing the service. Arrow signs will be put on the highways leading to Glendale and the Easter sunrise program will be otherwise advertised.

V. M. Hollister, president of Glendale Community Service, will be master of ceremonies at the services. The program will open with a cornet solo, "The Holy City" by Claire Ansapack. The opening chorus will be under the direction of Professor J. B. Poulin, with Miss Lilla Litch as accompanist. This will be "Unfold Ye Portals." Rev. W. E. Edmonds will give the invocation. The program also includes the following numbers:

Vocal solo by Mayor Spencer Robinson.

Reading of the poem, "God of the Open Air" (Van Dyke) by Frederick Ward.

Vocal solo by Constance Balfour.

Chorus number, "Christ the Lord Is Risen."

Benediction by Rev. C. M. Calderwood.

The program will last about one hour. Rehearsals of the chorus numbers will be held Wednesday night at 7:45 o'clock in the high school. A large attendance is anticipated and an invitation is extended to anyone who would like to join in this.

THE NON-SECTION CLUB SERVE SHRINE CLUB DINNER

At the meeting of fifty of the non-section members of the Tuesday Afternoon club, held yesterday with Mrs. A. H. Montgomery presiding, plans were made for this group of club members to serve the dinner for the Shrine club dinner-dance at the clubhouse on April 7 and also the luncheon for the College Women's club on April 14. Mrs. Montgomery reported $323 cleared at the luncheon recently given and stated that a big dancing party is being planned for some time in April at which the young ladies who assisted in serving at the luncheon will be the special guests. It is anticipated that there will be a large crowd of young people present at this event.

Plans were discussed for the Carnival of Months, which will take place on May 5.

FACULTY FROLIC IS INAUGURATED AS AN ANNUAL HI FEATURE

Mrs. George U. Moyses Admits Being the Originator of the Idea for Fun Among the Members of Teaching Staff Once Yearly

PROCEEDS ARE SHARED WITH THE STUDENTS

Auditorium Capacity Is Sold Out Three Days Ahead of the Performance and Non-ticket Holders
Arriving Late Are Turned Away

The "faculty frolic" at Glendale high Friday night inaugurated something promised as an annual affair in the prologue speech made by Mrs. George U. Moyses, vice principal, who admitted that she was the parent of the idea, taken up with enthusiasm by other faculty members. She explained that the intent was to entertain the students with wholesome fun and incidentally to enjoy themselves in the process, and that the proceeds would be divided between the High School Teachers' club and the scholarship fund of the school.

Members of the faculty not participating in the program acted as ticket-takers and ushers, garbed in white, with the school colors adorning caps and featuring neckties and scarves.

Three days ago the house was sold out but many non-ticket holders came in the hope that a place would be found for them by putting in extra chairs or that they would be permitted to stand at the rear of the room and in the doorways. To their great disappointment this was forbidden on the ground of fire risk.

The show was good enough to warrant repetition and possibly the entertainers can be persuaded to gratify the hundreds who missed out.

It demonstrated that high school instructors can teach by precept and example, too, and should help to establish a good standard, for it was all pure fun and absurdity with real brains behind every act which kept the audience in a roar of amusement most of the time, but without a note of crude jazz. Also, it began practically on time and marched along with the promptness and precision of a professional performance.

If any of the students have doubted the ability of the faculty to compete with them along entertainment lines of a "jinks" character, their uncertainties must have disappeared before this performance.

The school orchestra, which opened and closed the program with numbers led by Ivan Dow and Thomas Wood, Jr., did itself proud. The Pinero farce, "The Play-Goers" was so deliciously amusing that the audience rocked in its seats.

"Le Problem," put on by the girls' gymnasium instructors, was a very clever little satire in view of the heated sessions over the question "To dance or not to dance," which has agitated the high school P.T. A. from time to time, and was also a smart spectacular number.

Men of the faculty, few of whom except Mr. Brewster could be recognized through their make up, showed to advantage in the "Shooting of Dan McGrew" and its wild-west setting.

As a contrast to the rest of the program, Miss Zeiler interpreted most beautifully Chopin's "Waltz in B Minor" and Leschetizky's "Intermezzo in Octaves."

In "The Station Master" Mr. Brewster has evolved a clever vehicle for an amusing monologue which will probably be in great request.

"Penetrating the Unseen" was an excellent take-off on platform mediumistic stunts.

Mrs. Florence Parker as "Yum Yum Mary Jane" brought down the houses with an original topical song of which faculty members were the theme, and a most diverting closing spectacle was afforded by "Sillyettes, or Life in the Fifties," an "Educational Travelogue," for the arrangement of which Miss Crandall and Miss Corry were given credit, and for which Miss Freeman read the descriptive text.

GLENDAL AVENUE PAVEMENT IS DISCUSSED

The matter of paving Glendale avenue was discussed at a meeting of the Glendale Avenue paving committee of the Glendale Advanced association, at the office of W. E. Mercer, 624 East Broadway, at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon.

The decision was reached that the first things to be considered is quality. While the cost is extremely important, the securing of a good pavement is the chief requisite.

The members of the committee will go to Fullerton in the near future.

KIWANIS DISTRICT GOV. ATTENDS LOCAL MEETING

W. R. Brown Declares He Will Locate Factory in City

The Southern California Edison Company's road show, and a brief talk by W. R. Brown, governor of the California-Nevada District, constituted the program at the meeting of the Glendale Kiwanis Club held in the banquet hall of the chamber of commerce Friday noon.

The road show consisted of slides exhibiting the development of hydro-electric power in California in which $16,000,000 are invested in California alone. In connection with the slides machines were shown capable of releasing one million volts of electricity which the operators permitted to pass through their bodies without suffering harm, although they were sufficient to ignite paper and other articles.

L. S. Peterman, J. J. Rarick and Guy Pettit, who were guests of the club, put on the show.

W. R. Brown, district governor, complimented members on the beauty of Glendale, which has so far captured him that he is locating a manufacturing plant here on San Fernando road and expects to make his home in this city although he is at present living in Pasadena.

M. B. Towman, manager of the local office of the Southern Automobile Club, called the attention of members to the motor vehicle act now before the legislature, and urged the adoption of the resolution with regard to it by the Southern California Automobile Club. He explained its purpose to substitute for the present high tax on automobiles a tax on gasoline of 1c per gallon and a small tax on passengers in excess of the minimum. The club unanimously voted its indorsement of the resolution.

A. L. Ferguson presided and the meeting was very well attended. The guest list included: L. G. Miller, G. J. Early, W. C. Taylor and William Dunkley of the Pasadena Kiwanis Club; W. R. Brown, district governor, from San Francisco; W. Zimmer, W. H. Hyde, W. C. Nicolas, J. A. Newton, W. P. Millard and L. W. Stafford of Glendale. Community singing was led by Ole Andresen.

LEGION POST IS HOST TO COUNTY PRESIDENT

Approves Balloting on the Airport and Its Acquisition

Phillip Dodson, president of the Los Angeles county council of the American Legion, was the guest of honor at the regular meeting last night of members of Glendale post, No. 127, American Legion. He gave a very inspiring talk on "The Value of the Legion Post to the Community," in which he said "The members of the American Legion have been of service to the country and the community during the war and will continue to be in time of peace. They are a big factor in all matters which have to do with the welfare of the community." One of the articles of the Legion constitution is that each member should inculcate a sense of personal obligation in the community. The members of the local post are confident that they will be able to continue their work on a large and more efficient scale when they have the question of a clubhouse site settled.

The members of the local post of the American Legion were on record as endorsing the city council's effort to secure the San Fernando road airport site for the people of the city, and also endorsed their action in placing the matter before the people on the ballot.

The post accepted the offer of the Glendale Community Service Players to put on a musical comedy show for two nights at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, some time in April, the entire proceeds to be for the Legion building fund.

Members and friends are looking forward to the next dance of the Legion, which will be on March 31, with Leroy Fortier in charge.

SHRINE CLUB TO DECIDE ON HOME

At the next regular meeting of the Shrine Club to be held April 4th the Pearl Keller Studio, at 7:30 o'clock, the club will be asked to take action on permanent club rooms for which a tentative option has been secured.

The club will give its monthly ladies' night, which will be a dinner dance, April 7, at the Tuesday Afternoon Club.

CHURCH DAY TO BE OBSERVED SUNDAY

"Church Day" will be observed by all protestant churches of Glendale tomorrow, in connection with "Palm Sunday" which will furnish the theme of many of the sermons to be preached and for which special music will be provided by the choirs. Notices are being sent to all the members of the churches inviting them to be present at these special services, intended to bring home to them their sacred obligations.

C. OF C. TAKES UP P. E. FARE

Appoints Committee to Confer With Railway
on Reduction

At the special meeting of the directorate of the Chamber of Commerce, held at the chamber Friday night, an interesting report was made by Roy Kent on post-office service and its possible betterment.

The directors went on record as indorsing the resolution recommended by the Automobile Club of Southern California relative to the bill now before the state legislature proposing a tax on gasoline.

A committee was appointed consisting of Peter Ferry, chairman; W. E. Evans and Thomas D. Watson to take up the matter of lower fares with the Pacific Electric Railway.

An invitation was extended through Alvin W. Makepeace of Pasadena to Major General Mason Patrick, to visit Glendale and make an inspection of its airport. Major Patrick, head of the U. S. Aviation service, is to be in Pasadena in the near future. He will be asked to make a short address at an open forum meeting which will be held on the day of his visit.

The board decided for the present to hold two meetings a week; a noon luncheon on Tuesday, and evening sessions Friday nights at 7:30.

OAKMONT COUNTRY CLUB SECURITIES ARE ABSORBED

Officers of the Oakmont Country club report that the seventy-five $2000 bonds recently placed upon the market to secure funds for development were over-subscribed, i. e., there was $20,000 more offered than the club needs, and ten latercomers will be turned down.

Two hundred and twenty members have already been enrolled and these include persons prominent in literature, art, and business—Zane Grey, the writer; Seymour Thomas, the artist; John G. Bullock, of the Bullock department store; J. Hartley Taylor of the Taylor Milling company; L. C. Brand, and a group of wealthy men from Monrovia, including Dr. Pottinger of the Pottinger Sanitarium, W. Baird of Duarte, President Melvinth and Messrs. A. F. Graft and S. W. Higgins of the National Bank of Monrovia.

MASONIC COMMITTEES MEET
The Masonic building committee met Friday night in the office of Fred Deal to consider projects for a new Masonic temple capable of meeting the needs of all the local Masonic orders.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD TODAY FOR MRS. MITCHELL

Victim of Gasoline Explosion Succumbs
Friday

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at St. Mark's Episcopal church, conducted by Rev. Kemp over the remains of Mrs. Louise Mitchell, wife of Elwood H. Mitchell, who died Friday morning at 11 o'clock. Death resulted from an explosion of gasoline while Mrs. Mitchell was cleaning some gloves in a garage.

She was born June 19, 1895, and leaves two children, a daughter, Margaret, two years old, and an infant son, 2 months old, named Henry Perry Mitchell.

The Mitchells came to Glendale from Lawrenceburg, New Mexico, about 2 1/2 years ago, and located at 623 North Isabel. Mr. Mitchell is an attorney connected with the firm of Carnahan & Clark, Los Angeles, and is a member of the local American Legion post.

Relatives of Mrs. Mitchell who are here are: Her mother, Mrs. C. P. Crawford of Silver City, New Mexico; an aunt, Mrs. Julia Woodville of Seal Beach, Cal.; an uncle, Gordon Bradley of San Francisco; and a sister, Mrs. M. W. Conger of Bakersfield, Calif. Kiefer & Eyerick will have charge.

ICE GORGE MENACES ALL IOWA

Destruction of Life and Property Is Imminent
As Jam Breaks

RUSH TO SAFETY

People, Cattle and Goods.
Being Moved Out of Lowlands

(By Associated Press)
SIOUX CITY, Iowa, March 24.—Flood danger as a result of ice gorges in the Missouri river is believed to be at its height today. Danger of destruction of life and property is imminent as prospect of the huge ice jam breaking up increases, due to the warm temperature.

Residents of the lowlands in the vicinity of Sergeant Bluffs and Onawa, Iowa, and Yankton and Vermillion, S. D., are moving their livestock from the danger zones and women and children are being sent to places of safety.

Already water held back by a monster ice pack eleven miles in length, extending between the Floyd monument near Sioux City and several miles south of Sergeant Bluffs, has inundated several islands in the river and overflowed onto the lowlands of the surrounding valley.

The Floyd river is out of its banks at several places in Sioux City, due to water which has backed up from the Missouri, but has not done great damage.

OMAHA HEARS REPORT

(By Associated Press)
OMAHA, Neb., March 24.—Unprecedented mammoth ice gorges in the Missouri river near Vermillion, S. D., Sioux City and Onawa, Iowa, and Dakota City, Neb., early this morning have precipitated conditions that present a great menace for all the lowlands between Vermillion and Omaha, and that threaten the flooding of thousands of acres of rich farm lands in South Dakota, Iowa and Nebraska and the destruction of hundreds of farm homes.

An ice gorge reported to be 11 miles long and seven miles wide in places south of Sioux City this morning was strangulating the mighty Missouri river. The stream, strengthened by thaws and spring floods, is engaged in a titanic struggle to break the deadly grip. In its struggle the river is dissipating its strength in overflow into the lowlands.

A drop in temperature today is helping the ice mass retain its grip, but at any moment the river's terrific pressure may triumph and then its dammed up, choked up and denied waters will surge down the valley. A conservative Sioux City estimate places the number of farms in the path of such a water wall at 2000.

Late last night an ice gorge formed near Onawa, Iowa, and flood stage developed, forcing the residents of the lowlands there to flee. The gorge formed south of the city and at midnight last night had grown to be three and one-half miles long with towering ice peaks. At that time the officials at Onawa gave up hope of shattering the gorge with explosives.

P.-T. A. of Grand View Heard of Tests

At the monthly meeting of the Grand View Parent-Teacher Association held at the school Friday afternoon, Miss Vera Sinclair, principal, reported the results of the intelligence test recently given at that school, the only one in Glendale to which it has been applied.

Dr. Anderson gave a talk on boys and girls and the responsibilities of parents whom he advised to be pals with their children.

The treasurer reported the sums of $20.15 and $11. recently made from ice cream and cake sales.

The gift from the class which recently was graduated of a collection of records for the Brunswick phonograph which is being purchased by the P. T. A. was reported.

Announcement was also made that the plans selected to promote attendance of P. T. A. members on the meetings, is "The Boy Christ."

Another announcement concerned the participation of the P. T. A. in the entertainment to be given Monday evening at the school in connection with the opening of the new branch library.

SUNSET GROVE 'ADAM'S RIB' IS ALREADY HALF SOLD

port Astonishing Rapidity of Sales

Hamlin & Hepburn, subdividers, of 203 West Broadway, report that Sunset Grove is already over half sold, which is evidence that the values offered in this beautiful tract are meeting with the approval of people who desire a high-class restricted homesite.

It is a great advantage to purchase a lot covered with beautiful trees, when in addition to this the lots are located between two main boulevards high enough up the slope to command the magnificent view of the valley and mountains and at the same time be so accessible it cannot fail to appeal to builders, investors and home-seekers alike.

A careful survey of available homesites on the market cannot fail to convince the most skeptical that wonderful values are being offered in Sunset Grove.

GLENDAL RECREATION CENTER

133 North Brand Blvd., Glendale

The largest indoor set in the history of motion pictures.

That's what is claimed for the huge prehistoric forest which forms the background for the "somewhat different" cave-man sequence of "Adam's Rib," the new Cecil B. DeMille Paramount picture which features Milton Sills, Elliott Dexter, Theodore Kosloff, Anna Q.

PAULINE GARON and MILTON SILLS
in Cecil B. DeMille's Paramount Picture
"Adam's Rib"

Nilsson and Pauline Garon, and which will be the big feature at the T. D. and L. theatre, opening a four day run Sunday.

Paul Tribe, art director for Cecil B. DeMille used 225 plasterers and carpenters for two weeks in the construction of the set. Forty-five huge trees were built, 12 of them over 50 feet in circumference. The back part of the set was elevated 18 feet in order to give a hilly perspective and make possible a bubbling, leaping brook which cascades down waterfalls to black forest pools. The trees tower to the full height of the stage, 30 feet.

Over 150,000 pounds of plaster were used to build the set and enough lumber to build a good-sized bungalow court or apartment house. A carload of real pine trees was brought down from Oregon to fit in with the created monarchs of the forest. Ten thousand ferns were used, a carload of underbrush and 6000 pounds of moss in sixty bales.

The story of "Adam's Rib" deals with the troubles of a family of wealth, in which the daughter saves the wreck of her home by divorce, by sacrificing herself. The theme tends to show that in all ages of man, from the cave-man period downward, human passions were the same, and that the flapper of today had her prototype in the cave-woman of thousands of years ago. But in "Adam's Rib," the modern flapper proves a woman of resource and practical value.

MRS. HOLBROOK ELECTED SECRETARY OF EASTERN STAR

A busy session marked the regular meeting last night of the members of Glen Eyrie Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, which was held at Masonic Temple with worthy matron Mildred Lyon in charge. Mrs. B. O. Holbrook was elected and installed as secretary, to take the place of Mrs. Annette Booth, resigned. A class of three candidates was initiated. Seven applications for membership were also balloted on.

In the absence of Adah, Miss Irene Whitaker; Ruth, Mrs. Valencia Watson, these star point stations were filled by Mrs. Doris Ingledue Thomas and Mrs. Mabel Wilbur. Mr. Jurgensen acted as sentinel in the absence of Mr. Dewar.

Announcement was made that on account of the date for the annual ball of Glen Eyrie chapter coming on Good Friday this event would be postponed until Saturday, April 21. Robert Crumbling, past patron, and the star points will form the committee which will have charge of the ball.

Daisy Brown, worthy matron of Garvanza chapter, O. E. S., and president of the Matrons' Association of this district, was a visitor, as was also Mr. McGrath, worthy patron of Rosecroft chapter. Both of these guests gave a short talk of greeting from their chapters.

South Branch Library Has New Books

By CHARLES H. CUSHING

"The Three Things," by Mary Shipman Andrews is a masterpiece to take its place beside her "Perfect Tribute."

Her picture of the universal spirit of religion, Jew, Catholic and atheist alike pouring out the soul to the Unseen in the hour of agony on the battlefield, is not soon to be forgotten.

"Town and Gown" by Montrose, is a new type of college story, depicting undergraduate life in a large state university. We know from the splendid men and women turned out by such institutions that the story cannot be typical of the majority of students, but it depicts a phase of social life which undoubtedly exists and if the story calls the attention of the older generation to it, it may help in this way to remedy conditions.

"An Indiscreet Chronicle From the Pacific" by Simpson, deals with the Anglo-Japanese alliance and the disarmament conference.

Other Non-Fiction Books
"Easy Lessons in Psychoanalysis" and "Psychoanalysis and Behavior" by Tridon; "Essays on Modern Dramatists," by Phelps; "Etiquette in Society, Business, Politics and the Home," by Emily Post; "All That Matters," Edgar Guest's last book of poems profusely illustrated; "Architecture of Colonial America," by Eberlein; "Wonders of Chemistry," by Collins, making that science interesting to the layman.

"A Handy Guide for Beggers" by Vachel Lindsay, describes a revival of the old minstrel days. The poet travels through the southern states, paying for his entertainment as he goes by reciting his poems. Another poem by the same author is "General Booth Enters into Heaven."

"Life of Napoleon Bonaparte and Josephine" by Ida M. Tarbell;

"Men, Women and Ghosts," poems by Amy Lowell.

Some Juveniles

"The Flower Maid," by Knappe;

"Boys' Book of Model Boats," by Yates;

two new "Uncle Wiggily" books; three new football stories by Barbour; "The Robinson Crusoe Reader," "Mr. Stubb's Brother," a sequel to "Toby Tyler" by Otis;

"Bird Nest Boarding House" by Reed; "The Girl's Book of the Red Cross," by Heyes; "The Slipper Point Mystery," by Seaman; "Children of Ancient Rome," by Lamprey; "The Blue Adm." by White.

LOS ANGELES, March 24.—

Charles W. Paddock, crack sprinter of the University of Southern California, was to try to break the world's record of 21 4-5 seconds for the 220-yard dash on circular tracks on 440 yards, or less, in the meet today between the Stanford University and U. S. C. track and field teams. The record is held jointly by Bernie Wefers, S. F., and J. H. Mayburn, old time eastern sprinters.

Fair weather was forecasted and the U. S. C. track was expected to be extremely hard and unsuited for fast times. However, officials of the Southern Pacific Association of the amateur athletic union were to act as timers and if Paddock set a new mark, it will be recognized, officials said.

Stanford was favored to win by many track followers. The cardinals were expected to make clean sweeps in the long distance events and also were figured to win all three places in the pole vault and javelin throw. This would give them a 45-point advantage which the Trojans would have a hard time overcoming.

SANTA MONICA HAS

BIG NEW ARTESIAN WELL

[By Associated Press]

SANTA MONICA, March 24.—

The third artesian well to be brought in here within three months was announced yesterday afternoon by Commissioner William H. Carter, read of the water department. The trio will supply water for an additional 15,000 people in this city, he stated. Two more wells will be started at once.

REVOLVER DUEL IS

STAGED AT BEACH CITY

[By Associated Press]

SANTA MONICA, March 24.—

Jose Cisneros, 1920 Eighteenth street and Victor Alvarez, living on Twenty-first street, are both in the hands of police surgeon Hodgkinson this morning as a result of an alleged pistol duel held shortly after 12 o'clock last night. Alvarez was shot just above the heart, but is not dangerously hurt. Cisneros was wounded in the right arm. Santa Monica police are holding both men and are investigating the altercation.

Admiral Sims will speak before the student body of the college in the morning, make a public address in the evening and then greet the people invited to the reception. Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Millikan and Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Robinson will be hosts. Invitations to the number of 900 have been issued.

IRISH IRREGULARS ATTACK

[By Associated Press]

MULLINGAR, Ireland, March 24.—

Irregulars early today attacked outposts of national troops quartered at the railway and near the town's reservoir. The band was repulsed after prolonged rifle and machine gun fire. The nationals suffered no casualties.

THE MARKETS

Weekly—Financial

Review of New York

[By Associated Press]

NEW YORK, March 24.—Stock

prices fluctuated within a comparatively narrow trading area all week, several new high records for the year being made on the rallies, however, especially in the oil, rubber, equipment and sugar groups.

Bond prices continued reactionary, reflecting the increased stringency of the money situation and selling to provide funds for speculation in the stock market.

Speculators for the decline conducted several attacks on the stock list on rumors of another increase in the federal reserve re-discount rate. The local federal reserve bank statement, however, showing a weekly decrease of $39,000,000 in re-discounts and an increase in the reserve ratio of from 82.5 to 86.6

per cent, did not give any indication of credit "inflation" which market observers believe would justify another increase at this time.

The stock market shows signs, however, of having developed an over-bought condition.

One of the features of the stock market was the violent 52-point

fluctuation of Piggly Wiggly class stocks which was later ruled off the board on the ground there was such a concentration of holdings as to prevent a "free market" for the stock, or in other words, that a "corner" existed. Short interests in the stock who are reported to have sold 25,000 shares on which they could not obtain delivery, paid from $80 to $145 a share

"over the counter."

A sharp rally in French francs, which carried them to within ten points of seven cents also aroused considerable interest. They forefevered half of their net gain, however, on the reported withdrawal of French government support. Other exchanges moved irregularly with the Canadian and Hungarian rates falling to new levels.

The strength of rubber stocks was founded on further increases in tire prices. U. S. Rubber, Kelly

Springfield, Keystone and Lee Tire

all sold at their highest prices of the year. Equipments were bought on reports of additional large orders from the present railroad systems.

Chicago Butter

Market of Week

[By Associated Press]

CHICAGO, March 24.—Only a slight disturbance would have sent this week's butter market into a sharp advance or a rapid decline because of its sensitive position,

the U. S. Bureau of Agriculture

Econ reported today.

Uncertainty of future supplies and the possibility of an early increase in shipments were held responsible for unsettled and sentimental condition of the markets.

Purchase by Chicago dealers of a number of cars of California butter

as well as sales of some New Zealand stock, added to the disturbance.

Bears Badly Pinched

By Piggly Wiggly Head

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 24.—

Shares of class "A" Piggly Wiggly

common stock held by Clarence E.

Saunders, president of Piggly Wiggly stores, and badly wanted by

"shorts" who were caught in the jam Tuesday when a bear raid on the stock, were priceless today.

"I have no price of any kind to offer to any further short interests.

Even $1000 a share would not buy from me a single certificate for a 'short.' My offer of $100 was for one day only and will not be extended," he said.

Out of approximately 25,000 shares which Mr. Saunders said were due him, just one hundred and forty were delivered to him Friday, he said.

Saunders said he would hereafter dispose of his stock by selling

JERRY JETER'S TABERNACLE IS ALMOST READY

To Seat 3000 People at the Broadway M. E. South Revival

Construction work on the Jerry Jeter Tabernacle at the corner of Broadway and Cedar street is rapidly nearing completion. The revival campaign to be conducted there will open on March 27 at 7:30 p. m. Services will be held each day at 2:30 o'clock and 7:30 o'clock. This tabernacle is 88x130 feet and will seat about 3,000 people. A choir platform for 300 is being erected. These meetings will be open for all and free for all.

Jerry Jeter not only preaches, but also conducts the great choir and sings solos. He also draws cartoons, models in clay and is said to be the only evangelist in the world who paints a picture in oil on 12 square feet of canvas before an audience in nine minutes. Mrs. Jeter gives the Bible hour at 2:30 to 3:30 p. m., except Monday and Saturday and Jerry Jeter at 7:30 daily, except Monday. The revival campaign will be under the auspices of the Broadway Methodist Episcopal church South, of which Rev. D. M. Barr is pastor.

$150,000 SALES BY THE DIETRICH CO. IN SIX WEEKS

The Dietrich Realty Co. of 133 1/2 South Brand reports continued activity in real estate.

A novel feature of the present season, Mrs. Dietrich says, is the fact that the majority of the buyers are from either Los Angeles or Glendale. This is the best possible indication of the stability of the market and the surest proof that the citizens of Glendale are awake to the real opportunities in our own beautiful city.

Over $150,000 worth of Glendale property has been sold by the Dietrich Co. during the past 45 days, among which are the following sales:

1006 East Harvard to Miss Watkins of North Everett street.
605 Porter street to H. B. Ashbaugh of North Cedar street.
649 Alexander street to John W. Goffin of Los Angeles.

Lot on Loraine to Mrs. Allen of South Louise street.

634 North Howard to Mrs. Willett of North Orange street.

232 North Central to Mrs. Simon of Hawthorne street.

132-134 Franklin court to J. Sutcliffe, North Central.

Rigdon's bungalow court, North Central, to Dr. Terpening of Pendleton, Ore.

428 North Jackson to Dr. Terpening, Pendleton, Ore.

1234 Dorothy drive to Mrs. Emelia Dorso, East Elk street.

1146 North Louise to C. H. Brainard, Central building.

1146 East Wilson to Mrs. D. A. Bradley, West Broadway.

This afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Church of the Angels at Annandale will be celebrated the nuptials of Miss Elaine Hudson, daughter of Mrs. A. L. Hudson of 528 North Jackson street, this city, and Allan Mackenzie, also of this city. Rev. Harry Thompson will officiate and Miss Dorothy Haig will attend the bride.

Following the marriage a wedding reception will be given for about 75 guests at the home of Mrs. Walter D. Purviance, 522 North Jackson.

On their return from their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Mackenzie will make their home in Glendale. The bride was graduated from Glendale high and she and Mr. Mackenzie have been residents of Glendale for several years, where they have made many friends.

WILSON AVE. P. T. A.
HOLDS MEETING

The meeting of the Wilson Avenue Parent-Teacher association, of which Mrs. R. C. Horner is president, was held at the school yesterday, as its regular meeting date comes during Easter vacation. Mrs. Thimm was appointed representative from the Wilson Avenue P. T. A. to be on the federation nominating committee. The report of the treasurer showed $35 in the treasury. Mrs. Horner presented $5 from the federation bazaar recently held. The room count of mothers present showed the pupils of Miss Potter's room having the largest number. Announcement was made of the district meeting in Los Angeles on April 26-27. The speaker for the afternoon was Dr. Jack Anderson whose topic was "The Boy Problem."

DORAN ST. P. T. A.
ENTERTAINS TEACHERS

The room mothers of the Doran Street P. T. A. entertained teachers of the school and officers of the association with a luncheon served Friday in the kindergarten room. English marigolds and smilax were used in decoration and the favors were chocolate Easter nests.

The guests for whom covers were laid were: Miss Lois Hatch, principal; Misses Julia Collins and Ethel Deland, Mesdames Dorothy H. Sullivan, Ruth Maxon, Mabel E. Douglas, Sarah Van Hise, Nita Grimes and Miss Agnes L. Tupper of the teaching staff, and officers and room mothers as follows: Mesdames H. V. Ellis, Clark Johnson, Charles L. Chandler, M. K. Mrs. T. B. Curtis of 727 East Palmer avenue entertained with a social afternoon yesterday for the benefit of the Glendale avenue intermediate P. T. A. A quilt, for which tickets amounting to $26.50 had been sold, was disposed of and was awarded to Mrs. Yeo. There were about thirty-five ladies present. The afternoon was spent in cards, music and a general social good time, during which refreshments were served.

MCCORMICKS HONOR
MR. ARMSTRONG

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McCormick of 539 N. Jackson street honored their mother, Mrs. J. M. Armstrong and Mary, their little four-year-old daughter, at a birthday dinner at their home on Thursday evening.

A large bouquet of jonquils and iris formed the center piece of the table. During the dinner the following poem, contributed by their friends, Mrs. J. B. Brown and Mrs. M. King, was read:

"The Two Marys' Birthday

We have a much loved neighbor,
Mrs. Armstrong is her name;
Her given name is Mary,
That word of sweetest fame.

Her little grandchild, Mary's, birthday comes on the selfsame day;
A double celebration;
A charming plan we say,
Long may they live to celebrate,
In this delightful way;
And may God's richest blessings
Descend on them to stay.

With love and congratulations,
Your friends—
Mrs. King and Mrs. Brown,
408 North Maryland avenue,
March 22, 1933.

Those present were the guests of honor: Mrs. J. M. Armstrong and Mary Elizabeth McCormick; also Mr. J. M. Armstrong, Mr. Fred McCormick, Miss Helen McCormick, and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McCormick.

LUBRICATION TALK BY FRED S. HILL

"To lubricate the main camshaft and connecting rod bearings efficiently an oil must have several distinct properties," said Mr. Hill, 124 South Orange.

"First among these is viscosity or 'body'."

"A poor lubricant thins out under the heat of service. In that condition it cannot effectively conceal the piston rings. The result is leakage of part of the fuel charge into the crankcase. This leakage may be minute on every power stroke but, multiplied by the countless revolutions a motor makes, it becomes a serious menace. The fuel vapors condense in the engine and by diluting the oil may neutralize as much as 50% of it in a short time."

"On the other hand, in cold weather a poor lubricant thickens. In this condition the engine receives an insufficient supply of oil until it warms up. This is often responsible for scored cylinders, burnt out bearings, bearing knocks and noisy engine."

"A high-grade lubricant maintains the correct viscosity throughout the wide range of working temperatures. A high-grade lubricant conserves the engine, saves fuel, enables the engine to deliver more power and prevents frequent breakdowns and repairs."

"Quaker State is such an oil. All we ask is an opportunity to prove it."

The ceremonies with which the new officers of the De Molay chapter were installed Thursday night at 7:45 were impressive and were witnessed by many representatives of other masonic orders. James D. Thompson, retiring master councilor, who acted as installing officer, in appreciation of his services was presented by the chapter with a De Molay ring, Harry Bennett, retiring orator, making the speech of presentation.

The ceremonies were followed by a dance, one of the prettiest functions that has been given in Glendale this winter. About one hundred couples enjoyed the use of the floor and the fine music furnished by the Rims orchestra of the Southern Branch of the University of California.

While the music and special lighting features provided by the expert from the Lasky studio will take a considerable part of the receipts, it is probable, when returns are all in, the chapter will have $50 to the good.

CHRISTIAN CIRCLE
THE CHURCH

The weekly meeting of the Christian Circle Club was held Thursday night at the Central Christian Church. Eighty girls were present to enjoy the supper served by the ladies of the Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Eyerick favored the club with a reading, which was enjoyed by all present.

Mrs. Neth, organizer of the club, was the special guest and speaker of the evening. She took for the lesson the parable of the supper to which the host invited his friends who all gave excuses of some sort. He then invited in all the maimed, lame and blind to come in the place of his friends. Mrs. Neth likened people today to the different types of people invited to the feast and in a clear cut and forceful manner gave the remedy by which we may all become better Christians.

FAREWELL DINNER TO
MRS. CAMERER, JR.

Mrs. J. D. Camerer of 319 West Garfield avenue and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Camerer, Jr., who is her house-guest, were guests at a tea party given Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Charles Rose of Atwater avenue, Los Angeles. This was in compliment to Mrs. Camerer, Jr., who is leaving next week for Philadelphia, where she will meet her husband, Lieutenant-Commander Camerer, whose ship has been with the fleet at Panama and is to be stationed at Philadelphia for the summer. On Wednesday Mrs. Camerer, Sr. and Jr., were luncheon guests of Mrs. Clifford Hughes and tomorrow they will be entertained at a dinner party at Pasadena.

DR. F. H. MAGEAU OPENS HIS OFFICES

Dr. F. H. Mageau, chiropractor, has just announced the opening of an office in room 5 of the Monarch building, 204 South Brand boulevard, on Monday. Dr. Mageau is a graduate of Harvard university and also a graduate of the Palmer school of Chiropractic of Los Angeles. He has been a resident of Los Angeles for the past few years and has had a broad experience in chiropractic work.

"I believe that in my profession I can best serve the public," said Dr. Mageau this morning, and it is my work to serve the people of Glendale. My patients receive honest, sound advice and treatment. I believe the shortest, safest and surest way to health is the chiropractic way."

The lecture of the day will be by Mrs. Norton Johnson of the Bible Institute, whose theme will be "Miracles." All women interested are invited. Mrs. J. E. Lyon is the curator.

N. P. BANKS POST AND CORPS DINES

At the all day meeting of N. P. Banks Post and Corps in G. A. R. hall Friday, comrades were hosts to the corps members and furnished and served an excellent and bountiful dinner which included besides the substantial fundamentals plenty of those delicacies dear to masculine hearts—coffee and pie.

No formal program was provided for the afternoon which followed the dinner, but spontaneous talks were made by Mrs. Flora Pixley, the president of the corps; Mrs. Milligan, past president; Comrade Clark, past commander and others.

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones is today joining her husband at Soboba Springs where Mr. Jones went last Tuesday. Both were victims of influenza and are going for recuperation which has been very slow with Mr. Jones. They will return the first of next week.

ATTENDS SERIES OF SCIENTIFIC LECTURES

Dr. A. E. W. Yale Studies Course in Electro Physiotherapeutics

Dr. A. E. W. Yale has been finding a series of study lectures held in Los Angeles this week of great interest. Dr. Frederick M. Morse of Boston, Gustav Borkman of Los Angeles, Burton Grover of Colorado Springs are some of the lecturers.

Dr. Moore lectured on Physics and Therapeutics of Constant Current, Indications and Contra Indications for Electricity in Gynecology, Therapeutics of Visceral Ailments Due to Motor Imbalances with X-ray lantern slides, Non-surgical Treatment of Disorders of the Feet.

Dr. Grover lectured on The Story of High Frequency, Medical and Surgical Diathermy, X-ray Interpretation, and Applied Therapeutics. Other subjects studied were History of Massage and Curative Gymnastics, The Physiotherapy Society, Tubercular Lesions Elsewhere, Actino Therapy in Dermatology, Pathological Conditions Where Massage is Indicated, Infantile Paralysis and Controlling Infection in Accident Cases.

BURBANK PERSONALS

A junior J. O. C. class was organized Friday evening by Miss Dunmore of Los Angeles. The junior and senior high school girls of the Methodist church enrolled. The majority of the members were former members of the Rainbow class.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Bossuet, 335 North Olive avenue, are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Anderson of Iowa as their house guests for a few days.

Mrs. Frank Clark, North Olive avenue, entertained the men's and women's Bible classes of the Methodist church at her home Thursday evening. Mesdames H. O. Sken, Shuttles and A. W. Wilson were the members of the entertaining committee.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Coffman, Miss Emma Greenman and Mrs. Harriet Greenman have returned to Burbank from a short visit at Hot Springs. Mrs. Greenman has also been visiting in Santa Fe Springs.

Nothing ventured nothing gained—but you may be able to keep what you have.

PASSION WEEK TO BE OBSERVED BY BURBANK

Passion Week services to be held this coming week in the various churches in Burbank are arousing great spiritual interest in all the families of Burbank. At all the churches Sunday, both morning and evening special music and special sermons have been announced.

At the Baptist church, Rev. E. A. Main will preach of the life after death. He will seek to answer the question: Will we know our friends in the resurrection? Will identity of personality be preserved? What do history and the Bible teach about the resurrection?

Rev. L. G. Parker at the Christian church will have for his subject, "The Church in Type and Shadow," and for evening, "Building for Eternity." This will be the first of the week's evangelistic sermons. Throughout the week he is to be assisted by Harold Newberry of the California Christian college.

At the Presbyterian church Sunday will be the closing day of the Dunlop services. The evangelists have been very popular with the children and the young people, and the meetings for the little ones in the afternoon have been well attended. The church has been crowded and the song services and the deep spiritual messages have awakened a new interest in the church members and friends. Sunday is expected to be the best day of the entire two weeks' services.

Rev. Thomas Allen of the First Methodist church has announced Passion week services for the coming week.

MRS. MAY CLARKE BURBANK WRITES FOR CLUB BULLETIN

Burbank Woman Has Article in Inter-Mountain and Pacific Paper

The Inter-Mountain and Pacific Coast Federation Bulletin of Federated Women's Clubs printed at Twin Falls, Idaho, has just been received by the Press. In it there is an article by Mrs. May Clarke, general chairman of foreign element in the west department, of the Santa Rosa Apartments on Olive avenue. It is as follows:

"The Pacific coast states, particularly California, have a serious problem before them—what to do with the aliens within our borders and those knocking at our gates. In the past they came in such numbers that we were caught unawares and were unprepared to handle them rightly or even humanely. The result is today that we have Japanese and Mexican problems pressing us on every hand.

"Living conditions are bad, even dangerous. Coming as these people do from countries where sanitation is almost an unknown quantity, they have not found any in their new homes, or scarcely any provisions made for them along sanitary lines.

"Most of the cities and towns have allowed matters to drift along in a happy-go-lucky way, allowing them to live in shacks or tents as the case maybe. The result is to be deplored.

"In the cities and towns the Japanese have almost crowded out the small storekeepers and houseworkers; in the country the same holds true regarding the garden and small fruit growers. They do practically all of the vineyard pruning and much of the orchard work. They can and do live on what a white man and his family would starve on. The white man cannot compete with his brown neighbor who almost entirely controls the vegetable markets of our southern country.

"The Japanese question is a far more serious one than the Mexican. The Jap is naturally aggressive and pugnacious. He will never stay put and were we to allow him to enter our gates he would soon make himself known immediately.

"When one sees the Japanese woman with one baby strapped on her back, another hanging in a crate or tugging at her skirts or vegetable patches, or follows the hordes up and down the long furrows from early dawn until dark and then goes to her miserable hut, perhaps her bed a bunch of rags in a corner, it makes one stop and wonder how such things can exist in a civilized country like ours is supposed to be. We know that white laborers cannot compete with such conditions and make a decent living.

"There has been some legislation in the past two or three years restraining them from further leasing of lands in California. It has been fought out in the courts, but it is still subject to question from the Japanese who will realize what it would mean to them to be able to hold lands in this fertile state. The entire western states would soon be brought to realize what it would mean to them to be overrun with hordes of little brown men from their already over populated islands.

"The class we have to deal with seem to be immoral rather than immoral people; the conditions under which the laboring classes live are not conducive of morality to say the least.

"To see our children being taught together with theirs, studying out of the same books, seems to some of us as dangerous. The first years are the impressionable ones and if we allow them to associate in our schools how can we teach them that there is a vast difference and keep the fact in their minds that the white and yellow races should not mix nor mingle on an equal footing? They never will have the same ideals or the same point of view. The Japanese slant will never become the American glance. Already we are beginning to see half breed children among them. We have only to remember what has taken place on the Hawaiian Islands to see how they have overrun the native population in the last decade.

"The Mexican problem is an entirely different one. They are a

BURBANK BUILDING PERMITS REACH NEARLY SIXTY THOUSAND DOLLARS FOR THE PAST WEEK

Building permits for Burbank for the past week, issued by the building inspector, Elmer Dale, have reached a total of $59,200. Every week sees some new costly structure started in town. Along with the big buildings are frame and brick dwellings of from 3 to 6 rooms, bungalow courts of several units, warehouses and garages. Probably the next big permit to be issued will be for the three-story hotel, costing $65,000, to be erected by A. Sence.

Permits for this week follow: Urania Fairburn, dwelling, Graham Place, $1000; A. S. Brown, dwelling, Santa Anita avenue, $1500; A. S. Brown, 6-room duplex, Santa Anita avenue, $2800; Wm. Moses, dwelling, 135 W. Front street, $1500; Roy Obuchon, 8-unit bungalow court, 807 Tujunga, $20,000; C.

Peppinger, garage, Shelton street, $200; H. Hyer, dwelling, garage, Santa Anita, $2500; A. J. Hillhouse, dwelling, Santa Anita, $500; John Morris, 159 Santa Anita avenue, $10,000; D. A. McNeil, 710 Magnolia, move house; Clifford Daub, dwelling, Valencia avenue, $2,000; C. S. Roach, 260 Palm avenue, $500; E. J. Phillips, dwelling, $500; Anna Green, dwelling, Magnolia park, $2,400; K. A. Campbell, 549 No. Verdugo avenue, $3,500; M. W. Coffman, 530 N. Cedar addition, $175; Grove Ketchum, 815 Magnolia avenue, $3,700; Elizabeth Forsyth, dwelling, 930 N. San Jose, $3,000; S. Keiser, dwelling, 1036 N. Verdugo avenue, $3,000; Maude and A. H. Froelich, garage, $200; H. C. Blust, garage, South Olive, $150; Mrs. S. Weber, screen porch, 441 Magnolia, $75; making a total of $59,200.

doctile, rather indolent class, teachable, tractable and peaceful. They make fairly good workers; they are a liability as well as an asset. More, too, we must guard against allowing them to crowd into tenements where they become a menace to public health.

"What to do and how to apply the remedy if a remedy is to be found, and just how to reach and teach them is puzzling many of our city councilmen and women's clubs, because teach them we must if we would make citizens of them."

LANES ENTERTAIN AT LABECK RANCH Spring called, and O. C. Lane of the Ford agency, his family and several of the kith and kin heard the siren. They left Friday evening for the Lane ranch near Le Bec for a week of good times.

Mrs. Minne Hawks, a cousin of Mrs. Lane, of Leamington, Canada; Albert Gorgious of Chicago and Albert Benjamin, a brother of Mrs. Lane, from San Francisco, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lane.

GIRL SCOUTS FOR HIKE IN CANYON Girls Scouts, accompanied by Miss Diss, Girl Scout captain, left this morning for a hike in the canyons. Troop 2 practiced signals. Troop 1 made a study of wild flowers in order to pass the next test.

PLAY OF GIRL SCOUTS GOES OVER BIG

"The Taming of Horrors" given by the Girl Scouts at the Edison building Thursday was a big success. The girls will probably find that soon their cabin in the mountains will be an actuality. For many weeks they have been dreaming of a camping place; but a few more affairs as the play Thursday will have one purchased. The play was well given. Each member of the cast played the stage director as well as the audience. The play showed that the young girls had been practicing very diligently and for that reason everything went off very smoothly and was a credit to the whole troop. There was a large audience present and many of the parents of the troops 1 and 2 were in the audience. The high school orchestra furnished very excellent music. Dr. V. P. Ervin played an instrumental solo and Mrs. Valentine was the vocalist.

Legion Men Are Invited to Van Nuys

Burbank American Legion men have received an invitation to be present at an entertainment this evening at Van Nuys. The following notice was sent to Dr. A. E. W. Yale, commander of the post:

Locale Voltaire No. 47, La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux.

255 South Hill Street, Los Angeles, Cal., March 20. Commander A. E. W. Yale, American Legion, Burbank, Cal. Dear Comrade: Locale Voltaire No. 47, La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux, will visit the Van Nuys post of the American Legion next Saturday, March 24, 1923.

All male members of the American Legion are invited to attend the meeting, which will be held in the Women's club house in Van Nuys on this night. We will bring plenty of good entertainment from Los Angeles and a good time is promised to all who attend. After the show, we will have a closed meeting and expect to have about 15 new members to initiate into Voltaire No. 47.

Will you please give this meeting publication in the Burbank Daily Press and bring as many comrades from your post as can attend. The meeting will start at 8:30 p. m.

Fraternally yours, A. W. SMITH, Chef de Gare.

LAST WEEK IN LIFE OF CHRIST TO BE STUDIED

ENTRY OF JESUS INTO JERUSALEM SUNDAY THEME Plans for a very unique and interesting series of services for "Passion Week" at the Methodist church are now completed. Meetings will be held each night of the week, except Saturday night, beginning at 7:30.

The whole story of the last great week in the life of our Lord will be portrayed in song, story and pictures. Reproductions of the great paintings by the master artists of the scenes in "His Last Week" will be thrown upon the screen. All will be interwoven so as to bring the message and appeal of Jesus in a new and interesting way to all our hearts.

The presentation will be especially interesting and instructive to boys and girls and young people. The spiritual appeal of the Easter time should reach all hearts. Give this week to the ministry of the church and the contemplation of the most wonderful life ever lived. You are invited to attend.

Sunday morning the pastor will preach on the subject, "The Joy of Suffering with Jesus." The choir will sing "Shout the Glad Tidings," by Wooler. Mr. Monroe will sing a solo. The morning sermon will be the introductory address of the "Passion Week Services." Sunday evening at 7:30 the choir will sing "Jerusalem," by Parker, the J. O. C. quartet will sing and Mr. Monroe will sing "The Psalms" by Faure.

The triumphal entry of Jesus into Jerusalem will be shown with stereopticon slides, scripture story and recitation so as to make the now.

PARTIES START VACATION DAYS

Spring vacation began in thoroughly fine style Friday for Burbank children when the teachers of the public schools presented the pupils with Easter baskets filled with candy eggs. For the younger children there were elaborate parties. The little guests were entertained with egg hunts.

When all of the pupils return to school after the spring vacation on April 2, the teachers will begin a "Good Health Week" campaign. They will talk of the value of a balanced lunch.

This past week was "Good English week" and "Ain't" was buried with great ceremony.

INTEREST GROWS IN MUSIC MEMORY CONTEST

Burbank children are growing in increasingly enthusiastic about the Music Memory contest which will begin April 2 and close in May. The musicians of the city are being very generous in promising their talent for the series of eight concerts which are to be given. The merchants of the city have expressed their interest.

The last business house to offer a prize for an incentive for a perfect score was DeMoss & Hollomon, furniture company, on First street. They have, where any child can see it at any time, a golden oak writing desk which they have offered to give for the high scoring pupil.

Others who have promised prizes are Burbank Music store, $10; Community Investment company, $5; E. J. Jackson of the Burbank Hardware store, a $2 baseball mitt; W. J. Riley of the State bank, a $5 savings account; R. O. Church, First National bank, $5 savings account; Morris Spazier, $5 savings account; Castle Furniture store, $5 merchandise; Choral club, membership ticket to a high school student and a membership ticket to the John Muir "pupil." Sinclair Printing company, calling cards (100); L. B. Evans of Palala Majestic, four ball lessons from Russian ballet dancing master; Dr. V. P. Ervin, $2 worth of merchandise; R. J. Rosenberg, of Photo Art shop, $1.

There will be great pleasure in the study of the fifty selections if there were no prizes offered and the prizes will be an additional reward.

Thursday, after vacation Superintendent L. F. Collins and Dr. Zeiss will speak to the children on the "Value of Music," at the special assembly program.

Dr. A. E. W. Yale, accompanied by his young son Dick, will motor to Beaumont Sunday to visit Dick's grandmother, Mrs. J. E. Yale. Dick will spend the spring vacation in Beaumont, but his father will return Monday morning.

ANTI-ANNEXATION FORCES TO CLOSE WORK MONDAY

Big Rally to Be Staged at Central School in the Evening

The last big annexation mass meeting held by the "antis" will take place on Monday evening in the auditorium of the Central School. Every meeting grows warmer now as the grand climax approaches, and the record crowd of the campaign, both for enthusiasm and numbers is expected to be present at this final windup of the red hot campaign that has been carried on by both sides of the issue. At last night's meeting in the east end school many impressive points were again presented to the citizens present and several lively debates and discussions arose again between individuals, who took exception to the words of the other fellow.

M'HARDY PLAYERS PRESENT PLAYS

The Mae Hardy Players, despite the annexation meeting which also took place last night, drew a fair crowd out to the Woman's Club House, where they presented three famous and novel one-act plays. Miss Mae Hardy herself a versatile actress for one so young, reached dramatic heights in her interpretation of the three totally different feminine characterizations.

In "The Dragon's Claw" she carried the delicate art of Chinese mystery and romance through the entire play, by the effective manner in which she portrayed the young unhappy Chinese bride.

Both of the other plays, "The Man in the Stalls" and "The Breaking of the Calm" kept the audience intensely interested until the final curtain.

Federated P.-T. A. Postpones Meeting

The regular meeting of the Federated P.-T. A. is postponed until the second Wednesday in April. At that time, Mrs. H. R. Archibald of South Pasadena, past president of the first district, and endorsed for the next state president, will speak upon a subject of importance to every member of the Parent-Teacher organization.

PASADENA MAN IN OXY DEBATE TEAM

CUSTODY FOR SPEED

ON FIRST LAP OF TOUR

Impressive Program Is Provided by Mrs. Fiske and Mrs. Reilly

Harry B. Foote, of Pasadena, is confined in the Eagle Rock jail for failure to conform with the motor vehicle act which provides that the signature placed upon the card which a motor officer makes out at the time of an arrest for violation of motor laws, is a written agreement. He is also accused of evading the law.

On December 27, 1922, young Foote was arrested at the intersection of Colorado and Eagle Rock avenues. He signed the agreement but failed to appear on the date scheduled for his case in the local police court. A warrant was issued, but when city officials in charge of his case went to bring him in there was no trace to be found of Mr. Foote. Both his business and residential addresses had been changed, and absent-mindedly (perhaps) he had failed to leave behind any record of his whereabouts.

This week J. D. Mercer again stopped Mr. Foote for speeding and it was at the same corner that he was picked up in December. He again signed the agreement to appear, and went on his way. But when the little card reached the city hall sharp eyes detected the fact that the name, Harry B. Foote, had been on the list of traffic offenders before. Upon looking back over the court records the entire case came to light again—three months after it had been "shelved." Without giving Mr. Foote a chance to change his place of residence again the Eagle Rock officer located him in Pasadena and had the police of Pasadena take him in custody, and hold him in the jail there until he could be brought to the local bastille.

Mr. Foote admits that he evaded the officers intentionally by changing from one place to another, before they could lock him up for failure to appear. He will no doubt make the local jail his permanent place of residence for at least five days, and perhaps for ten, now that he has a double charge placed against him. And the next time that Mr. Foote crosses the intersection which has twice proved his Waterloo he will without a doubt cross it slowly, or make a detour around it.

EAGLE ROCK TO HAVE SUNRISE SERVICES

ON FIRST LAP OF TOUR

Impressive Program Is Provided by Mrs. Fiske and Mrs. Reilly

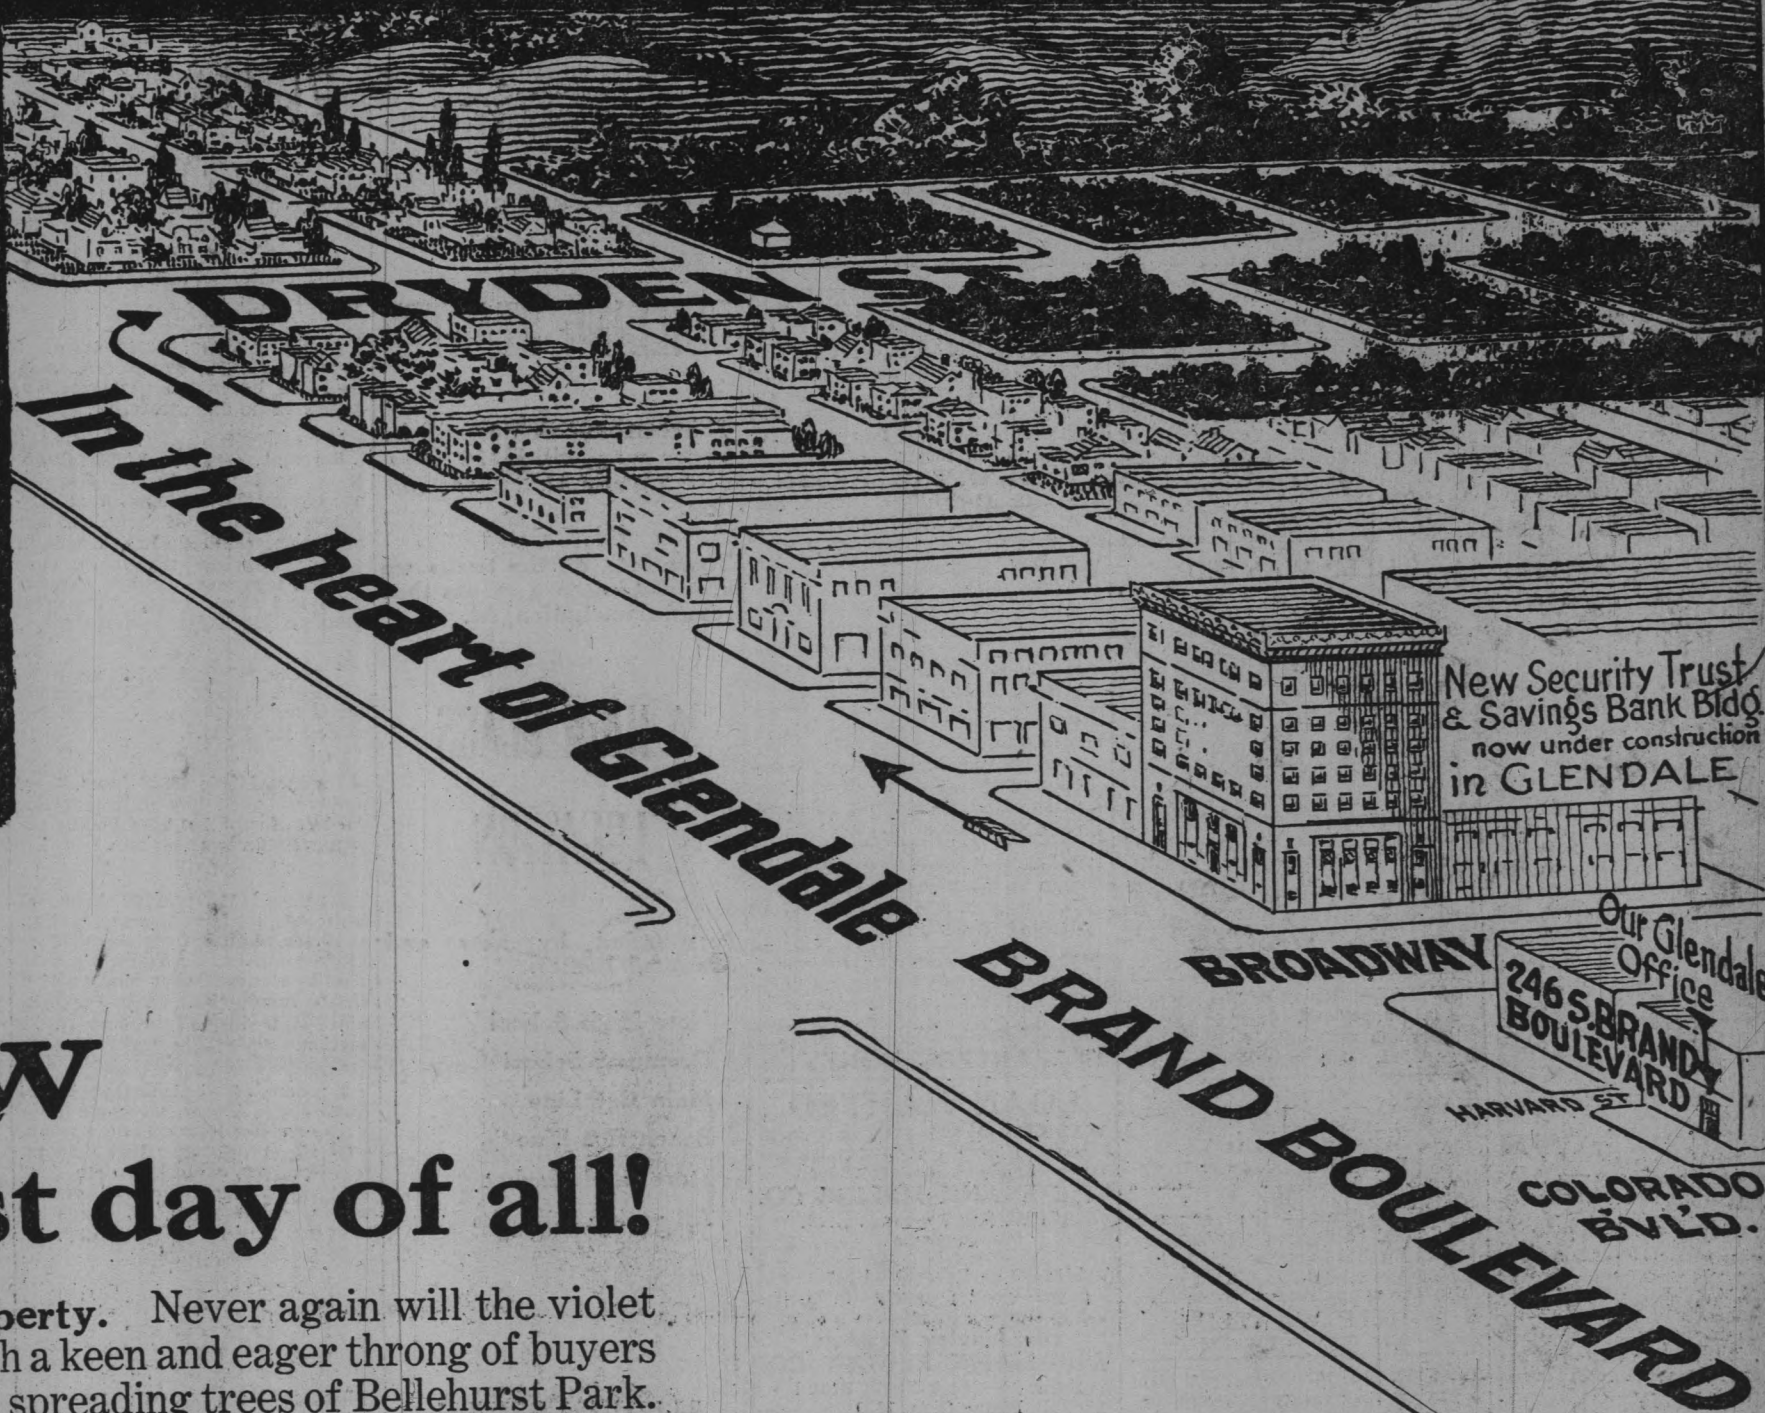

On Easter Sunday, April 1, an exceptional program is being planned for the sunrise services at Eagle Rock. Several impressive features have been announced by Mrs. Archibald Fiske and Mrs. A. G. Reilly, who represent the Women's Twentieth Century club.

The Andreas Family of English Bell Ringers will give the Westminster and cathedral chimes. This talented family will present a novel number because of the fact that they do not play upon the usual chimes but utilize bells instead. In the open, so early in the morning, a beautiful effect is produced.

The services will be opened by a trumpet call with antiphonal, just at sunrise. Harold Proctor, baritone, will sing several solos. G. Colbourne, cornetist, will also appear. The Lavietts orchestra, which has taken part in the Eagle Rock services for the past two years, will

Beautiful Bellehurst Park

Tomorrow is the greatest day of all!

Grand opening sale all day on the property. Never again will the violet mountains above Glendale look down upon such a keen and eager throng of buyers as will gather tomorrow under the wonderful spreading trees of Bellehurst Park.

All Southern California will be headed for Bellehurst Park tomorrow.

$500,000 in sales to date, and our first announcement in Los Angeles scarcely a week old!

Tomorrow a large part of the remaining property on sale will be going, GOING, G-O-I-N-G—Every lot a money maker for its buyer.

Never, in all our experience in placing on sale thirty splendid residential parks in Piedmont and the Lake Districts of Oakland, have we seen such instant realization on the part of the public of a golden opportunity.

But is it any wonder for there is certainly not another piece of property under the blue California skies today that beckons to buyers with such a wand of gold.

Just figure its LOCATION—in the very heart of the wonder city of Glendale—growing like wildfire—spreading out in all directions—built up absolutely solid to the property NOW.

Just figure its CHARACTER—a 200-acre old estate, with glorious trees in groves of oranges and olives—level and fertile.

Just figure the IMPROVEMENT—the finest that money can buy—miles of paved avenues, with cement curbs and sidewalks—city water, gas and electricity guaranteed without further cost to purchasers of every lot.

Just figure the RESTRICTIONS—safe and sane—the fruit of 20 years' experience—prohibiting apartments, temporary buildings, duplexes, etc., allowing only artistic single family dwellings.

Just figure the TRANSPORTATION—only two blocks from Brand Boulevard, the main street in this city of 40,000. Just two blocks from the Pacific Electric car to your home.

Just figure the tremendous and electric impulse to real estate values of the new subway plans, Los Angeles to Glendale. Millions were made when the subway went through in New York. Millions will be made here by those who look ahead.

In spite of the sensational rapid sale of Bellehurst Park we have NOT raised the prices on unsold lots. This is absolutely a fact. We guarantee the original low prices for at least a few days longer.

Foley's Friendly Fancies

CURED

Yes, Willie is much better now, he did not look just right; He was so tired and listless and he lost his appetite He did not openly complain but plainly was distressed And moped about the house a lot and lost his boyish zest. His voice we hardly heard at all, it was so weak and frail. And so we took him out of school before his health should fail. But now vacation time has come he's learned again to smile. And you can hear him yelling "SLIDE" for fully half a mile.

It really was quite far to school, too far for him we knew. To walk in his enfeebled state, as he must always do; He seemed to be so delicate and he said his good-by With such a plaintive little voice and such a weary eye; And when he dragged his steps back home it was pathetic quite And then to see him struggle with his chores to do at night; But now vacation time has come, well bless his little soul, He walks three miles down to the creek with bait and line and pole.

He walked about the yard a bit but Oh, his step was slow, And once he got his garden tools and bravely tried to hoe; But it was quite too much for him, the heavy hoe he laid Upon the ground beside him while he rested in the shade; And then he got himself a drink and wiped his sweating brow, Too weak to do a thing he wished, but he is better now; For when the circus street parade unrolled its wonders long, He walked three times across the town and finished good and strong.

HOMELOVERS 'FALL' FOR BEAUTIFUL SUBURBAN HEIGHTS

IN THE MIDST OF CHARMING NORTHWEST, THIS TRACT IS COMMANDING UNUSUAL ATTENTION

Lots Are Being Sold and Homes Are Being Constructed in This Wonderful Subdivision Where Improvements Are Now Being Installed

The lure of the foothills, with the fragrant and invigorating aroma of mountain sage, the wonderful view of the cities of Glendale and Burbank, the quiet of the country, with the added advantage of conveniences which are usually associated with only very close-in city property—these are just a few of the many features which have been responsible for the big demand for lots in Suburban Heights, a community of exclusive estates recently opened by the Suburban Realty company of 508 South Brand boulevard.

This new tract faces the famous castle "Miradero," home of L. C. Brand, and fronts on three main boulevards, Tenth street, Kenneth road and Western avenue. Western avenue is soon to be paved from Los Angeles to Glendale and will make a direct route from the mountains to the sea.

Suburban Heights is in one of the most scenic sections in Glendale, and has been sought for many years by some of the wealthiest people of Southern California. Only 150 scenic homesites are included in this small exclusive tract. The astonishingly low price for which these homesites are offered includes street work, sidewalks, curbs, water, gas and electricity. The lots are planted with trees and vines and are surrounded by wonderful mountains, orchards, trees and magnificent homes. Trees have been set out in the parkways and everything is in readiness for the building of beautiful homes.

The property is fully protected by adequate restrictions that will assure the purchaser that only the same type of homes for which this district is noted will be erected there in the future. Among the purchasers of homesites in Suburban Heights who are already making plans for the erection of handsome residences, some of which are already under way, are M. Mortensen, A. W. Hitchens, R. N. Phillips and Arthur Kreeling.

With the wonderful surroundings to this tract, Suburban Heights is an ideal home spot for families of moderate means. At the foot of the mountains, in an ultra-exclusive residential section, amidst palatial homes and stately trees this model community offers discriminating buyers a much sought for opportunity at particularly attractive opening prices.

L. C. Brand, whose castle, with its magnificent surroundings, has been one of the strongest landmarks for Suburban Heights and has undoubtedly been partly responsible for the large number of sales already made, has purchased a corner lot in this new tract.

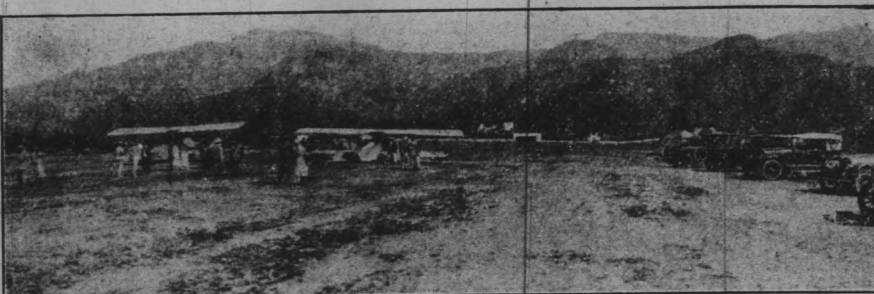

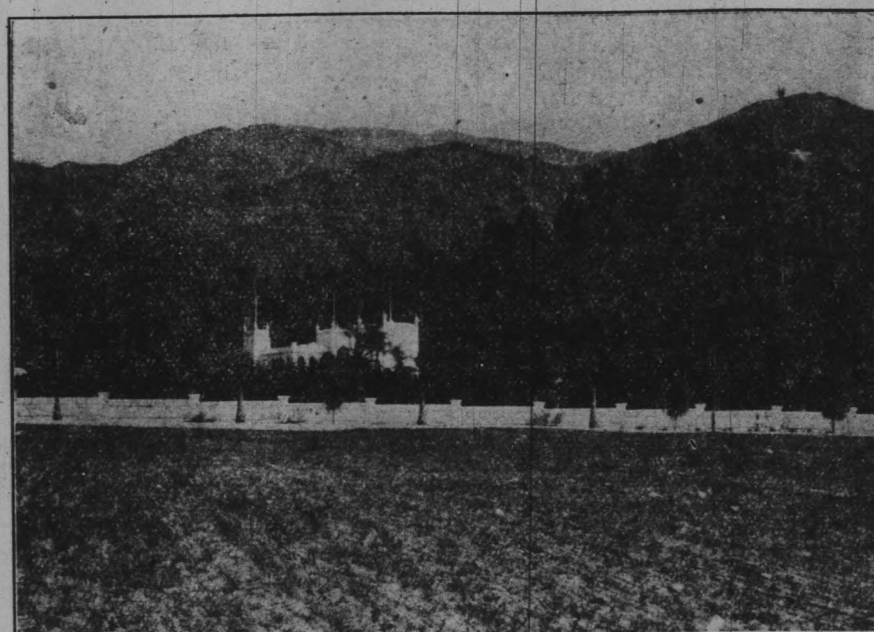

School and street car facilities, which are two of the big factors considered by the home-seeker, are within easy access to this beautiful tract in the foothills of Glendale. The new Grand View grammar school is located just two blocks from the tract. Equally distant is the Pacific Electric car line. The proposed bus line will pass directly in front of the tract on Tenth street.

"Western avenue traverses Suburban Heights on its way from the base of the mountains close by to the Los Angeles harbor, and is already a paved boulevard as far as San Fernando boulevard. Property facing on this boulevard, planted with large twenty-year-old trees, will undoubtedly become priceless in a few years," according to Alfred Johnson, sales manager of the Suburban Realty Co., Inc., owners and subdividers of this property. Some very attractive residences of the Spanish stucco type and other picturesque types of California homes have already been completed in Suburban Heights and are being occupied.

Every lot in Suburban Heights has a wonderful view of the entire valley. Located as it is at the highest point on Tenth street between Glendale and Burbank, it is above the dust and fog.

The newcomer to California, for whom the mountains and beauty of scenery hold a particular attraction, will be most enthusiastic over the wonders of Suburban Heights, while the resident of Glendale, the fastest growing city in the United

MILLIONS OF DOLLARS WORTH OF IMPROVEMENTS ARE PLANNED FOR THE EAST SECTION OF GLENDALE

Improvements aggregating more than $3,500,000 are already under way, or about to be started in the eastern and northeastern part of Glendale, according to figures compiled by a prominent east side resident this morning.

This statement is not only surprising, but is almost unbelievable. That the eastern portion of the city, which has been marking time for so long, has really taken the bit between its teeth and is madly tearing down the middle of the road to greatness, is an absolute fact. It has shaken off the fetters that bound it and has taken a new lease on life. It has, as one might say, gotten its second wind, and is on the straight-away.

No one was more surprised at the total of the figures of the started and proposed improvements than was this popular eastsider. After he had totaled up the columns he stood back and looked at the result in amazement, as well he might.

The list here printed does not by any means include all of the improvements that are being tentatively planned which would probably swell the total to $100,000 more, but they are practical certainties.

The list as given includes the following:

New Glendale high school, Broadway and Verdugo	$600,000
Electrification and extension of Glendale-Montrose railway	200,000
Paving of Glendale avenue	400,000
Hotel at corner of Broadway and Glendale	500,000
New Glendale Sanitarium plant	400,000
Bellehurst tract development	200,000
Sparr Heights and Oakmont country club development	500,000
Haddock & Nibley tract development	200,000
Lampert building at Belmont and Broadway	15,000
Business block for Khodigan Bros., Colorado and Adams	20,000
Business block at 108 S. Glendale to be built by Mr. Caldwell for Gibbs' paint store et al.	12,000
Donwell's new market, on Glendale avenue	10,000
New dwellings	100,000
Court shops to be built between Glendale and Harvard on Glendale avenue	15,000
New building of Glendale Auto Co., on E. Broadway between Belmont and Adams	4,500
Development in Montrose and La Crescenta, all tributary to Glendale	500,000
Street lighting of Glendale avenue (not estimated) Glendale Stables at 118 N. Glendale avenue, to be wrecked and improved with business block by new owner, (not estimated)

HOMESTEADS FOR LEPROS

[By Associated Press]

HONOLULU, T. H., March 24.—

Inmates of the territorial leprosarium at Kalaupapa, island of Molokai, would be granted homestead rights in a tract of 5,000 acres of land adjoining the colony, by the terms of a resolution now pending before the territorial legislature. The resolution requested the Hawaiian Homes Commission, which is charged with the task of attempting to rehabilitate the Hawaiian race, to open up the tract as homestead land, and to limit the settlers to persons who have been paroled from the leprosarium in the belief that the affliction has been checked in their cases.

CAN YOU FINANCE YOUR HOME, MR. LOT OWNER?

Here's a home-financing talk. It is intended for the average man—moderate salaried and wage-earning individual, the one who with his fellows makes up the vast majority of folks, who are living in rented bungalows, flats and apartments, yet who has the instinct for home ownership so strong within him that he actually buys a lot on installments and struggles for four to seven years to get it paid for with what his landlord leaves him each month.

It is this very large class of would-be home owners with which I will deal.

We are all sorry for the family man who never gets anything laid by, but perhaps the other class is more desperate, for when he gets his lot nearly or quite paid for, he finds, or thinks that he finds, that he is farther from his home than ever.

Banks are not particularly fond of building loans, except for their customers, and this poor fellow has been putting every cent of his wages he could spare into his lot, and has not been of any value as a bank depositor.

Even if a bank would allow him a building loan, he finds that it lacks from a quarter to a third of the cost of the house.

A building loan association will lend more than a bank, and offers the advantage of a long term accommodation which he can retire with monthly payments.

But the demand for such money acquaints him with another fact, namely, that he should have been a subscriber or member in order to get the most favorable consideration.

Often the necessity of impartially distributing building loan funds over the widest possible number of loans makes such a loan hopelessly inadequate for the entire cost of the proposed house.

Sooner or later, in almost every case, he consults that marvel of our local development, the "financing contractor."

The financing contractor freely estimates his requirements, offers plans for nothing and undertakes both to finance and build the house with little or no cash or equity beyond the clear lot.

The average man thinks a five-room house is a five-room house, and barring a bare score of things that remarkably differ between one house and another and which, he knows, affect the cost, he does not realize the hundreds of elements and their innumerable combinations with consequent variations in quality and cost.

Consequently, when his contractor offers him an attractive house for, say, $4000, $2500 of which will be paid in a first mortgage for three years at 7 per cent, and $1500 is to be paid in 36 equal monthly payments on a "trust deed" with interest at 7 per cent, he only regards the superficial details of the house and the relation of the monthly payments to his income.

He does not realize that the contractor cannot afford to build indefinitely and take his pay in paper.

He may know that contractors deal with brokers as to first mortgages, and might later sell their second papers, but he does not know the terms on which such deals are made.

He does not realize that the first mortgage loans are usually procured because of a bonus which makes almost certain another bonus, or even a demand for full payment, at the expiration of the three-year period, and at each subsequent renewal.

He gets no agreement or guarantee that the mortgage will be extended or renewed, at any time.

He does not know that after his contractor has discounted his second paper, the buyer of the paper will be receiving from 15 to 30 per cent per annum of the actual amount of money paid for the paper, and for its average employment. He does not know that the shrewd contractor has calculated this discount in advance and added it to the contract price of the house, or that the contractor will go broke speedily if he does not so provide.

movement, which is prompting a Spring Tree Planting week the country over in the next several months, the dates arranged according to sectional climatic conditions in each state, aims towards the planting of a tree, shrub or flower for every man, woman and child in America. That this tree might well be made a fruit tree or for one individual of the family or a whole new berry plot for the family collectively, is one suggestion made from the movement's headquarters.

Plan to Plant Another Tree stresses the importance of its being borne in mind that Tree Planting week is primarily educational, a focus of year around activity in awakening the country to the imperative need of continual broader and better planting. It is not the intention, it explains, to crowd into one brief week the planting that needs to be going on perpetually throughout America if her relaxed attention to this important part of community betterment is to be redeemed.

PLANT MORE FRUIT TREES THIS YEAR

That home fruit trees and American orchards are losing ground at an alarming rate is warning broadcast by the state and national governments.

Statistics show that in most of the states of the union, the planting of fruit trees and fruit bushes has greatly diminished. In several of the states it is pointed out that since the last census, the fruit trees have been decreased by fifty per cent.

Reports show also that very little if anything, is being done to better the condition. It is time, therefore, urges the Plan to Plant Another Tree movement, that action be taken to stress the importance of returning the home orchard and fruit plots.

RETIRED BANKER OF CANADA BUYS S. BRAND LOT

Mr. Hirsch, retired banker from British Columbia, has purchased a 100-foot frontage on East Chestnut street, about 150 feet from South Brand boulevard, for the sum of $12,000. It is his intention to improve this property with an eight-family apartment house. The sale was made through the agency of the Suburban Realty company.

The firms who finance the building they build usually have an architectural department for the accommodation of their clients.

ITALIAN STYLES PLEASE MANY BUILDERS

One of the greatest inspirations landed down to humanity is the art of the renaissance, and from its wealth of color, form and line the individual is able to select that beauty about him which gives solace to his soul.

A vision of restful loveliness seems to hold the fancy in arched columns, lace tracery work in marble and wrought iron with terra cotta and terra cotta to lend the spirit of brightness to scene.

The Italian style is frequently chosen by those whose need is met by a pretentious home in which the living room can be of large proportions with a high ceiling and on the walls of which may be hung tapestries and good sized paintings.

The floor would be well treated with Oriental rugs which key in kindly spirit with the high backed carved chairs, chests, cabinets, hives, stools, etc., of the renaissance.

It is nice to find wrought iron sconces on the ivory plastered walls and elsewhere in continuity of thought wrought iron torches, consoles and Savonarola chairs.

Throughout this type of house should reflect the Italian spirit in furniture, in the dignity of its velvet, damask or brocade row curtains, and if perchance in some room, say a bedroom or two, a breakfast room, or sun room, a rug be introduced, be sure that the pattern is Italian in design.

The place that gives most joy in this type of home is the courtyard, or cortile, around which the house is built.

The floor may be of tile, brick, or marble, and pillars will hold up the galleries above that look down from each story of the house into the cortile.

A spirit of restful comfort should pervade this open living room and what a joy it is to find della robbia or terra cotta pieces hung on or inset in the walls and under the other hanging gallery, to find a beautiful statue or two in bronze or marble, to hear the trickle of a well or central fountain, to enjoy potted plants and comfortable furniture, just the place where conversation comes easy and life moves along like a song.

H. H. Kohlhaas tells a story corroborating the legend that Eugene Field was a cheerful debtor, William E. Curtis, of whom Field had borrowed $150 some years before, visited the poet in Chicago and reminded him of the debt. The following day Field printed this paragraph in his column: "William E. Curtis, the well-known correspondent of the Chicago Record, is in the city for a few days looking after some of his permanent investments."

There's quite a difference in dressmakers even when they seam alike.

MAX KUHLE AND WHAT HE BELIEVES

Max Kuhl of San Francisco, one of the best constitutional lawyers in California, has been employed by the legislative committee of the State Association. Those assembled in convention at Santa Ana instructed the legislative committee relative to legislation desired by real estate brokers in the various parts of California. Mr. Kuhl has given the suggested legislation much study and has reported that it is unconstitutional. He has ruled that any law providing that an applicant for a broker's license must have had at least one year's experience in another broker's office, would be unconstitutional.

He holds, however, that every applicant should be able to read and write the English language, understand elementary arithmetic, and know the purpose of a deed, trust deed, mortgage, lease and instruments commonly used in connection with real estate transactions, as well as the rights of principal and agent, and the provisions of the real estate license law.

When your committee asks the legislators to pass amendments to our present license law, you may rest assured the amendments will stand on fairness as their foundation. They will also be good laws and constitutional. Mr. Kuhl deserves credit for the study he has devoted to our cause.

While your legislative committee is working hard to provide laws for the protection of the seller, the buyer and the broker, you can best serve your association by increasing the number of paid-up members. Remember we only want men and women acceptable to your local board. Our standard of membership should never be injured by the addition of undesirable brokers or associate members. Out of 18,000 brokers we should surely be able to select 3600 choice members.

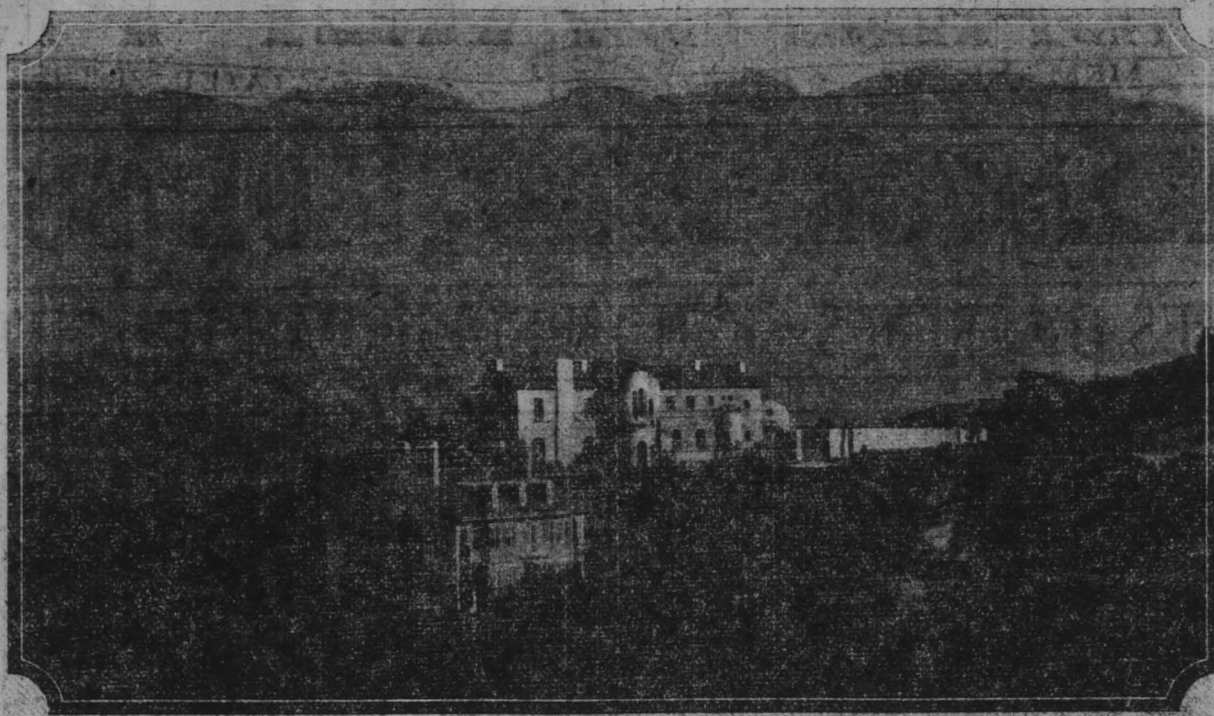

GREEK RELIGIOUS COUNCILS long before Christ met and represented the various city-states in a joint management of the temples. Many of the Greek gods were commonly worshipped, and this caused a common interest. Those councils were a close approach to representative government.

The English public schools have their own special codes of honor.

It was at a famous school that the head master, taking a late evening walk, noticed a boy who, contrary to the rules, was out for a walk, too. The boy took to his heels and the master gave chase, just succeeding in grasping and tearing off a coat-tail.

Thinking to identify the culprit by his torn coat, the master had all the boys in the form parade for inspection next morning. But every coat had a coat-tail missing.

THE GLEN ANGELES CONTEST GOES WELL

The people of Glendale and surrounding country are taking an unusual amount of interest in the number guessing contest at the conclusion of which a console model phonograph will be given away by Vern S. Stires, owner and subdivider of Glen Angelus park. Every day dozens of interested and prospective property owners and others are calling at the tract and are placing their numbers in the box.

The unusual part about this contest is that there is no charge whatever connected with it. Each caller at the tract is given a number which he deposits with his name in the box. When the drawing takes place the person whose name is on the lucky ticket will receive the Victrola entirely free of charge.

Many of those who are calling at Glen Angelus park are securing one or more of the beautiful homesites before they leave. They see at a glance the wonderful opportunity there is for an increase in the prices of the lots, which means a net gain to them. Many of those buying in this tract are doing so with the intention of building just as soon as arrangements can be made to do so.

The location of this tract is ideal, the lots are large and are fairly priced—in fact, everything is just as it should be. That's why the lots are selling so rapidly.

HAVE YOU EVER DRIVEN ALONG THE FAMOUS SKYLINE BOULEVARD OF FLINTRIDGE--UP IN THE HILLS?

Why Not Pile the Family Into the Trusted Auto, Sunday, and Enjoy a Spin Along This Boulevard?—It Will Do You Good

Artists seldom attempt, these days, to paint the sky. But a sign painter in overalls at Flintridge has set up a remarkable painting of the famous Flintridge panorama in plain sight of the Flintridge panorama itself.

The new sign board, which comes very near to being a work of art, has been erected on a bluff near the Devil's Gate dam at the Pasadena entrance to the Flintridge parkland. The board, of generous size, is illuminated at night and is being universally commented on by the scores of motorists who pass it daily.

Flintridge is not only famous as a recreational region and a smart residence community, but it has gained a wide reputation for its rugged natural beauty and for its amazing mountain and valley coloring. The man with the brush has caught the vivid sunset hues with remarkable accuracy and appreciation.

IDAHO MINERAL OUTPUT LARGE

BOISE, Idaho, March 24.—The total value of all lead, silver, gold, copper and zinc mined and marketed in Idaho during 1922 was $19,196,403.71, an increase of $2,632,398.12 over the production of 1921, according to the annual report of the inspector of mines. More copper and zinc was produced last year but gold, silver and lead showed a decrease.

Lead production in 1922 was 205,132,538 pounds, a decrease of 4,967,606 pounds over the preceding year. Higher market prices, however, made the value of the lead mined last year $11,762,302.60 compared with $9,559,558.85 in 1921.

—Its wonderful scenic advantages, combined with a magnificent view of the entire valley, in the rapidly developing Northwest Section, makes this property highly desirable. The restrictions are $8000 and $3500, and no temporary homes are permitted.

—All through the sale of our subdivision FAIRVIEW we have had hundreds of calls for lots with trees on them, and also for lots on which temporary homes were not permitted. At last we are able to supply this demand, and at prices so low that there will undoubtedly be, in a very short time, remarkable increases in values in SUNSET GROVE.

—The terms, $100 cash, and $20 and $25 per month, affords an opportunity to purchase a lot in a beautiful tract at the low opening prices, with a very small cash investment.

—INVESTIGATE! Improvements are being carried on rapidly. Water, gas and electricity to be installed at our expense. You will note the tremendous increase of values in our FAIRVIEW subdivision, and there is little question but what the ratio of increase will be greater in SUNSET GROVE, where its natural beauty has a wonderful appeal.

—INVESTIGATE! Another Advantage: It is located above Kenneth Road, below Tenth St., the main paved boulevard between Glendale and Burbank.

—SUNSET GROVE lots are selling very fast. Don't delay. This tract is more than half sold. These lots will positively increase in value from $2,000 to $2,500.

ALTA-CANYADA, THE CREAM OF THE FOOTHILL SECTION TO NORTHEAST CHARMS THE TIRED CITY RESIDENT

The Improvements On This Tract Have Been Completed—The Promised Home-Building Program Has Started—Everything Is Humming

The dream of many of those who have been confined in the city is to some-day have the opportunity of living in the country—to have their homes in the hills. The city is too confining—its life is artificial, within it are not to be found the things that are real. Their charms cease, after awhile, to appeal.

Alta-Canyada is just the place these people are looking for. It is a wonderful mountain section, which is high and above the fogs, and from which a wonderful view of the Pacific ocean, of Catalina Island and the Los Angeles harbor may be secured, not to mention the San Fernando valley and other nearby sections.

Pure spring water is piped to each estate. The landscaping, boulevards, curbing and other improvements are completed. Many varieties of fruit trees are on the estates, including pines, firs, redwoods, cypresses, cedars, vines, roses and shrubs. This tract is cooler in summer and warmer in winter than the surrounding territory.

Beautiful Alta-Canyada canyon, 100 acres in extent, is for the exclusive use of those buying property in the Alta-Canyada tract.

This tract lies at an elevation of 1900 feet, between Glendale and Pasadena, and within 35 minutes' drive from Los Angeles and 15 minutes from Glendale or Pasadena.

HONEYBEES ARE SOMETIMES LAZY

[By Associated Press]

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23.—To speak of honeybees loafing may seem paradoxical, but the alleged industry of honeybees is something of a myth, declares E. F. Phillips, department of agriculture apiculturist.

"The average worker bee in the hands of a poor beekeeper makes only a few trips a day for nectar," said Mr. Phillips recently. "When the bees are rearing a brood the beekeeper must manage the hive so finished work is either removed or properly placed. Otherwise loafing will result. Finished work near the brood slows down field work."

Proper conditions within the hive causes the bees to make additional trips to the fields, and thus to increase the honey crop."

SPRING PLANTING

By JOHN BRECK

Is it planting season? Who knows best depends on where you are. In the east it's the wood-dove. She's an authority on sprouts; when she begins to croon over her nest it's a sign they're coming up. In the Sierras it's the trout. She knows to an hour when the first warm rains have tempered earth's chill till they trickle into her brook at the right temperature for those hardy seeds she's so impatient to be sowing.

But what? Or where? You'll never be sure. For fish are notoriously close-mouthed; while she wears her Easter finery she doesn't even open her mouth to eat, and she's shy as the wee sandpiper on guard for every motion, every footfall. Your one chance of learning is to face the sun from Bre'er Coon's perch on some log jam and watch the riffles below it.

Here she comes, a snitter frisking eagerly beside her, his arbor visible in the purplish bloom of his dark shoulders, the spots along his sides, bright as the vireo's peering eye, and the flamingo flush which suffuses his flirtatious fins. His "dog-teeth," grown long and fierce to fight off his rivals, are bared in a set sneer; his hard fish lips, behind them, arch in a set smile—like the surgical grin of Victor Hugo's unhappy hero in "L'Homme qui Rit."

He may find it very alluring, but what he knows he isn't the only fish in the stream. Think she'd be caught mating, like a common snail, most before she finds her spawning ground? It isn't done—not in trout circles. He may tag along if he likes, but when he leaps a little waterfall, just to show off, she definitely takes the long way 'round. In the lee of your log jam she pauses, swings uncertainly. "This can't be the playground where I was hatched!" she seems to meditate.

"Perfect! Lay here!" he urges, dashing distractingly before her. It does look nice. Conscientiously she explores the reach of fine, clean pebbles, bordered by weeds for little fish to hide in, shadowed by overhanging boughs to leaf out by the time the sun grows hot, and washed by sparkling water, so deep, just now, it barely warms through. But will it shrink till her fry fall victims to the kingfisher? Streams sometimes do. Or—There's a mink in those logs!" quivers she.

"Never!" Her gallant lover dart into the dark crypts beneath the jam and out again, to prove how safe it is. He rubs her sides caressingly. Half reassured, she begins to dig the gravel with her tail. Then—evil omen—a winged shadow skims overhead. Flick! they're gone.

So you never see how she spades her shallow trench, scatters her jelly drops to spawn, while her mate hovers beside her, covers them over again, as you cover your sweet peas. Or how, the great work achieved, they float downstream, tail first, spent, but content. But didn't I warn you you wouldn't?

No matter what a married man buys downtown, his wife always knows of a place where she could have bought it cheaper.

SPARR HEIGHTS HAS MANY FEATURES THAT ARE STRICTLY ALL ITS OWN, SAYS A RECENT PURCHASER THERE

On This Wonderful Tract, It Is Claimed, a Town Will Rise That Will Be An Important Part In Southern California

"There are some features about Sparr Heights," said a recent purchaser of property in that magnificent 1,500-acre tract on the Verdugo road, to the northeast of Glendale, "that no other subdivision upon the market can boast.

"In the first place," he said, addressing Mr. Walters, of the firm of Barnum & Walters, developers of the tract, "you are planning not only for today and tomorrow, but for the entire future, and thus you are avoiding the discomfort and economic waste that so often are the results of readjustments."

"It is absolutely sure a town will rise here which will be to Glendale what Hollywood is to Los Angeles, and in that town there will be no removal of dwellings to make a place for business, for you have settled the location of the business district and homes in the beginning.

"In many of the towns which have grown up without the logical and intelligent planning that we see at Sparr Heights, the community center was so belated in its appearance and is so far from the real center of the town and so difficult of access to its population that it is a sort of joke to call it by the name, and the recreation grounds are likewise so inconveniently placed, because they were an afterthought, that they are never either really popular nor largely patronized. Here both community center and the golf course are so located that they will always be accessible to the whole community.

"I tell you, sir, the man who builds a home these days needs to think of many things. Among these are environments, convenience and value. His investment is of two sorts, present satisfaction and future prospects, and Sparr Heights answers all of the requirements in both respects.

"Neither does the buyer invest thoughtlessly. He 'shops' as does other purchasers of other wares. He considers the claims of all that is offered and, believe me, I took quite a 'look-see' about, before I bought this property, and every day in every way I am better and better pleased.

"This Verdugo road is the only great artery of traffic to Los Angeles, the only inlet and outlet of this section to what promises to be the greatest city on the continent. When I look toward the mountains surrounding this locality, I realize that this heart of the Verdugo valley is bound to pulse more and more energetically with traffic, and wherever traffic flows towns arise.

"Having a curiosity to estimate just what the traffic now is, I have made counts on week days and Sundays and I discovered on making an average, that two hundred thousand people a week pass Sparr Heights, and as all about and beyond us there are prosperous growing communities, it will not be long until this stream of humanity will be much larger.

"Now, while these are the business reasons for the purchase of my property here, there are personal considerations no less important and compelling.

"I came to California to enjoy life. I don't mean that I came here to loaf, but the wise Californian knows how to play, and if he don't play in proportion to his work he can't appreciate to the full the glorious climate and the opportunities it affords for out of door life.

"Here at Sparr Heights there are many avenues of pleasure. When I desire social enjoyment, and I am a gregarious individual and my family like permanent association with pleasant people as well as I do myself, I can find in the community center and the Golf club, opportunity to get that which no city club, however exclusive, can afford.

"I like to hike and ride horseback with my friends and my boys and girls, and here we can all have healthful and pleasurable outings without having to travel miles away from home. We can get the inspiration of glorious views, of magnificent vistas and the peace and serenity of the open spaces and all the time be within sight of our own house.

"Moreover, the location of the homesites is such that this pastoral beauty and serenity will always remain. The view of the mountains, the golf green, and this wide lovely valley can never be obscured, and Sparr Heights will always be a place where the man who wants a true home for his family will be certain of achieving it."

He was doomed to failure all his life. He either told the truth too religiously or said the wrong thing. It began when he got his first job as office boy.

He hadn't been there long when his employer looked up from an important letter, and said irritably: "Don't whistle at your work, boy!"

"I ain't working, sir," he replied. "I'm only whistling."

A man seldom works overtime in an effort to make his wife happy.

SHOULD EXTEND FOREST OWNERSHIP

Public forest ownership should be extended, and the federal government should administer for forest purposes all its present public lands suitable for this, and should acquire additional lands by purchase or exchange.

"With respect to private lands," said Secretary Wallace, "it is my belief that the forest policy of the United States should offer every reasonable encouragement to timber growing by private land owners through the force of enlightened self-interest and commercial gain; but that the policy will not be complete or fully effective without reasonable forms of public control over forest lands. Under our constitutional and other limitations, such public control must probably be left to the exercise of the police powers of the state, at least at the present time. This is, however, a question on which sincere advocates of forest conservation differ. It is an exceedingly important phase of the entire subject, which the committee should fully weigh and investigate."

LISTEN TO JOAQUIN MILLER, CALIFORNIA'S WONDERFUL POET, TELL OF GLENDALE'S CHARMS AND BEAUTY

Most Noted Western Writer Visited Glendale One Day and Went Away With a Song; It Is True and Wonderful

By JOAQUIN MILLER

I would not venture to call this vast, rich region round about Los Angeles paradise, whatever enthusiasts of the East might venture to say. But to me it is surely on the edge of Eden. For here I find not only "every tree that is pleasant to the sight," in the words of Holy Writ, but also "all that is good for food."

For instance, while here are fine orange groves, lemon and olive groves, and all that sort of fine product, the special fruit that is grown for food in Glendale is the strawberry—great, broad, sandy and warm fields of strawberries.

There are some few Mexican women at work planting and weeding strawberries. Where are the others who want work?

Ancient, little old Trojans went to sleep in her strawberry bed a quarter of a century ago and only wakened up two or three years back when she heard the rattle and clang of the electric cars. And yet, all the time for years and years, the Southern Pacific thundered past in full view.

Were I to venture to advise anybody how to build a town and fill it full of happy people, I should say "Run a railroad, a fine, live, electric railroad, right through the heart of your town before you drive a peg or sell a lot."

This was the old Roman way. And it was the one and only right way. When Rome wanted to conquer a country, a very general desire of hers, she first built a road to the heart of the country she wanted to settle and civilize. By the time she got the road done, the rest had to follow.

The seven-mile ride out from the city to this healthful, happy little Trojans in her warm, rich strawberry beds is the most restful ride you can conceive. You are sorry when it is done.

And two miles farther still, this road, straight as a string and as solid as a London subway, sweeps on until it touches the base of the Verdugo steeps, cloud-topped and 3,000 feet in the air.

The main street on and to and through Glendale, set with date palms most of the way, is miles and miles in length some of it strawberry fields, some of it olive trees, some of it orange trees, some of it such cottages as you may see at Newport, Saratoga, and so on.

But it all is as pretty as you can conceive. In truth, it would take a Victor Hugo or a Bret Harte to call up in his mind a scene like this, only seven miles out of Los Angeles—without first having seen at least some fractional part of this flowered land.

The next best thing after the restful road, and that which comes nearest in winning your confidence is the first station at which you alight in Glendale. I never took a stage of a depot before after a good look at wondrous Charing Cross, London.

But this at Glendale is a castle and fairy land combined. I don't know who conceived this, fashioned it or paid for it. I don't care. But I took off my hat to the spirit, to the soul that made it today.

For I am an idolater! I am an idol worshipper, a worshipper of beauty, beauty that must forever be idolized and adored as Keat's adored beauty as he lay dying in Rome.

And this station, this stepping off place out in the strawberry beds, the olive groves and the orange groves, is seven miles out of the city. Yet the finest thing of the sort—not the fattest, mind you, is seven miles out from the city—seven miles!

Now, why should not every railroad station be beautiful, be clean, watered, set with flowers, bowered with growing trees, girt with grasses?

It is only a short walk on the palm-set street to one other bit of architectural beauty. This is the Glendale club house, a modest bit of old mission remembrance, with genuine old mission tiles above the archway.

For my own part, personally, I abhor clubs. I prefer the hospitality of a pine or cedar tree in the forest. But since men and women of cities must have club rooms, I am grateful for the idea uttered here in stone and mortar.

In truth, the whole thing, from the green and shapely mound on which the semi-mission little palace stands, up to the topmost round, is so restful and so rich in contour and comeliness that I had to demand the name of the man who designed it.

I could not get it fully. I fancy the man, like most men who do things, did not want to be in the newspapers and I did not press the question.

But I was promptly and freely informed that the work was all done by men who lived there in the

BLOSSOMS AWAIT RAILWAY COMPANY YOU NOW AT SAYS OUTLOOK GLENDALE IS BRIGHT

It is blossom-time at Glenoaks. Does this mean anything to you, Mr. Lover of the outdoors?

Does it mean that before another twenty-four hours have worn away you will be wending your way up the Old Sycamore canyon, then to the right up Scholl canyon, which has been renamed Glenoaks?

If you don't take a jaunt up into that beautiful canyon before the blossoms have left the trees you are missing something—something real that will stay with you, that will assist in making you feel years younger.

And one of the best things about this canyon is that the acre- and half-acre lots that are being sold at this tract now are covered with dozens of these beautiful full-bearing apricot and peach trees. At $2,000 for half-acre, the figure at which these sites are being sold, these pieces are being almost given away. In many sections of Glendale and surrounding country that are not nearly so desirable much higher figures are being asked for one-quarter and one-fifth acre lots.

The finest type of improvements will be installed on this property. There will be a 70-foot boulevard running the entire length of the tract, this to connect Glendale with Wintride and Pasadena. Miles and miles of bridle trails have been cut through the property, which will afford the motorists and scenery lovers of Glendale one of the most wonderful of scenic drives.

Work will start within a short time in the laying out of the park, which the owners of this tract have given to the city of Glendale.

Little city, real genuine men, who took a personal pride in their work. Ye gods, could we but have such men in a city—in all cities. How happy they would be. How much happier we of all the world would be.

Before we had been long in and about the town, I told my companion that this Glendale, here in the heart of the San Fernando valley, was perhaps the most healthful place in all the state of California. For this warm, soft sand, nearly 30 miles from the sea, was surely an absorbent of all illis flesh is heir to.

And lo! In a little time we came upon a great home of health, in a flower garden so broad and rich, and daisies so tall and wondrous, that I had to beg a photograph of them at his hand, and went in person to the door to beg something of this warm soil of sand as expressed in these flowers this "roaring month of March."

"Water in Glendale?" "Why, we still have water to burn in Glendale. The water here is all our own. We have a great arroyo up yonder, only two or three miles in the Verdugo mountains. You can see the mouth of the canyon from the doorstep of the club. The water is soft and sweet and pure as possible. Great oak and sycamore trees grow there, and the reservoirs are 'a joy forever.'"

"What do you do out here?" "We don't do anything much out here. We go to town, most of us, and do our day in Los Angeles. But it is great fun going in and coming out, too; no ferryboats, no street cars, nothing at all to bother us. Only once set foot on this solid, sandlocked, steel rail and you don't care at all or feel any sort of jolt—soul or body—until you step down and out in clear, cold water, tee-total Glendale!"

THE PATIO GARDEN REQUISITES ARE TOLD

Although the patio garden originated in lands foreign to us, it is famed in the history and romance of early California and seems to be particularly well adapted to our sunny climate and to our outdoor-loving people.

The hacienda of early days in California was rarely without its patio, which sheltered much of the family life and daily, domestic happenings of those times, and now it seems to be the tendency to bring back this charming bit of outdoor garden space, which for a time threatened to slip into the memories of the past.

With few exceptions the large living quarters of the early hacienda days are, perforce, giving way to small, urban homes, in which, if such exist, the patio areas are of necessity smaller.

However, this diminution in size does not mean decreasing charm and interest, of necessity and may even add to the spirit of intimacy and refinement which the patio possesses.

One problem which the landscape man encounters thus becomes that of properly handling a very small, enclosed area in a way to invite attractive use without seeming to be overcrowded and cramped.

Although the confines of the patio are most definitely rigid, the method employed in its planting will largely determine whether or not it appears to be adequately spacious.

Overplanting is a multifarious sin. Restraint is a rare virtue and an elementary principle of true art.

In the world of plants and planting the sinner is more common than the saint, and has held dominion away in many a patio garden.

The ordinary patio demands a very restrained use of plant materials, for if overplanted the area may become a jungle instead of a court.

Foliage masses should be held to the scale of that which they adorn; proper proportion should be kept between open spaces and upright masses.

If a man speaks of auburn locks when a girl has red hair she knows he has poetry in his soul.

With an increase of 20 per cent in the travel over the company's lines to this state from the east and middle west during the past winter season and the best outlook for much improved business the coming summer, W. J. Black, passenger traffic manager of the Santa Fe system, who is visiting the coast on a periodical inspection trip, predicts a bounded prosperity throughout the west during the year 1923.

Coupled with the passenger travel, which is under his direction, Mr. Black points to the records made in business and other affairs, for January of this year as indicative of a marked improvement in nearly every condition and element that has to do with the development and progress of both city and country.

That the agricultural conditions of the country give promise of great returns for this year, he said reports received by him showed an increase in the sales of agricultural implements for January, 1923, amounting to 65 per cent over the same month last year.

The building activities during the month, he said, particularly in the San Joaquin valley and Southern California, showed an increase of 15 per cent over the same period of 1922. A dozen cities reported building permits aggregating $22,000,000 for the month.

The production of petroleum in California broke all records for January, the reports show, with a daily average production of 530,585 barrels. During the month there was a net increase of 57 new wells.

An increase of 1,369,000 boxes of navel oranges in the citrus belts over the season of 1920-21, is indicated in reports made to the traffic official.

Lumber, mining, live stock and other industries, he said, likewise report improved conditions for the first month of the year while there was a decrease in unemployment and a decrease in the amount of liabilities from business failures amounting to 61 per cent for January, 1923, over the same month last year, is shown in the digest.

Mr. Black said a heavier travel to the national parks is reflected in the passenger business to California, and the many advantages and pleasures of a summer season spent here on the coast, also are factors in increasing the traffic.

"The climatic and other conditions in this state combine to make it both a summer and winter attraction," said Mr. Black, "and the tourist and other travel fast are learning of this fact, who formerly had believed the winter season was the only delightful one."

He said the motoring, fine highways for motoring, and other outdoor sports, athletic events and recreation offered inducements unexcelled anywhere, and they are at the zenith of their glory and pleasure from May until September.

Institutions dealing with the tourist and resort travel, he said, should find some better method of broadcasting their possibilities and the doings of well known people who come here to make this their playground. He pointed to the very successful manner in which the public through the press, motion picture weeklies and by other mediums, concerning every event and appearance of the notable guests, both men and women, who go to Florida and some of the other resorts in the south.

California with far better facilities and conditions otherwise providing for the ideal outdoor life, he said might just as well cash in on the same line of getting their guests prominently mentioned in the society and other newspaper departments, and also a play-up along the wide range of pictorial possibilities. These people like that kind of publicity, he stated in conclusion, and when it is done more liberally in the big centers here, as Florida does it, more people will be attracted out here.

DRINK WATER IF KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a Tablespoonful of Salts if Back Pains or Bladder Is Irritated

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids; to help cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Adv.

Beautiful Foothill Homesites At Low Prices

These wonderful foothills homesites can be bought on such easy terms that anyone can afford one. Close-in, desirable, high class, foothill property has heretofore been practically unobtainable for the person with a small income.

Glendale Crest, however, was put on the market with the idea of supplying the demand of just such people. Think of it! Terms as low as $15.00 a month and only a small down payment. And the prices! As low as

$975 to $3350

If you haven't the money to build now, buy a lot and get it paid for while you have the opportunity. If you don't build, sell at a profit as the values rise, which they surely will.

Here are the facts! Large, fully improved lots with gas, water and electricity all installed free. Beautiful winding streets, arranged so that practically every lot has a magnificent view. Only 3 short blocks to the cars. Two blocks from the new high school. 5 minutes from the center of Glendale. On Sycamore Drive, to be made one of the finest boulevards in Southern California, and 1 block from Verdugo Road.

Come at once. By quick action you get the very best of the best subdivision in Glendale. At our prices and terms you must act promptly. This is really a rare opportunity for you to make a profitable investment or secure an ideal home place. Just come and see for yourself.

TO REACH PROPERTY:

By Auto: Drive out Glendale Blvd. to Glendale, north on Brand Blvd. to Broadway, east on Broadway to Verdugo Road, then north three blocks to Sycamore Drive. Our office is on corner of Sycamore and Verdugo.
By Street Car: Take any Glendale car, transfer to Wilson Ave. line at Broadway in Glendale, ride to Verdugo Road, then walk two short blocks to property.
Office at tract is open every day, including Sunday. Come tomorrow.

WING TRACT IS CLOSE TO CAR

Thirteen new homes will be under way within ten days in the Wing Orange Grove tract, according to a statement made by Marvin Smith, selling agent for the tract, this morning. Five beautiful homes have already been started and work on five others will begin at once, while the three remaining dwellings are to be started within a day or so. A large number of the buyers of lots in this tract are planning to build. A few, it is understood, are having plans drawn at this time, the idea being to begin building operations as soon as possible.

It is surprising how many of the buyers of lots in this tract are employed in Los Angeles, said Mr. Smith this morning. "Quite a number of these people have been waiting for such an opportunity as Wing Orange Grove affords—a chance to get a home close to transportation, with lots that are literally covered with trees. It seems to be a mania with those working in Los Angeles to come out Glendale way, and when a tract that is so accessible to the car line, the P. E. being just two blocks away, and at the same time is as desirable as is the Wing Orange Grove tract, presents itself, there is little wonder that the commuters to the Angel city snap up these homesites. The easy terms on which these lots are being sold and the unusually low prices that are being asked are especially attractive to the average lot buyer.

Venice Recall Pot Is Boiling

[By Associated Press]
VENICE, March 23.—Politics here became more feverish yesterday with the announcement of the organization of a "committee of 500" to recall the present board of trustees, following their recent refusal to resign. This is the fourth political body to enter the field within the past month. The others are the "Committee of 100" which seeks annexation to Los Angeles, the Young Men's for Venice club, which is said to seek the recall of the trustees, and the chamber of commerce, which recently demanded the trustees resign.

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., March 23.—A total of 12,222,000 feet of lumber was landed on Oakland wharves during February, according to W. H. Masterson, chief wharfinger.

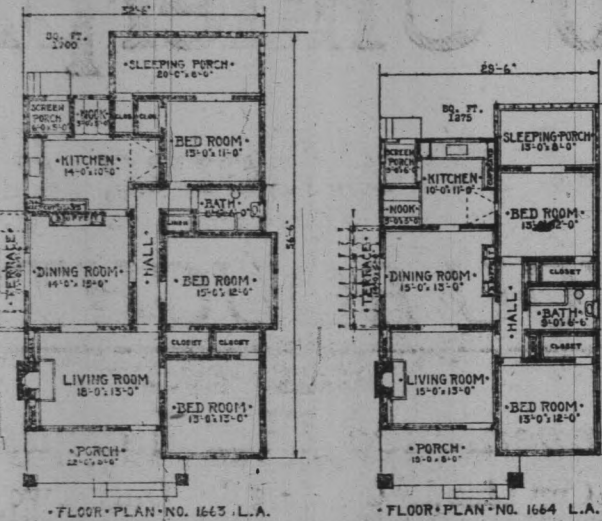

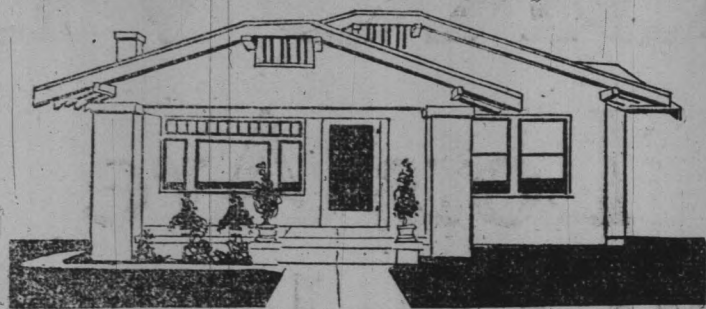

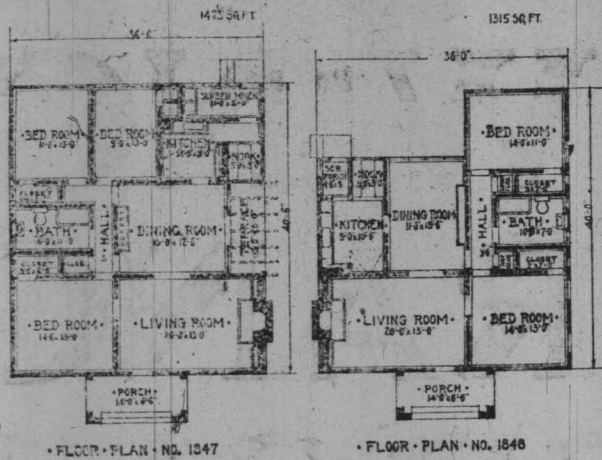

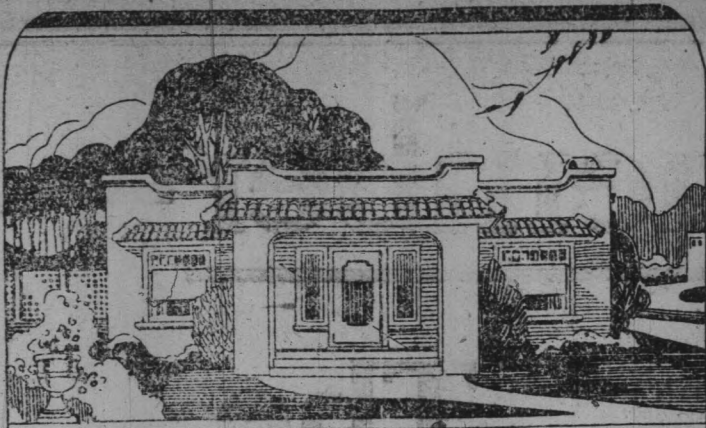

"There," he said, as he surveyed the clothes post, which had taken him the afternoon to fix in the garden, "that's as firm as a rock. Even the combined forces of the elements cannot bring it down."

Later in the day he found the pole on the ground.

"Did you do this?" he demanded of his 8-year-old son.

"No, father," was the reply; "a sparrow perched on it. I saw it myself."

BEAUTIFUL HOMES ARE PLANNED FOR WING ORANGE GROVE TRACT

FINE BROADWAY LOTS ARE NOW AVAILABLE

Evidently those people living at distant points from Glendale have more faith in the future of Glendale than the local residents, if the interest taken in the proposed sale of the Glendale Sanitarium property on Broadway is a barometer.

Last week the first news of the sale of that property was printed in the newspapers and instead of a number of Glendale people being the first to seize the opportunity that this property offers, the initial reservation was received from a large and influential property owner of Long Beach and San Pedro. This man is known for his farsightedness in the buying of property and according to his own statement, Jackson street just off Broadway in Glendale is one of the best spots in which to invest money today. Substantiating the beliefs of this man, the next reservation was made by two of the most prominent downtown realty operators of Los Angeles for their own account. It is the business of these men to know values and the fact that almost every investment they have made has developed into a money maker is convincing proof that this sanitarium property is destined to mount in value until it pays handsome profits to the buyers of today.

"After three well known Southern California men had vouched their confidence in the Broadway Central business tract, we thought that some Glendale person would be on the ground to share in the profits of this property," said Guy M. Rush, president of the Guy M. Rush company, which is handling the subdivision and sale of the tract, but our expectations went astray, because the next reservation was made by a qualified real estate operator, whose arrival from San Francisco was so recent that he still misses the fog. This man stated to me that he had long heard of Glendale and had made a careful investigation of the local situation which resulted in several important investments. When he saw in the papers that a tract of land right in the center of the business district of the city was to be sold below market value, he was interested and after a careful survey of conditions immediately surrounding this property he was convinced that there was the place to real money, so he selected the highest priced parcel in the tract. No investor if he wanted to make some money had he departed than we received a telegram from a man in Sacramento. This man had been a resident of Southern California in the past and knew Glendale. He was wholly familiar with the Glendale Sanitarium property and its advantageous location. His wire brought a request for prices and we mailed him detailed information. The result was his application for a reservation.

"Wednesday, long distance from Bakersfield called us and on the other end of the wire was a fellow who was looking for a place to invest some money in business property, and having been told of Glendale's wonderful growth he was instantly interested in the purchase of Broadway property. We had only to tell him that three years ago the entire site could have been bought for $55,000 and that today it was worth many times that amount to show him the relative value of the site and when we told him that he could purchase here at as much as $50 a front foot less than surrounding property, he asked us to use our own judgment in selecting a lot for him and wired a deposit.

"Surely the people of Glendale are not going to allow outsiders to come into this town and acquire the cream of the business property. You who have lived here and seen the town grow from a village into a city of 50,000 surely must have faith in its future and will be quick to seize such opportunities as the subdivision of property of the Glendale Sanitarium offers. Right here, the people of Glendale can do what outsiders are doing. They can invest a small amount of money and watch it grow to proportions. We have originated a plan by which the investor can pay but a small amount now and guarantee him a profit on his money this year. Our terms of sale and our interest rates are so low that there is no obstacle left in the path of those of limited means to acquire property here.

Will Sail the World's Largest Dirigible

Lieutenant Commander Jacob Kline, U. S. N., has been chosen by the chief of the naval air service to be the executive officers of the ZRI, the world's largest dirigible ship, now nearing completion in the government's hangar, at Lakehurst, New Jersey.

PLANES TO TRANSFER PASSENGERS IN THE AIR

Lawrence B. Sperry, well-known aeronautical inventor, has demonstrated at Mitchel Field, Long Island, that it is perfectly feasible to have transcontinental airplanes transfer passengers to smaller planes for landing midway between stops. Sperry equipped his little machine with a three-foot rod, mounted on his top wing, and so manipulated his airplane as to hook the rod easily a number of times in the bottom rung of a ladder hanging from the cockpit of a big De Havilland plane piloted by Captain Clyde D. Finter, U. S. A. Both men wore parachutes in case of accident, but the feat was easily accomplished.

General Gregory Semenov, the Cossack leader, said in New York the other day: "The cruel selfishness of the Bolsheviks reminds me of a story. A lady and a gentleman were out walking. The gentleman pointed to a beautiful bird on a balcony. 'What a pity to keep such a beautiful bird caged up on a balcony.' 'Yes,' said the lady warmly. 'Wouldn't the dear little thing look just sweet on my hat?'

He saw her sitting in a dark corner and knew that his chance had come. Noiselessly he stole up behind her and gave her a kiss. 'How dare you?' she cried. 'I beg your pardon,' he bluffed. 'Why, I thought you were my sister.' She came out into the light. 'You silly idiot,' she giggled, 'I am.'

CLEVELAND KNOLLS TRACT SALE IS BRISK

The sale of lots in the Cleveland Knolls tract is on. Although this tract has been on the market but a short time, quite a number of the lots have been sold. As the number of homesites in this subdivision is limited, it behooves those who are expecting to some day purchase a home in the beautiful northwest section and in the Cleveland Knolls locality in particular to look no time in making the first payment and nailing one of these extremely desirable lots down tight.

The street work that was scheduled for this tract has been practically completed, and this work is as fine as any that is being put in anywhere in Glendale. It consists of rock streets, sidewalks and curbing. All of the public utilities are in such as gas, electricity, water, telephones, and the like. All of the improvements being put in this tract are of the highest character, no expense being spared in making everything "right."

The building program of Cleveland Knolls is under way. A number of homes will be started within the very near future, which will have the further effect of stamping "class" all over this tract, for every home in this property will be of high character.

With a friend in need it usually is a case of touch and go.

BELLEHURST PARK CLAIMS BEST RECORD

Breaking all records for opening sales the new Glendale subdivision of Bellehurst Park is now the most talked of residence area in Southern California. Over $400,000 worth of property in Bellehurst park was purchased in the short period of seven days. On Friday, March 16, the opening announcement of this great sale appeared in all the Los Angeles and Glendale papers. By the following Friday the total number of sales exceeded $425,000, with every prospect of even more volume during the coming week.

The tremendous demand for lots in this select area has indicated more strongly than anything else that the people of Southern California have faith in Glendale. Steady streams of outside buyers have been flocking to Bellehurst Park for a week from all parts of the state. The inevitable result will be an immediate increase in property values not only in Bellehurst Park but in the entire city.

Many Glendale people are numbered among recent buyers. It is becoming more and more evident to Glendale that the high quality of this beautiful park, as it is being developed by the Walter H. Leimert company, makes it the coming residence section of the city. In fact Bellehurst Park will soon be one of the best known residence areas in the entire southland.

Transportation facilities are excellent with the Pacific Electric running 60 trains to and from Los Angeles over Brand boulevard only two blocks away. The proposed subway to be constructed in Los Angeles is specially planned to serve the tremendous and growing population of Glendale first. Far-sighted buyers are anticipating very marked advances in values along lines of the Pacific Electric as soon as this construction work begins. Bellehurst Park will be also greatly benefited by this increased service.

Street work is being rushed to connection and water, gas, electricity and telephone connections will be available to all lots as fast as the large crews of men brought here by Bates & Borland, Inc., can get them in. This firm has worked with the Walter H. Leimert Co. in many previous subdivisions around San Francisco bay so that the high quality of their work is to be depended upon. No pains are being spared to make Bellehurst Park in every way representative of the best work of the Walter H. Leimert company.

In response to the increasing demand for these lots, it has been found necessary to keep the offices of the Walter H. Leimert Co. open at night as well as all day. From now on you may secure complete information in the evenings by calling Glendale 3098 or visiting

SCENE AT BEAUTIFUL BELLEHURST PARK

PAINTING HOME IS GOOD INVESTMENT

A great many people believe that painting their houses and other buildings at regular intervals is a matter of guess work, or is due to the necessity of keeping the lumber or other exposed material in first class condition by the means of paint application of the proper kind.

However, paint of first quality is not of any great value unless it is properly applied. A few ordinary facts about ready mixed paint are as follows:

House paints should weigh from 15 to 16 pounds per gallon, net weight.

The solid matter or the pigment should be 85 per cent to 90 per cent of the total weight. The oils and turpentine and drier should be about 90 per cent pure linseed oil, 5 per cent pure turpentine and 5 per cent drier.

The pigment is not more than 30 per cent zinc oxide, the balance, white lead. Some good paints may contain a small amount of silica or other extender.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—A public market here has installed "community scales" in order that customers may weigh their purchases. This, the management says, eliminates weight shortages.

IRVINGTON, Calif., March 2.—Voters of Niles, Calif., favorably passed the $65,000 bond issue for construction of a sanitary system.

The Glendale office at 248 S. Brand boulevard. Any representative of the firm will be glad to show maps of the tract and information regarding the prices of the remaining lots.

VICTROLA TO BE GIVEN AT PARK

A beautiful console model Victrola absolutely free is the inducement held out to visitors at Glen Angelus park, the wonderful new subdivision at the corner of San Fernando boulevard and Goodwin street. Vern S. Stires, subdivider, states that there are no strings or red tape to the offer whatever. All that is required, he said, is that you come to the tract office and register. Then if your number comes up when the drawing is made, you take the Victrola home.

Development plans which will bring tremendous increases in values are now being worked out for Glen Angelus park. Chief among them is the new boulevard which will connect the tract directly with the Griffith Park golf club and provide a new short route through the park to Hollywood and Los Angeles thus relieving the traffic congestion on Los Feliz boulevard.

Glen Angelus park is ideally located. It is nearer to the corner of Broadway and Brand boulevard than any other subdivision and will be nearer to the new yellow car line which is being planned to run through Griffith park than any other part of Glendale.

The Burton Realty company, whose offices are at 220 1-2 West Broadway, has been appointed up-town agents for the new tract.

Good Roads Are Absolute Necessity

Without doubt the subject of road building is going to be the greatest single item of expense, next to schools, which every community will have to consider in coming years. Good roads are a present-day necessity, says the Manufacturer.

Millions have now been spent in experimental road construction in western states, and the time has come for the public to cash in on the results obtained from various kinds of road pavement tested under actual daily use over a period of years.

What the taxpayer wants is a road which will outlive the bond issue which provides for its construction and which can be built at a minimum first cost and will require a minimum amount for maintenance.

This is what a private corporation would do if it was spending millions of its own money. This is what public officials should be required to do when spending millions of the taxpayers' money.

MERCER SELLS SIXTEEN LOTS

Sixteen lots located on Lomita court, between Adams and Sycamore canyon road, were sold through the office of W. E. Mercer, 624 East Broadway, on Thursday. These were sold to H. M. Peffley of Los Angeles, who will build a number of houses at once, and to Harry Long of Glendale. The sales totaled $17,000.

The bonds of matrimony are frequently broken by a club—of which the husband is a member.

Benmar Hills!

Burbank

"The City Beautiful"

Your Home in a MODEL CITY
All Planned in Advance

Here was Burbank, a thriving community, strategically located as the gateway from Los Angeles into the rich, prosperous San Fernando valley. Its rapid growth from 2900 to more than 8500 in about two years is only the commencement of an expansion which will transcend that of any other community in Southern California.

And here was Benmar Hills, an estate of practically 3000 acres, which, taking in the western part of the city, sweeps from the San Fernando Boulevard to the summits of the Verdugo Hills.

Side by side they stood—the city teeming with growth, and the great expanse of territory superbly adapted to accommodate that growth.

The opportunity was caught by a man of vision—a man who was dreamer enough to formulate a great ideal, and practical enough to go about in a business-like way to realize that ideal. This was his dream—

To start at once planning to direct the course of Burbank's development, so that, when it is attained in full, she will stand forth a beautiful, perfectly balanced, model American city, containing every essential to a well-rounded commercial, industrial, social and cultural community life.

If you want to see a great vision turning to a great reality—if you want to find the most extraordinary home-making opportunity ever offered or ever likely to be offered you—drive out to Benmar Hills today.

Follow San Fernando Boulevard from either direction until you reach Benmar Hills, in the western part of Burbank. Our representative will be at the tract office to give you full information.

THE CLEVELAND KNOLL SUBDIVISION

ANNOUNCES THE OPENING OF

Cleveland Road from Kenneth Road South to Glenwood

Completed With Best Improvements—Open to the Public in Less Than Six Weeks Working Time

On Cleveland Road you will find eight different size lots, and eight different prices, which range from 10% to 20% cheaper than any other subdivision, after careful consideration of the location, improvements, restrictions and service.

This new organization, under the direction and promotion of Antonio Farinacci, has decided to do the work and pay, before selling the lot, and not telling the people it will be done sooner or later. Drive to Cleveland Road and convince yourselves of the other unusual conditions found in this subdivision, which are the plowing and irrigation for 1923 done by present owners; tax for 1923 will be one-half; plans, specifications, and supervising the construction of your home, free.

HERE'S A SPECIAL BARGAIN

For the opening of this road we offer one big bargain, which is one lot, 130 feet front on Eighth St., by 330 feet deep, with 129 best fruit trees, for only $7500.00.

The price of our lots is one, and no extra bills will come to your house for additional charges on your lot.

We wish to inform the people who desire to make their homes in Kenneth Road District, that from Brand Boulevard west to Grand View and from Glenwood north to the hills, a bout two square miles (which is the most desirable and restricted for single home residence), that no more than 800 lots are to be sold after the remaining few acres are subdivided. Therefore,

YORK BOULEVARD MANOR OFFERS INDUCEMENTS

When the Wesley Roberts company opened their York Boulevard Manor subdivision they created an opportunity for investment that has been quickly grasped by far-sighted people who recognized in this property extraordinary possibilities for quick turnovers and large profits. Located in the Eagle Rock-Glendale district where values are rapidly climbing up, and served by a 5-cent carline, this beautiful tract of hill and valley land with its winding roads and delightful vistas well deserves the enthusiastic reception it has received, and shrewd investors, as well as discriminating home-seekers have lost no time in getting in on the ground floor.

York Boulevard Manor adjoins Sagamore Park, another Wesley Roberts subdivision. Both tracts are part of an old Spanish grant owned by the Glassell estate which originally included most of the land between Los Angeles and Pasadena. Mr. Roberts was able to secure this acreage upon very advantageous terms which allowed him to list the lots in these two subdivisions at much lower prices than would otherwise have been possible. Thus the public is presented with a very attractive proposition—an ideal location and rock bottom prices.

Mr. Roberts is a pioneer subdivider. His activities date back to 1901 and many Los Angeles people owe their start on the road to prosperity to Mr. Roberts' wise selection of property—always where development was sure and rapid and investment safe and profitable. In speaking of his early experience Mr. Roberts said: "Twenty years ago I subdivided an orange grove at Santa Monica and Western avenues and sold the lots at $600 each. Then I sold Vermont avenue frontage near Bimini at $300 a lot. On each deal I made $50 and have been working ever since on small margins and quick turnovers. Today these Western and Vermont avenue lots are worth a small fortune. At 48th street and Moneta avenue I put another subdivision on the market and this also made a lot of money for investors. People who have bought in my subdivisions for investment have made from 50 to 500 per cent in a short period of time. But in all my long experience in Los Angeles real estate transactions I have never handled a proposition that is so full of possibilities as York Boulevard Manor and Sagamore Park. Ideally situated in a fast developing district and provided by nature with all the desirable features that make for perfect home environment, these subdivisions are truly the most inspiring projects I have ever handled. No better opportunity for investment and quick turnover was ever presented to the people of Los Angeles—no more desirable homesites at moderate prices have ever been offered. All the advantages and scenic beauty of exclusive environment are there—all the freedom and quiet of country life, plus city conveniences are there. Twenty minutes by auto from Broadway, a 5-cent carline, gas, water, electricity and perfectly constructed decomposed

GLENDALE CREST IMPROVEMENTS ARE BEST

According to J. D. Millar, president of the firm which owns and sells Glendale Crest, no money will be spared to make the improvements at Glendale Crest in a manner to suit all purchasers, and to rush them to an early completion. "When our engineer laid out this property," said Mr. Millar, "he was instructed to keep the thought of view and beautiful surroundings as the prime factor in his work."

"He has certainly accomplished this in a perfect manner. The winding streets, each one gradually climbing to higher ground where the vista becomes more complete and charming, are designed in such a way as to make practically every lot command a view to be envied by the city dwellers below. "All the magnificent old oaks and other varieties of trees have been saved, and many lots include one or more of these fully developed beauties. Money cannot put such ornaments on property less fortunate in its environments. The public has evidently approved our plans and improvements at Glendale Crest. Although the property has only been on the market a few granite roads—surely a wonderful chance for investment, and property like this is bound to be snapped up quickly at the low prices and easy terms at which we are offering the lots. We have already sold more than $400,000 worth of lots in York Boulevard Manor alone and have just arranged with a prominent Glendale contractor for the immediate construction of six houses of English type in Sagamore Park."

The main office of the Wesley Roberts Co. is located at 408 A. G. Bartlett building, Seventh street at Spring, Los Angeles, and is under the able management of Mr. E. J. White, whose varied experience in California real estate and subdivision covers a period of many years.

Weeks, over $120,000 worth has been already disposed of. A good many speculators are among our purchasers. They realize that values will rise quickly, as this part of Glendale, although in its infancy as a subdivision section, is beginning to attract the attention of all Southern California home-seekers.

"The fact that we have all the conveniences and accessibility of the city and the natural beauty and view of the hills has helped us make many sales."

"We are keeping our tract open every day of the week to accommodate the many visitors that come to inspect the view. Being on Sycamore Drive at Verdugo road, and only two blocks from the Wilson avenue carline, Glendale Crest is easily reached from Glendale or Los Angeles."

BOISE, Idaho, March 2.—Charles C. Moore is a boy scout as well as governor of Idaho, having recently taken the Boy Scout oath.

RENO, Nev., March 2.—The Stewart school for Indians, near Carson City, has been awarded an appropriation of $116,000 for 1923.

Secretary Hoover said in an address in behalf of Russia's famine victims: "Give till it hurts. Don't be like the audience of a poor chap whom I once heard in London orating at the Marble Arch. This poor fellow got a boy to take up a collection for him at the end of the oration, and when the collection was over he said: 'Well, I've got me 'at back, any 'ow.'"

Article No. 25 Pre-emptive Bids

A pre-emptive bid is a bid of more than one as an original bid or a bid of a greater number of tricks than required to overbid a previous bid by opponents. The object of such bid is two-fold: First, to give partner the information that the pre-emptive bidder's hand is of such a character that he much prefers one suit as trump, and that, with that suit as trump, he can go game with but average assistance from partner; second, to shut out, if possible, adverse bidding by opponents—that is, to pre-empt the bidding.

The latter requirement is really the only excuse for the pre-emptive bids; that is, the desire to shut out adverse bidding by opponents.

For that reason pre-emptive bids must be high enough to effect this purpose; and only bids such as three Spades, four Hearts or five Clubs or Diamonds of any value in shutting out adverse bidding.

The modern player is too alert to the purpose of these bids to pass if he has any justifiable bid.

The following represent sound original three Spade bids by dealer:

Hearts—10
Clubs—9, 7
Diamonds—A, 4, 2
Spades—A, K, J, 7, 6, 4, 2

Hearts—K, 4, 2
Diamonds—Q, 7, 6
Spades—K, Q, J, 10, 4, 3, 2

Such hands are good for Spades only, and the great weakness in the Heart suit makes it desirable to shut out such a bid by opponents. The same holdings in the Heart suit would make them sound original four Heart bids by dealer. For example:

Hearts—A, K, J, 7, 6, 4, 2
Clubs—9, 7
Diamonds—A, 4, 2
Spades—10

Hearts—K, Q, J, 10, 4, 3, 2
Clubs—K, 4, 2
Diamonds—Q, 7, 6
Spades—

The points to remember in making pre-emptive bids in the Spade suit are: first, to require a game bid in Hearts to overbid; and second, to have hand containing no assistance for a possible Heart bid by partner. In pre-emptive bidding of the Heart suit, require a game bid of Spades to overbid and no assistance for a possible Spade bid by partner. The foregoing should make clear the reason for a three Spade and a four Heart bid with practically the same holdings.

The same course of reasoning should make it apparent that a pre-emptive bid of less than five in Clubs or Diamonds is of little value in shutting out a game bid in Hearts or Spades by opponents. The following represent sound original five Diamond and Club bids by dealer:

Hearts—10
Clubs—K, 4, 2
Diamonds—A, K, J, 10, 9, 7, 5, 3
Spades—7

Hearts—7, 2
Clubs—K, Q, J, 10, 9, 7, 5, 3, 2
Diamonds—A, 4
Spades—

There is really very little value in pre-emptive bids except against inexperienced players.

The experts are too alert to the possibilities of a pre-emptive bid and too quick to infer which suit the pre-emptive bidder is trying to shut out, to make such bids of any great value. For that reason, the advice should not try pre-emptive bids until he thoroughly understands their character and their purpose.

The partner of a pre-emptive bidder should not assist unless he has one or more tricks more than an average hand. A pre-emptive bid includes, as part of the bid, an average hand by partner; so that latter must hold more than average strength to justify a raise.

He was boring her to death, when in came her dog.

"Ah, the dear dog," he said. "Have you taught him any new tricks since I was here last?"

"Yes," she said sweetly. "If you whistle he'll bring your hat."

A good bluff makes more noise than great riches.

IN THE TREE PLANTING ARMY ALL ARE PRIVATES

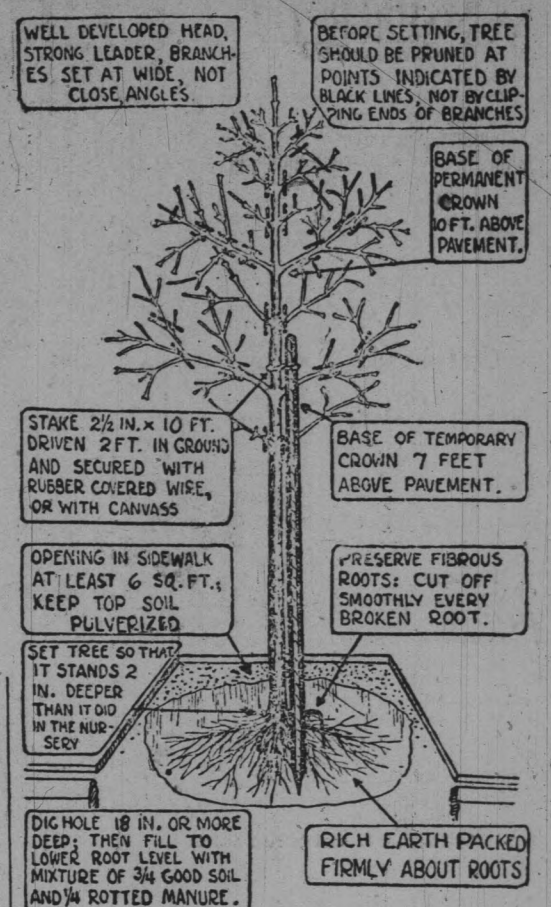

Throughout the country the tree planter is answering the call of the American Tree Association of Washington, D. C., to celebrate the centennial of Arbor Day in 1922, fifty years before it happens by planting the trees now. This tree planting army is unique, says Charles Lathrop Pack, the organizer of the tree planters, in that all are privates and yet each has a rank, that of "a good citizen". That rank or title was bestowed by Theodore Roosevelt in a speech in which he said: "A people without children would face a hopeless future; a country without trees is almost as helpless; forests which are so used that they cannot renew themselves will soon vanish, and with them all their benefits. When you help to preserve our forests or plant new ones you are acting the part of good citizens."

CHARLES LATHROP PACK, President American Tree Association of Washington, D. C., who is organizing a tree planting army, in which all are privates.

This army will outdo the accomplishments of the war garden army according to the reports going to the American Tree Association, which makes every tree planter a member who registers his tree and sends up an engraved certificate of membership. The only way to join this association is to plant a tree.

The Nature Club, of Doylestown, Pa., has taken 250 memberships by the planting of 250 trees at its bird sanctuary. The Chamber of Commerce, of Roseville, Calif., made a thousand "good citizen" members. The Girl Scouts, of Riverside, Calif., joined 200 strong by setting out that number of trees. In Texas, Westminster College announces, "one thousand trees by 1925," and makes application for membership in the tree planting army. The Liberty Insurance Bank, of Louisville, gave three thousand trees to citizens for tree planting and registered the tree planters with the association. The Rock Island Lines has started a tree planting campaign in each of the thirteen states in which it operates. In Virginia the Co-operative Educational Association with 1600 Community Leagues will plant on Arbor Day. Highways are being made Roads of Remembrance. Memorial trees are being planted in thousands of places where the Rotary Clubs, Kiwanis Clubs and the Federation of Women's Clubs are pushing the work. President Harding has endorsed Garden Week for April 22, and Tuesday of that week is to be tree planting day. Here is a chance to celebrate a centennial you may never see, but your name will be listed in the great army of tree planters if you plant now and earn the rank of "a good citizen".

This diagram shows how to plant a tree, and suggestions on tree care and a tree day program will be sent you for a two-cent stamp by the American Tree Association at Washington, D. C.

SNOW CAUSES COAL FIRES

[By Associated Press]

MILES CITY, Mont., March 2.—

Two hundred fires, one of which has been burning for more than half a century, are eating their way into vast beds of lignite and bituminous coal in southeastern Montana, according to Thomas Edison Smith, former manager of a coal mining company in the Bear Creek field.

Snow blankets over surface deposits of coal have caused spontaneous combustion and originated the fires, according to Mr. Smith's theory. In substantiation of it he points to the fact that on southern slopes of the valleys, where the snow melts less readily, the area of burned surface coal beds extends farther back on the hillside.

Will Glendale People Remain Blind to this Big Opportunity

Right in the center of Glendale's Business District there exists the greatest investment opportunity that this fast-growing city has ever offered—yet Glendale sits back with folded hands, blind to the opportunity, while outsiders, keen to grasp it, are coming in from all directions and making reservations for business frontage in

Broadway Central Business Tract

This property needs no introduction to you. It is the site of the Glendale Sanitarium, and must be sold AT ONCE by this institution to finance the erection of its new group of buildings on a new site removed from the business center.

Three years ago, people of Glendale, this entire site could have been purchased for only $55,000, and when the announcement is made that the property would soon be put on sale, not one Glendale person arose to express his confidence in his own town, by making a reservation. Think what this property is worth today. You can buy it below that value NOW. You can buy it and be assured of a more definite opportunity for immense profits than ever before.

While Glendale people sit back, inquiries come in from all over the state. The first reservation was made by a property holder in Long Beach and San Pedro. The next was by two of the most prominent of down-town Los Angeles realty operators. Then a well-known figure in San Francisco circles, recently arrived here, made his selection. A telegram from Sacramento asked that we hold a choice lot for a man there, and this was followed by a long distance call from Bakersfield, making added reservations.

Wake up, Glendale! Don't let outsiders come in and skim the cream of opportunities. We are selling a part of these lots on an entirely new plan and guaranteeing you a profit on your investment this year. Think of it! A guaranteed business lot at lower prices than many are paying for lots in outlying districts, 10, 15 and 20 miles from the city's center, where the future is a gamble and pioneering must be done. Act NOW, Glendale! Come over and make reservations prior to the opening of the sale.

GERMANY RESUMES ORIENTAL TRADE

BERLIN, March 24.—Germany is rapidly regaining its trade in the Far East, in spite of the facts that its islands in the Pacific were taken away by the Versailles treaty and business was interrupted for years by war conditions and the deportation and internment of its business men.

For the first nine months of 1922, Germany sold Japan goods valued at $8,500,000 yen. In 1913, German exports to Japan for the entire twelve months aggregated only $8,000,000 yen. The yen is worth about fifty cents.

In 1921, Germany sold China goods valued at 20,000,000 taels. An increase is anticipated in the figures for 1922 which German exporters believe will make the year's business greater than that of 1913, which was 23,300,000 taels. The tael is worth about one dollar and forty cents.

Before the war Germany had between four and five thousand citizens in China engaged in various commercial pursuits. It is estimated now that two-thirds of these are again in China, endeavoring to re-establish their business connections. German consuls have been back in all the principal business centers of China for some time, including the Tsingtau concession, which Japan wrested from Germany at the beginning of the great war, and which has recently been evacuated by the Japanese and turned back to China.

Germany's ambitious plans for vast territorial possessions in the Pacific, which might form the basis for great naval and commercial power, have been defeated, at least for the present, by the loss of Tsingtau, the Marshall and Caroline Islands, New Guinea and other South Sea possessions. But German steamship lines have resumed their sailings to the Orient and are making an effort to regain their lost business.

By S. W. STRAUS,

President American Society of Thrift.

KEEP down the overhead! This is one of the watchwords of any successfully conducted business, and it should apply with equal force to the individual. No matter how successful a business may be from other standpoints, it cannot be permanently so if it has a runaway overhead.

S. W. STRAUS

In individual affairs too little attention is paid to overhead. Too many persons plunge into expenses that are not warranted by their incomes. Too much rent, too much for clothes, too much for luxuries and non-essentials, too much for amusements and too many of the thousand and one little items of expense that are so easily incurred in this complex modern life of ours. This is how overhead runs away with sound practice in personal affairs.

If you were to ask any good business man today what the overhead of his business amounts to he could tell you instantly. Yet how few individuals could without considerable figuring tell the amount of their personal overhead!

There is a growing tendency toward humanizing business. There should be a corresponding tendency toward more businesslike methods in individual practice.

More of the home in business and more of business in the home. This might to good advantage be made a universal motto.

If you hope to get on in the world and secure the independence and comfort that comes with the accumulation of material possessions, watch your overhead.

Great Britain Seeks to Develop Aviation

[By Associated Press]

LONDON, March 24.—Signs that Great Britain is planning to devote a great deal more attention to aviation, both civil and military, were to be noted during the two days' sessions of the Third Air conference just ended.

Although only one resolution was passed, calling upon the government to give immediate consideration to the foundation of an air mail service throughout the Empire, there was a great deal of serious talk about flying possibilities by speakers who knew their subjects, whether technical or political. All of them emphasized the absolute necessity of England's maintaining a pace in aviation equal to that of any other nation, both from the point of view of commercial flying and the part aerial tactics will play in future military affairs.

Phrases such as "regular 12-hour passenger service between London and New York" and "large fleets of electrically directed airplanes carrying high explosives, travelling without pilots at night, perfectly silent both as to their propellers and engines, carrying death to any town on which they might descend" were used as arguments in favor of government assistance in aerial development. These arguments were advanced no less strongly by government officials than by prominent technicians and persons who might be interested in any government subsidy that may be decided upon.

There are two principal obstacles in the way of aerial development on a large scale; the government's budget is full of necessary items of no mean magnitude, and there has been considerable rivalry between the Royal Air force and the Admiralty as to which should hold the dominant position in the development of such new schemes.

Besides, as was pointed out by Sir Samuel Heare, secretary of state for air, there is the obstacle of "after-war confusion in the world." He had reference particularly to the fact that Germany is not a signatory to the air convention, which has control over civil aviation in European countries and until there are amendments to international regulations governing commercial aviation, there will be limitations to its development. These amendments are expected to be effected very shortly.

One of the main factors in the government's aviation program, as was revealed at the conference, is a plan for the training of reserve pilots and mechanics.

Strong arguments were advanced from the point of view of economy. Commander Charles Dennison Burney, member of parliament for Middlesex, pointed out that 16 airships could be produced for the cost of one battleship, that nine airships could do the work of 60 cruisers, thereby saving the sum of 51,000,000 pounds sterling, and that per square mile of reconnaissance, airships would do for 25 shillings what it would take 77 pounds to do with cruisers.

AT VARICK STREET STATION of the New York postoffice as many as 600,000 letters have been received and the stamps cancelled in two hours.

MERINO TAILORS
212 NORTH BRANDOur ChildrenBy CHARLES H. SHINN
Forest Examiner

As all forest workers know, the highest ultimate of the philosophy of the conservation of natural resources as first presented forcibly to Americans by Gifford Pinchot more than thirty years ago, takes us on and up, from forests, waters, soils and mines to the finest problems of ever-questioning human nature. More than all else they carry us to the feet of the child, the hope of the future.

Michelet, as quoted in John Ruskin's "Sesame and Lilies," one of the world's great books, tells us that Joan of Arc, "The Maid of France," could never have been what she was—the savior of a wretched and almost conquered nation—if she had not been a true child of a great forested region and a watcher of sheep on her native hills.

This thought looms large in a recent book, "Saint Jeanne D'Arc," written by Minna Caroline Smith, which is more of a history than a novel and calls "La Pucelle" the "Girl of the People."

Follow out this thought, dear reader, and remember the way in which the best of American men and women, clear back to the settlements of "Old St. Mary's," of Jamestown and of Boston, were out-door people, were workers in, and lovers of, the wilderness. Let us resolve with full hearts that the children shall have all of the out-door life and knowledge that it is possible to give them.

Many a man doesn't realize how fortunate he is when the girl refuses him.

One Bath a Year.... is it enough?

A BATH every twelve months?

Unthinkable you say. Yet recent figures issued by the Bureau of the census tell us that on the average our suits, coats, and other outer apparel are actually cleaned even less frequently than this.

That suit you wear—if you could sift it; if you could tumble it; if you could clean, rinse and dry it as we do when you send it to us—would yield a full half pound of dust, dirt, and grime.

You owe it to yourself to protect your health from this menace; you owe it to your clothes to keep them freshened up, because clothes thus cleansed last longer.

Send us a few sample things and we will prove it to your permanent satisfaction. Send your suits, gloves, hats, coats, dresses, waists and blouses, and other apparel. In addition to cleaning them for you we will also conserve and sterilize—first by gently sousing in the purest of solvents; next by carefully drying in a breeze of warm, fresh air, and finally, with pressing by a special process which permits live, purifying steam to circulate through every pore of the fabric.

Telephone today and we will call immediately. The benefits which will accrue to you and your clothes will many times repay the small fee which this service costs.

EXCAVATORS OF EGYPT ARE A QUEER LOT

[By Associated Press]

VALLEY OF THE KINGS, LUXOR, Egypt, March 24.—While the world has been following with unabated interest and curiosity the wonderful archaeological discoveries in the Valley of the Kings, little thought has been given to the years of toil, research and patience given by archaeologists in these far-off ruins in order that these wonders of a vanished civilization may be made available to present generations. It is perhaps little understood that the recent unearthing of the tomb of King Tutankhamun by Howard Carter, the British excavator, represents a continuous effort of 23 years of research and excavation. Carter began digging on the site of Thebes, the ancient capital of Egypt, when he was 18 and has never ceased his labors.

He was never rich enough to conduct his own excavations, but has invariably worked for others. Some of his most notable work was done under Theodore M. Davis of Boston, who from 1897 to 1914 discovered six royal tombs and a wealth of rare and valuable antiquities. In more recent years Carter has been associated with Lord Carnarvon, who financed the excavating work of Tutankhamun's tomb. Carter has derived no pecuniary reward from his years of research. A friend has described him as "poor as a tomb mouse." American visitors at the newly-found tomb have remarked that the now famous excavator wears the same suit of clothes, the same hat and shoes, daily, Sunday, and throughout the year.

Carter's devotion and labors in the cause of Egyptological science are typical of the example of all excavators. British, American and French, in the ancient ruins of Egypt. These men may be described as modern hermits in this 5,000-year-old Valley of the Kings. They lead a one-sided and narrow existence. Cut off from all civilizing and uplifting influences, the score or more of them who comprise the foreign colonies of Luxor move within a narrow groove and seldom even come in contact with another. Excavating is almost a religion with them.

The Valley of the Kings and the Theban hills, 450 miles up the Nile from Cairo, are infested with wolves, jackals, wildcats, foxes, snakes, lizards, scorpions, vultures, beetles and vermin. The archaeologists live in unpretentious stone and mortar houses with nothing but the barest rough-hewn furniture and the most primitive household equipment. The house occupied by the American experts was built through the generosity of the late J. Pierpont Morgan, who was moved to pity by their privations and exposure.

The natives of the valley are pathetically poor and untutored. Food is scarce and expensive. Water, where it exists at all, has to be brought from afar in hand buckets. The nights are cold, and fuel is difficult to obtain. Many of the other needs of life also are lacking. The heat of the valley is distressingly severe during the day, and the entire area is plagued with flies and pernicious insects.

The archaeologists have few social contacts. They live like recluses. The whole great bank of the Nile in the neighborhood of ancient Thebes is a desolate, forbidding waste of mud, sand and rock. No flower or vegetable or blade of grass has reared its head above this barren terrain for 50 centuries. Only the most primitive roads exist. Houses are few and far between. In selecting this place for their eternal entombment the ancients choose with an eye to its solemnity, seclusion and silence. The only human beings that move among the sequestered ruins of what was once the most flourishing city in the world are lean and spectre-like Arabs dressed in white robes.

The American visitor to the cavernous valley which holds the imperial dead of bygone ages is overawed by the majesty and dignity of the great, precipitous sandstone cliffs that stand sentinel on either side of the necropolis. He is reminded of the heights of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, or of Yellowstone Falls when the noonday sun transforms them into a golden valley.

By day nothing disturbs the deep repose of the place except the sound of the pick-axes and shovels of the crowds of native boys and men employed in combing the earth for its still hidden archaeological treasures. By night the stillness of the valley of death is broken only by the hooting of owls and the cries of jackals and wildcats. In the midst of the silence and solitude one feels himself standing upon the brink of two worlds, with eyes gazing into a vista of the unknown.

Sleeping in the heart of these mountains are Tutankhamun and his royal kinsfolk. Some of the tombs go down 150 feet and extend back a distance of three city blocks. The ancients believed these were the portals to heaven and everlasting life. American visitors to the chambers of death get a fleeting sense of eternity and immortality as they enter the innermost recesses of the tombs and look upon the wan and pathetic features of a Pharaoh just as he was laid away 3,000 years ago. A modern electric light throws its rays upon the emaciated face, and gives the beholder a thrill of awe and trepidation.

Day after day, throughout the years, the silent, patient archaeologists pursue their lonely calling, finding here a broken statue of a sovereign, there the tomb of a high priest, here the shattered skeleton of a human, there the crumpled figure of a goddess, and everywhere small tokens of a civilization that gave the world rudiments of culture, art and humanity.

SOIL CORROSION INVESTIGATION

The United States government is playing an important part in scientific and commercial achievements. The bureau of standards, which is a branch of the department of commerce, is now carrying on an extensive investigation to determine ways and means of reducing the enormous annual losses due to the corrosive action of soils on buried pipes.

About a year ago, with the active cooperation of the principal manufacturers of iron and steel pipes and the large public utility corporations, and also the bureau of soils, this investigation was started.

The three main objects of the investigation are as follows: first, the determination of the types of soils throughout the country that especially produce corrosive action on iron and steel; secondly, the determination of the kinds of iron and steel pipe that are the most resistant to the corrosive action of particular types of soil; thirdly, the investigation of the most practical means of reducing damage from this cause. The steel interests and the public utility corporations are incurring the major part of the expense of the investigation. Approximately 9,000 specimens of pipe have been furnished free of charge by the pipe manufacturers.

In October the last of the specimens were buried. In February the first buried in the south were taken up. The tests are being held in 48 different soils in as many separate locations scattered throughout the United States. It is estimated that the investigation will cover a period of eight to ten years.

The tests will also cover brass fixtures, pitch-treated pipe, galvanized pipe, and lead-covered pipe.

IMPRESSIONS BY CONTACT

A prominent man in the real estate world, whose work in southern California has been extensive and of great value, has just returned from a tour of Europe. He spent some time in Germany. Of course it would not be fair to judge by fleeting and casual impressions, but while there he seems to have made a keen study of the situation. He comes back with the declared belief that Germany is capable of paying its war debts; that France is justifiable in occupancy of the Ruhr. He believes it the duty of England and the United States to back the activities of France. He thinks that both England and France would be ruined were Germany permitted to escape its responsibilities. He says of Germany that its fields are being intensively cultivated, that its factories are running twenty-four hours daily. He pronounces Germany one of the most prosperous nations in existence. His theory is that Germany has fraudulently depreciated its own currency in order to give apparent foundation to a plea for leniency.

It is at least refreshing to encounter such frankness. This is particularly the case since the men and publications that were hostile to America in the war, and while on American soil sought to bring about the victory of Germany, are engaged now in heaping abuse on France. Doubtless the German propagandists will at once stamp this observer as a French propagandist and thus much to be condemned.

Even if Germany could not meet its obligations, it might have won favor by displaying a chastened spirit, instead of one of truculence and obduracy. It might win favor even yet by an apparent effort to act with fairness, although this required the tacit admission that while engaged in devastation of France, it had erred. There is not the slightest sign that it admits having erred. This attitude has been the great obstacle to an understanding; so France seeks an understanding by other means.

THE HEIGHT LIMIT

The rule limiting the height of buildings, as in Los Angeles, to 150 feet, is generally adjudged to be wise. With so much space as available in most western cities, the creation of canyons such as mark downtown New York, would be inexcusable. In the metropolis there is reason. Ground area is restricted. Prices of realty are high. Unless lofty structures were permitted, nobody could afford to buy the land upon which to build, or even to enter into long lease.

By limiting height so as to allow no more than thirteen full stories, congestion is prevented. The business district spreads, and really is more accessible than if piled to dizzy altitude. Occupants have better light and ventilation, and are in less danger than if thirty, forty or fifty stories above the pavement. Artistically the effect of extremely high buildings is disastrous. This is not to deny that some of the New York edifices are in themselves impressive for beauty, but to say that the general effect is bad. The mass is depressing. Some of the deeper canyons of New York hardly know a touch of sun even at noonday. The streets are made gloomy, permeated by perpetual twilight.

Los Angeles has decided to let hotels be as high as other business structures, the advantageous effect of this move being apparent at once in plans to enlarge a number of hotels by adding several stories. Others will be erected, that never would have been, had the law not been changed. A hotel properly built is as safe as any mercantile establishment.

JUST A SAMPLE

As a sample of the work of which moonshine whisky is capable may be cited the effect it had on a group of soldiers in military barracks in Georgia. There were five soldiers in the drinking bout. Two were killed outright by the stuff, two others are not expected to survive, and the remaining one will be blind.

Such episodes as this are common. Nobody who buys liquor from a bootlegger can have any assurance that a dreadful fate is not to be the immediate result. The whole business is so charged with corruption that there is no safety. Men who purvey liquor that they believe to be of the character indicated by the label of a qualified manufacturer, often have been fooled by the crook from whom they purchased it. The label may be forged, the stamp counterfeit, and the content of the bottle synthetic poison.

In these facts is a strong argument for enforcement of prohibition, quite apart from any moral consideration, or the duties of citizenship to abide by the constitution. The public has the right to be protected. The intelligent part of the public, that would refuse to deal with the vendors of spurious wares, has the right to protection against the victims of s. vendors. The fiery beverages now peddled make lunatics and criminals of the consumers, and thus are a source of danger even to those who never touch them.

Boring a well at Long Beach deeper than any other, resulted in producing a gusher. Heretofore all the vast California supply has come from much nearer the surface. Nobody knows what may be found farther down. Hence guesses as to when the oil fields are to be exhausted are just that, guesses.

Perhaps it is singular that women should desire a court of their own. There has been enough experience of feminine juries already to prove that they decide according to facts, and never permit sympathy to overcome their judgment. The defendant who relies on sentiment would have a better chance in a tribunal wholly masculine.

A GREAT TRUTH

Lincoln said that no nation could exist half slave and half free. Japan is finding the force of this great truth. It is being expressed through the threat of a civil war. That country has a great class known as "Outcasts." These have no voice, but now they demand a voice. In number they are more than three million, quite enough to create commotion in an area so compact and populous. They show a tendency to favor the soviet system.

That people have a right to participate in their own government is a principle that has received perhaps its fullest vindication in the United States. There is here no element that is barred from participation. Discontented little coteries may bawl their dissatisfaction, and seek to overthrow the existing order, but to be effective they must first become a majority. Meanwhile they are privileged to vote for such men and measures as are pleasing to them. There is no attempt to stifle their political activities. So long as they refrain from lawless conduct, they are safe from interference.

Japan is deemed a fairly astute government. It has won its way through diplomacy to being a world power. But it is not possible that it shall indefinitely maintain an outcast body of millions, and continue to progress without internal jars, possibly serious enough to change its apparent destiny.

Californians who fancy that they know the history of their state pretty well, might find by listening to a lecture by Dr. Robert G. Cleland of Occidental college, that there were whole chapters that they had missed; vital and interesting chapters at that.

Bestowal of honorary degrees upon men not intellectually deserving of them seems to rob the titles of a measure of dignity. For example there could be no excuse for dubbing the Prince of Wales an LL.D. and yet this is done frequently.

MANDRAGORA

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

Cooing Coues and purring Pollyannas are fine for purposes of fiction. More, they are cheerful companions and inspiring when one sits quietly reflecting on the technique of life in general.

"Every day in every way I am getting better and better" is a morning cocktail of no mean potency and a hopeful outlook is a balance on the right side of the ledger.

But beware of the voice of the scheming siren when it begins to drone into your ears the admonition to sit still and trust, especially if it happens, as it generally does, that it admonishes you to sit while somebody else is up and doing.

Mandrags that, as a woman of my acquaintance has learned to her grim cost.

"Every day in every way you are getting richer and richer" is the tune that a group of scamps droned into her ears and when she was groggy with the rhythm of it they borrowed the major part of her fortune to "invest" for her.

Friends advised her to sue at the first moment that things looked strange; but they—i mean the gang who had borrowed of her—sat beside her and cooed:

"There is no evil; nothing can go wrong. There may be delay, but eternal good cannot fail. Don't resort to litigation. Wait and have faith."

So she waited and had faith while her anaesthetizers hustled and converted her securities into cash and the cash into goods and the goods into cash again.

"Be still and know that everything is right" they cooed and the mandragora entered into her brain cells and she dozed again. And so the month sped and she still slumbered and did nothing else.

By and bye, after what everybody but her and her fleecers thought an incredibly long time, she woke. But it was too late. The mandragora had done its work and her funds were gone.

Now, I have no wish to discredit that large number of admirable men and women who believe with sturdy vigor that in the long course of the cosmic processes good and good alone is destined to prevail. I, too, believe it; but it seems to me vital that any one practicing daily the Coue philosophy should cultivate at the same time an understanding of the indubitable fact that mandragora can be used for ill as well as for good.

When anybody tells you to be still and know God you ought to make certain that your cash is in your pockets and the hands of the hypnotic brother is in his pocket while he purrs.

I'll believe in the triumph of good as quickly as anybody; but when I am taking lessons in the perfection of them all I'll park my coin in the corner bank and I'll do my mending with ample mundane security. No mandragora for me, thank you.

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

What is your favorite trouble?
Nearly everybody who has reached the age of reason has a favorite trouble.

And is always bringing that favorite trouble to your attention.

There is a class of thinkers whose favorite trouble is banks and bankers.

They are responsible for a lot of evils, so it is said.

They hold the money of the world in hand.

And they do a lot of other evil things.

Then there is the man who is opposed to our educational system.

He thinks we have departed from the old and steadfast Three R's.

Too much academic knowledge and training. Universities breeding anarchists and theists and socialists.

And he begins his conversation thus: "The trouble with this country is—" and goes on indefinitely.

Yet we take it the universities and the professors and educators are striving the best they can to get at the truth.

And let us profit from it if we will.

From "Lucy"—By William Wordsworth

She dwelt among the untrodden ways
Beside the springs of Dove,
A Maid whom there was none to praise
And very few to love:

A violet by a mossy stone
Half hidden from the eye

Fair as a star, when only one
Is shining in the sky.

She lived unknown, and few could know
When Lucy ceased to be;

But she is in her grave, and oh,
The difference to me!

YOUR ATTENTION-PAY ATTENTION TO HER

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THESE words are addressed to the brother.

They are intended to call his attention to his sister and to give him a few suggestions of advice concerning her.

Enforced intimacies are always trying. They put a rather severe strain on one's character. The boy and girl brought up in the same family come into such continual contact and know each other so well that it is easy for them to fall into that familiarity that breeds contempt.

But the Creator properly knew what He was about when He gave us the members of our family. We are apt to think they do not suit us and to wish that they were different. But the trouble quite often lies with ourselves. If we would make more of an effort to understand ourselves, to control ourselves and to be of service, we should get along better.

You are going to meet many other girls, brother, most of them when they are on parade. And you may think that they are prettier and more agreeable than your sister, mainly because you do not see them so much as you do her.

But your sister has a relationship to you that no other girl will ever have and it can be made very beautiful and grow into a lifelong, helpful friendship.

Pay attention to her. Give her some of those little courtesies you extend to other girls. Bring her some flowers once in a while or a box of candy. Take her to a show. Offer yourself as an escort.

Get up when she comes into the room and treat her as you would welcome a stranger. Keep this treatment up consistently for a while and see what happens.

Above all things, try to understand her. The most difficult person to live with in the world is one you do not think understands you. Hence listen to your sister. Encourage her to give you her confidence and to try to appreciate her problems. Get her in the way of looking to you for help. Don't be impossible. And don't criticize her. Don't get into the bad habit of rude frankness. Nobody can flourish under an atmosphere of continual fault-finding. Don't say sharp and bitter things. And above all things don't ridicule her.

You have no idea what a charming person your sister might be if you would simply show her that you love her and are glad in her presence.

Sisters are sometimes difficult, but they are worth working for. And a brother who has gained the love and confidence of his sister has got something which will be a source of comfort and happiness to him all his life.

And try to look at the situation as if it were a privilege to you to be her brother and not a privilege for her to be your sister.

Curb your egotism if you can possibly do it. Let her impose upon you a bit, which is a woman's privilege and deserves no one, not even herself.

In other words, give her the best you have. Try to build up in her a sincere and genuine feeling for you. Who knows? Some day it may be for you a tower of strength.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

A MILLION YEARS AGO

[New York Herald]

The discovery in Patagonia by Dr. J. G. Wolk of a human skull which is possibly more than a million years old, stirs the imagination to an even greater extent than the work of the archaeologists in the Valley of Kings in Egypt.

If the skull belongs, as Dr. Wolk believes it does, to the Tertiary period, it is by far the most ancient human relic that has yet come to man's notice.

The Tertiary period was a period of great geological changes which left the conformation of the earth much as it later became familiar to civilized man. In this age the Alps were thrust out from the bowels of the earth; the Himalayas arose and the Cordilleras were created, the backbone of the Americas.

This creature whose skull was found in Patagonia, may have seen the Andes up-thrust—certainly an even greater thrill than that which came to the Spanish adventurer, who first stared at the Pacific.

Great monsters, fearful reptiles, probably crossed the path of this early comer among men. To a man accustomed as he was to continental convulsions and sudden encounters with gigantic beasts this modern world would appear unspeakably tame. What would a European war be to a man who saw the Cordilleras born?

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

Doubtless the communists now on trial at St. Joseph, Mich., regard themselves as political prisoners. In a sense they are political prisoners, but not in the sense they mean themselves. They are held, not for their opinions, nor for the expression of those opinions, but because they are suspected of fomenting crimes of violence.

It is the privilege of any citizen to say he does not regard the government as flawless. Most citizens take frequent advantage of the privilege. They denounce the principles of the party in office, and hope to place representatives of their own party in power. Their efforts to this end, however, have to be limited to lawful method. They may not, for example, place a bomb under the habit of the opposition. They may not seek to incite the rabble to sabotage. They must not advocate murder or arson. All these things they do, and when clapped into jail, lift the voice of lamentation, and seek the protection of the very laws they have assaulted and reviled and sought to efface.

At the trial, the words of one of the defendants, praising the Herrin butchery were read. The author of the sentiment had been expelled from France by the American army during the war, because he went about preaching sedition to the soldiers. Had they shot him much trouble and expense would have been saved.

It was shown that at the meeting which led to arrests, there had been a delegate from Moscow, representing leaders of the revolutionary movement. In other words, a wretched and treacherous regime of bolshevism not only plots against this government, but has the nerve to let its creature come within the jurisdiction of the government to exploit its criminal methods. All this is "political," but all of it stands for offenses not to be softened by giving them soft names.

A correspondent of the Hearst papers announces that France does not intend to ratify the four-power treaty. Perhaps not. It may be that in the present condition of stress, conclusion has been reached that ratification would not be wise.

Nevertheless the impulse of the intelligent reader is to believe, just because the correspondent says otherwise, that France will ratify.

It is not often that Secretary Hughes is caught napping, but his giving of incorrect information to congress must have indicated the exceptional case. Mr. Hughes, however, is precisely the type of man, who having made a mistake and discovered it, is quick to make the truth known. His voluntary retraction easily is to be construed into an apology to Great Britain. The duty of formulating it could not have been exactly pleasing.

Negotiations between Germany and France are expected to begin soon. The present conditions are such as Germany could not endure very long if there existed possibility of changing them.

France seems to have all the better of the argument, not only as to the justness of its cause, but the presence of an armed force doubtless helps.

Occasionally something fantastically unjust is brought to light through exposure of a law as aired in court proceedings.

Recently a woman sued for divorce on the ground of non-support. Her husband would not work, although competent to work. She not only had to earn her own living, but feed the lazy brute and keep a roof over him. A decree was denied. She was told by the court that so long as she had been supported, though by her own efforts, she could not establish a claim of non-support. Wouldn't that jar you!

That she had been supporting the husband was a circumstance that seemed not to count. Had she declined to earn wages, but sat in the chimney corner, shivering and hungry, she might have had a chance at court. She proved herself worthy and industrious, and hadn't a ghost of a chance.

Cabled from Paris comes the information that Mrs. George G. Gould Jr. is not intending to marry Mr. So-and-so.

If the cable is not too crowded, the message might be sent back that nobody over here cares so much as a tinker's dam.

A man happened to confide to a friend the neat and effective manner in which a corporation with which he was connected had beaten the government out of a large lump of income taxes. There happened to be an agent of the government within earshot. The result is seen in the filing of a suit for the unpaid tax.

Perhaps there is a moral to this. Perhaps it is that one who wins in a skin game ought not to brag about it.

Two bills for censorship of the movies have been introduced at Sacramento. They were treated with proper respect, having been sent to the committee room, which is as pleasant a place in which to die as a censorship measure could find.

If the public can't do its own censoring it does not deserve the solicitude of the good people who desire to protect it; of course without thought as to the salary attached to the job of protecting.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN DILGRIM

Little by little Kinky Forbes is beating down his dread of the telephone. He is conquering that pre-natal complex, or whatever it is. The time will come when, being confronted with the task of calling some one on the wire, he will not say:

"Sure, I'll call him in a few minutes."

Instead of putting off the job of sitting down in a nice, comfortable chair, and lifting a four-ounce receiver off the hook, and saying a few pleasant words, he will do it at once. If he doesn't do it, Kinky has been assured by excellent authority that he will not have any more job than a snowbird. The boss is getting tired of his dilatory streak.

"The fact is that I just naturally hate to start anything," Kinky confessed, reluctantly. "I'm not lazy. I work hard enough. But I hate to start."

Which is the fact. Once Kinky has broken ground there is no more earnest laborer. If he makes an appointment with a customer he will be at that customer's door right to the minute, no matter how far away he may be, or how hard the storm is storming, or what may be the condition of Kinky's constitution. He has all the dominant tricks you read about in the magazine ads, too. He pierces 'em with his eye, he thrusts a stiff forefinger at 'em, he produces the order book at the psychological moment, and he leads 'em into signing, almost before they know. But, once that job is done, Kinky is done. He can find more ways to kill time before he picks up another job than there are in the book.

"You've gotta learn," said Kinky's boss, when he talked last with the boy. "That there is only one second of time in all eternity. That second is NOW. It doesn't matter much what happened yesterday, and you may never see tomorrow. The only second that concerns you at all is the one that is being ticked off right NOW. NOW—"

Three Knight Enthusiasts Declare They Are More Than Satisfied With Their Purchases—The New Coupe-Sedan Is Latest Model

A reflection of the high regard that the new seven-passenger Willys-Knight is enjoying in Glendale is exemplified in recent purchases of this new model. Several of the recent buyers of this model car are shown in the accompanying illustration.

Mrs. J. E. Phillips of the Jewel City Undertaking company has purchased one which she will use as a family car. In commenting upon the purchase, Mrs. Phillips said: "We have looked over the entire automobile field regardless of price, as we have wished to purchase an automobile that would always be ready for service and one that would afford the utmost in comfort. Through Capt. Thomas D. Watson of the Glendale Press we became interested in the Willys-Knight sedan, he having had wonderful service from those he has owned, and the one he is driving. We feel that we have the ultimate in the present day automobile."

Jot C. Woods of Glendale has been the owner of a five-passenger Willys-Knight sedan and has purchased the seven-passenger for the use of his family. Mr. Woods travels all over the state and his satisfaction with his Knight has resulted in several personal sales from his splendid recommendation.

The seven-passenger of H. S. Hook is his first Knight automobile and his delight in driving this new creation is unbounded.

The motor lovers of Glendale were given a very interesting talk a short time ago on the conception of the Knight motor and its advance in the motor world. The requests for another talk on this subject have since poured in from the many automobile owners who were unable to find room at the salesroom. It is hoped that Mr. Lawton, who gave this talk, will be able to give his lecture again in the very near future.

Of course the vital factor in any car is the motor, and in this case all questions are quickly settled, as it is the famous sleeve-valve Willys-Knight, the motor that wears in, not out.

Two simple metal sleeves that slide silently up and down between the cylinder wall and the piston, one working within the other, regulate the intake and exhaust of gas and increase flexibility and economy.

There are but 92 parts in the valve mechanism of the Knight motor. Compare this with the 382 parts in the valve mechanism of the best known poppet-valve car. Simplicity and economy of operation are apparent.

Carbon, the foe of other motors, actually increases compression in the Willys-Knight. Its simplicity and freedom from repair have given it an international reputation for long life. There is no record of a Willys-Knight motor that has worn out.

The Willys-Overland corporation has just brought out another new model, the coupe-sedan.

The coupe-sedan—an innovation—combines the chummy sociability of the coupe with the convenience of the sedan, an entirely original body creation of steel for the most discriminating motorist.

Both front and rear seats are full size, richly upholstered in mouse-colored velour and deeply cushioned with springs and hair.

Doors both front and rear eliminate the inconvenience of folding up emergency seats and provide equal comfort for hosts and guests in a big, roomy body that holds five passengers with comfort, giving the comfort of the sedan with the friendliness and coziness of the coupe. Front windows lower entirely out of sight.

The long cowl and hood, adorned with a nickel-plated radiator shell and nickel-plated head lamps of barrel design and nickel-plated butler cowl lamps, give an appearance of a car that is light and fleet, yet

AUTOS TRAVEL ON WALL OF CANTON

The Wall of China, that great structure which in days past marked the dividing line between civilization and barbarism, is now being used as an automobile highway. Great streams of motor cars travel the top of this huge pile. The Wall of Canton, which was practically the same width and height as the Great Wall of China, has been torn down and the materials have made a wide road 28 miles long, over which motor cars and buses travel daily.

CALIFORNIA AUTO LAWS GETTING BETTER

Day by day, in many a way, California is improving its motor laws, point out officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California. And there are thousands of auto owners who are offering up thanks for the fact.

USE BRAKES WITH TIRES TO ADVANCE, CARE, PLAY SAFE CLAIMED BY EXPERT

The greatest fault with American drivers today is that they drive with their brakes. It may be due to the fact that life in America is speeded up to a dizzying pace; that our great cities are congested with automobile traffic and that the brakes are actually built so mechanically sound that even in spite of the abuse they are subjected to they stand up under the strain.

Every time you hear a traffic officer's whistle in a large city, you almost immediately hear a crunching of brakes and scraping of dry tires on the dry pavement.

And even in long cross-country drives, where hilly country is encountered, some drivers constantly jam on their brakes when slowing down instead of allowing their cars to slow down before the brakes are applied. Every tire mark on the pavement costs some automobilist money, sooner or later.

The motorist should take things easy in driving, whether in a crowd or out of a crowd. Fast

"There is no division of opinion among American tire manufacturers as to the desirability of producing rubber on American soil," said a prominent tire man recently. "But no one should be fooled into thinking that establishing rubber plantations in the Philippines is going to bring the price back to the levels of the last two years," he added.

"Rubber sold at this time a year ago for 16 cents a pound. Two years ago it was selling for 19 cents a pound, as against 34 cents today. But these are not normal figures. Ten years ago we had to pay as high as $1.30 a pound. And the price has never been below 50 cents up till the summer of 1920."

"New rubber plantations in the Philippines, even if they could be brought into bearing immediately, instead of after seven years, would not give the American people 18-cent rubber or 19-cent rubber. Rubber can't be profitably produced for that figure, in the Philippines or anywhere else."

"The low-priced rubber of 1921 and 1922 represented distress sales. They represented as well heavy losses on the part of the plantation owners. Rubber was sold well below the cost of producing it. It sold at low figures because there was a huge surplus of crude rubber on the market."

"This period of low prices was a very serious one, not only for the rubber growers but for all the industries depending upon rubber—and for all consumers. That situation could not have continued very long without the growers being forced to give up their plantations and let them go back to jungle, with the result that when rubber was in demand again, and the supply was depleted, the price would skyrocket, and we would perhaps find ourselves paying $2 a pound again, as we did ten years ago."

This tire man presented a table of rubber prices since 1909, as follows:

February average, 1909 to	Per lb.
Feb. 1, 1915	.80
Feb. 1, 1916	.81
Feb. 1, 1917	.80
Feb. 1, 1918	.74
Feb. 1, 1919	.55
Feb. 1, 1920	.51
Feb. 1, 1921	.10
Feb. 1, 1922	.15
Feb. 1, 1923	.34

"Plantation rubber sufficient to meet the world's needs comes on an average around 25 or 30 cents a pound to produce," he continued.

"The price would have to be from 30 to 35 cents a pound before new capital would be justified in starting plantations, because of the heavy initial expense in clearing the jungles, in recruiting labor, in building mills, towns, roads, railroads and the like, and the further fact that the investor would have to wait seven years before he could begin to get anything back on his investment."

OIL VALVE STEMS—CHECKS LEAKS

A slow leak in the tire valve plunger can be sometimes checked by applying a drop of oil on the valve stem. The oil partially dissolves the rubber, and causes it to seal itself to an airtight joint. Of course, the valve is spoiled upon removal, the oil having enabled it to serve the purpose until a new valve could be put in.

POSSIBLY YOUR TROUBLE IS HERE

WHEN BRAKE BANDS SQUEAK
When dirt becomes firmly entrenched in the brake lining, causing chronic squeaking, use a treatment of a little rosin mixed with castor oil applied to the bands.

PROPER ADJUSTMENT
Always keep the foot pedal and hand lever in proper position so that the foot pedal will never go down far enough to strike the floor board, and so that the hand lever will never pull back and strike in its slot.

COLD WEATHER PROTECTION
A car that is to be operated throughout the winter should have a non-freezing solution in the radiator. Some sort of cover should be provided for the radiator so that the engine can be maintained at the proper temperature. The working parts require lighter-boiled oil. Inspect the storage battery frequently. Skid chains are essential for driving on icy roads, and the brakes should be kept in perfect working order.

lature is the one governing the stopping of cars on the highways of the state. At the present time the law provides that no vehicle undergoing repair or for the purpose of camping shall stop on the road. There is nothing said at the present time about a man stopping his car in the middle of the road to chat with a friend or to buy vegetables or for any other purpose than repairing or making a camp.

Many accidents which have been caused by motorists halting their cars in unexpected places on the road have not been prosecuted because the law did not make it illegal to stop there.

The Auto Club has from time to time issued appeals to car drivers to use thoughtfulness for the welfare of others in stopping their cars and to a large extent this has been of some avail, but with the coming of spring and the appearance of scores of fruit and vegetable stands along the roads the situation is getting out of control.

It is hoped by the majority of motorists that at this time next year there will be a proper law providing for the keeping of highways clear so that traffic may flow easily and freely. There are many other improvements in the motor vehicle regulations which would be of interest to motorists.

driving between short city blocks followed by a sudden jamming on of the brakes, gains little time and is expensive, both in the wear and tear on the tires, the burning out of the brake lining and injury to the brakes and other mechanical parts of the car. Never put more pressure on the brakes than is absolutely necessary to stop at the point you wish.

In going down hill, take your foot off the accelerator, and the motor, set at a safe pace, will hold the car back. If the grade is very steep, shift to second or first speed as the grade may require before starting.

Under no circumstances is it advisable to throw the clutch out when actually driving down hill. To do so may mean absolute loss of control. It is not good driving, either, to shut off the spark completely. It is a safe practice to have the motor running in order to have power on tap in case of emergency.

LINCOLN CAR IS ON DISPLAY HERE

A beautiful, brand-new, seven-passenger Lincoln auto is now on exhibition by the Jesse E. Smith company, on West Broadway, and since its arrival this car has been commanding a great deal of attention. Without doubt, the Lincoln is in every way one of the leading cars on the market, being everything that an automobile should be. Mr. Smith has the following to say concerning the Lincoln, for which he is local agent:

"The outstanding superiorities of the Lincoln car are the result of a greater mechanical accuracy than has heretofore been realized in motor car construction. The Lincoln car is easier riding, smoother, running, more readily handled, more flexible under control, steadier on the road and sturdier under hard service than any other car, regardless of price or claims.

"We would like the opportunity of explaining further the high quality characteristics of the Lincoln.

"To the owner of a Lincoln there are no restrictions in the fullest enjoyment of motor car service.

"Whether the individual requirement is based upon a definite sense of security, a desire for speed and power, or an appreciation of luxurious comfort, it finds its fullest realization in what the Lincoln does.

"In outward appearance, Lincoln motor cars embody true refinement with rare beauty. There are ten body types from which to make a selection."

RFREIGHT RATE ABROAD

The freight rate for shipping an automobile from New York to London, in a box, is 25 cents per cubic foot, which makes the charge vary from about $68 for a small car to $140 for a large one.

ALL CHEVROLETS NOW IN 'A' CLASS

The motoring public will no doubt be interested in learning that on March 1 all Chevrolet models have been given a class "A" classification by the Underwriters association.

This classification carries with it a reduction in fire insurance rates on all superior Chevrolet models of from 25 to 60 per cent.

The Chevrolet engineering department has been working on the changes necessary to bring this classification about for sometime past and it has been a real problem to incorporate the necessary changes and bring them through in production. However, the job has been done and all Chevrolet owners will benefit by it in the future.

SLOGAN OF AUTO CLUB BRINGS PROTEST

Some time ago the Auto Club of Southern California suggested to all auto drivers that they stop giving lifts to strangers they meet along the roads, and evidently this has taken such good effect that "strangers" are getting mad about it.

A letter to the auto club presents the strangers' side of the subject and shows how some of them feel about it. The whole trouble arose out of the fact that many good-hearted motorists have felt sorry for highway hikers and they have given them free rides only to get hit over the head with a sapstick for their trouble. One man was killed out on the desert recently by some strange boys he picked up.

Here is what a letter received from "Sacramento Goldie," a hardy Wobblie who admits it, says (this was written from Douglas, Arizona):

"At the present time I have just completed 35 miles of hiking across the wind-swept desert all on account of your famous slogan, 'Don't tolerate with strangers.' I am only a tramp and have been for the last three years. But as you know the biggest part of the job are all lined up and are putting the smear on your slogan. We are starting a campaign telling how it is a gippe game between the stage lines and yourself. I am hitting the old box cars east, so your highway slogan can take a slump, but I'm just hoping one of you birds gets it in the desert without water and gets a touch of it. Experience is a dear school, but a fool learneth in no other. Hoping to line you up in the Wobblies, I remain,

"SACRAMENTO GOLDIE,
"Card No. 47347.
"I'll be back next winter in California."

So it seems that a lot of self-confessed tramps are angry with the auto club for putting out the slogan, "Don't pick up strangers." But it is the fault of the strangers that they do not get picked up. If the highway hikers behaved like gentlemen when they were getting rides they would be helped out more often.

SHELLAC RIMS—IT PAYS
It is a simple matter to remove the tire from a rim which has been shellaced. Motorists should paint their tire rims with shellac after first cleaning the rim carefully, and after the shellac has been applied allow it to dry thoroughly before putting on the tire.

CITY PRINTING RESOLUTION NO. 1853

A RESOLUTION SUBMITTING TO THE ELECTIONS OF THE CITY OF GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, THE QUESTION OF THE POLICY TO BE ADOPTED IN PAYING THE COST OF ORNAMENTAL STREET LIGHTING.

WHEREAS, a considerable number of ornamental street lighting fixtures have been installed on various streets of the City of Glendale and others are contemplated, and the cost of lighting and maintaining the same amount to a considerable sum of money each year, and it is desirable that a definite policy to be followed hereafter in the payment of said costs should be adopted, and that the same should be determined by the electors of the City of Glendale,

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF GLENDALE:

SECTION 1: That this Council does hereby call a special election to be held in the City of Glendale on the 10th day of April, 1923, and submit to the qualified electors of said City at said election the two alternative propositions stated in the form of ballot hereinafter set forth, and does hereby pledge itself to adopt and follow which ever one of said two propositions shall receive the greater number of votes at said election as the policy of the City of Glendale in the matter of paying the costs of lighting and maintaining ornamental street lighting fixtures in said City.

SECTION 2: The election hereby called shall be held at the same time by the same polling places as the general municipal election heretofore called to be held in the City of Glendale on the 10th day of April, 1923, and the City Clerk shall provide and furnish to the election officers at each of such polling places a sufficient number of ballots for the election hereby called, and also separate ballot boxes in which to place said ballots and separate tally sheets therefor. The said election officers shall permit none but qualified electors of the City of Glendale to vote at the election hereby called, but no roster of voters or other list of electors voting need be kept. The returns of said election shall be forwarded to the City Clerk and canvassed by the Council in like manner as in case of other elections. The City Clerk shall also send out sample ballots for the special election hereby called. The ballots and sample ballots for said special election shall be in the following form:

INSTRUCTIONS TO VOTERS
Each elector is requested to vote for one, and only one, of the alternative propositions stated below, by marking a cross (X) after the proposition favored. The Council of the City of Glendale have agreed to adopt and follow as the policy of said City in the matter of paying the costs of lighting and maintaining ornamental street lighting fixtures, whichever of said two propositions receives the greater number of votes.

Proposition No. 1:
The cost of lighting and maintaining all ornamental street lighting fixtures in the City of Glendale shall be paid entirely from the general taxation of said City.

Proposition No. 2:
The cost of lighting and maintaining all ornamental street lighting fixtures in the City of Glendale shall be paid by special assessment on the abutting property, except that the City of Glendale shall pay from its general taxation a part thereof equal to the cost of the ordinary street lighting that would be supplied by the City on a street of the same character as the Southeastern corner of Lot Six (6) of Block Ninety-Six (96) of the Subdivision of the Rancho Providencia and Scott Tract, in the County of Los Angeles, State of California, as per map recorded in Book 47 et seq., of Miscellaneous Records of said County; except the Southeastern corner of Lot Six (6) of Block Ninety-Six (96) of the Subdivision of the Rancho Providencia and Scott Tract, in the County of Los Angeles, State of California, as per map recorded in Book 47 et seq., of Miscellaneous Records of said County, and that the same was passed by the following vote:

certify to the passage of this Resolution and cause the same to be published once in the Glendale Daily Press, a daily newspaper published and circulated in said City, and the same shall take effect and be in force immediately upon its passage.

Passed by the Council of the City of Glendale this 15th day of March, 1923.

SPENCER ROBINSON,
Mayor of the City of Glendale.

ATTEST: A. J. VAN WIE,
City Clerk of the City of Glendale.

CITY PRINTING

RESOLUTION NO. 1854

BE IT RESOLVED AND DETERMINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF GLENDALE:

SECTION 1. That the public interest and necessity demand the acquisition of the water-bearing land from which to obtain water to be used by the municipal waterworks of said City in supplying water to the City of Glendale and the inhabitants thereof, which land is described as follows:

Lots Four (4), Five (5), and Six (6), in Block Ninety-Six (96) of the Subdivision of the Rancho Providencia and Scott Tract, in the County of Los Angeles, State of California, as per map recorded in Book 47 et seq., of Miscellaneous Records of said County; except the Southeastern corner of Lot Six (6) of Block Ninety-Six (96) of the Subdivision of the Rancho Providencia and Scott Tract, in the County of Los Angeles, State of California, as per map recorded in Book 47 et seq., of Miscellaneous Records of said County, and that the same was passed by the following vote:

That the total estimated cost of said municipal improvement is the sum of Sixty-six Thousand Dollars ($66,000.00), which estimated cost is and will be too great to be paid out of the ordinary annual income and revenue of said City. That the public interest demands the expenditure for municipal purposes, to-wit: The acquisition of the aforesaid municipal improvement, of the said total sum of Sixty-Six Thousand Dollars ($66,000.00), which cannot be provided for as a whole out of the ordinary revenue of said City. That of said total estimated cost of said municipal improvement the sum of Seventeen Thousand Dollars ($17,000.00) can and will be provided for out of the income and revenue of said City for the present fiscal year, and the balance of said estimated cost of said improvement, which balance is the sum of Forty-Nine Thousand Dollars ($49,000.00), being the balance of the total estimated cost of said improvement, which cannot be provided for out of the ordinary revenue of said City.

PUBLIC NOTICE

WHEREAS, a verified petition has been filed with the City Clerk of the City of Glendale by C. J. Higgins and others, asking that the territory therein and hereinafter described be established and set apart, by ordinance, as a First-Class Residential District, which petition proposes that such territory or district be restricted from any and all industries, trades and businesses, and from the erection, construction, establishment, alteration or change of any and all buildings, structures, or improvements which are designated, intended to be arranged to be occupied or used for any purpose other than a single family residence or dwelling; and WHEREAS, said petition is signed by the owners of more than fifty per cent of the frontage of the property of such proposed district; and WHEREAS, said City Clerk has presented said petition to the City Council, and said Council has directed that notice of a public hearing upon said petition be given by the City Clerk as required by Section 2, Article XV. of the Charter of the City of Glendale, by one publication in the official newspaper of said City at least ten days before the time of hearing.

Therefore, pursuant to the direction of said City Council, and the requirements of Section 2, Article XV. of said Charter.

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that at the hour of 7 o'clock P. M. of the 2nd day of April, 1923, at the Council chamber in the City of Glendale, a public hearing will be given and had upon said petition and the matters and things therein contained, and more particularly to determine whether said territory or district therein and hereafter described shall be established and set apart as a First-Class Residential District as requested in said petition, at which time and place all persons having any objection or objections to the establishment of said First-Class Residential District may appear before said City Council and present any objection or objections which they may have against the establishment of said proposed First-Class Residential District. A written protest or objection may be filed with the City Clerk by any person having an interest in any of the frontage of the property of such proposed district or frontage of property which will be directly affected by the proposed district. Such protest or objection must be filed not later than the hour set for hearing. All protestants may appear before the Council at said hearing, either in person or by counsel, and be heard in support of their protests or objections.

CITY PRINTING

The territory or district described in said petition, and which is proposed to be set apart as a First-Class Residential District as aforesaid, is described as follows:

Beginning at the southeasterly corner of Lexington Drive and the first alley west of Jackson Street; thence easterly along the southerly line of Lexington Drive and its extension across Jackson Street to the southeasterly corner of Lexington Drive and the first alley east of Jackson Street; thence southerly along the westerly line of the first alley east of Jackson Street and its extension across Jackson Avenue to the southeasterly corner of Lot 10, Block 6, Town of Glendale, as per map recorded in Book 14, pages 95 and 96, Miscellaneous Records of Los Angeles County, California; thence westerly along the southerly line of said Lot 10 and its westerly extension across Jackson Street and along the southerly line of Lot 9, Block 7 of said Town of Glendale to the southeasterly corner of said Lot 8; thence northerly along the easterly line of the first alley west of Jackson Street and its extension across California Avenue to the point of beginning.

The petition above referred to is on file in the office of the City Clerk of the City of Glendale, and is hereby referred to for further particulars. This notice shall be published once in the Glendale Daily Press, the official newspaper of said City, at least ten days before the date of the hearing hereinabove mentioned. Dated, March 21, 1923.

City Clerk of the City of Glendale.

BUY NEXT AUTO BY TEXAS PETROLEUM CO. COMPLETES COMPARISON, SAYS HUNTER

True comparison is one of the best ways to buy. When a lady thinks of a new hat she will go to the different stores and look at the stock shown and generally settle on two or three models which may be sold by two different stores. She will then commence to make comparisons. She will compare the quality of the hat, the appearance and the like. In other words, she compares value and quality and buys where she gets the most for her money.

Again, take a man buying a suit. He doesn't buy the first piece of goods shown. The tailor shows him several pieces, perhaps twelve to fifteen. He feels and compares the goods, and takes the piece that is the best buy.

Why not buy an automobile the same way, look at the different makes, compare the quality, power, roominess, upkeep expense, the factory behind the goods, and many other comparisons. C. H. Hunter, Oldsmobile dealer, has often wondered why the general buying public did not do that. Last week a man came in and asked for information about the Oldsmobile. Mr. Hunter gave the answer and he took a piece of paper and wrote on it. After a demonstration he said he would think about giving an order for a car. Two days later he purchased the Oldsmobile. Curiosity got the best of Mr. Hunter, so he asked him what he was writing on his paper. He then showed the paper. It was a list of comparisons of the different cars he was interested in.

The Oldsmobile agency has made up such a list as this man used. These can be had for the asking at 208 W. Broadway. Buy your next car by comparison.

FEBRUARY BIG IN AUTO PRODUCTION

February motor vehicle production was the third largest month on record, according to shipping reports made to the directors' meeting of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce in New York recently.

The output of 270,995 cars and trucks is regarded by the industry as indicative of a big year as February is usually a light period. The production figure for the past month is 125 per cent greater than the second month in 1921. The previous high mark for February was 180,000 in 1920.

What is known as "the complete cycle" in the petroleum industry has now been completed through the United States by the Texas company, producers of Texaco petroleum products. This complete cycle includes production, refining and marketing facilities, and the Texas company now has facilities in all three phases from coast to coast, and from the Gulf of Mexico to the Great Lakes.

This complete cycle has been achieved by the recent developments and expansion of the Texas company in the Far West, which was the link needed to make the activities of the company country-wide. The production is from the company's wells in the Salt Creek fields in Wyoming, and the refining facilities have been accomplished by the erection of a new refinery at Casper, Wyoming. Along with these production and refining facilities has been the organization of a Western sales department, with headquarters at Denver, Colorado, and the establishment of stations and other marketing equipment throughout the new territory.

A. A. A. Denounces Gas Price Fixing

A demand for a thorough investigation of gasoline price fixing in the United States and strong government support for the development of crude rubber plantations were the outstanding features of the American Automobile Association executive board meeting held in Detroit this week.

George C. Diehl of Buffalo, president of the A. A. A., presided at the session. M. O. Eldridge, executive chairman, reported on the recent investigation by the United States senate committee which looked into gasoline price fixing.

There was strong evidence of collusion in the fixing of gasoline prices, the report said, despite the fact that oil companies denied any such attempts. The executive board adopted a resolution recommending the United States attorney-general take steps to prosecute those responsible for the price fixing.

THE "TROUBLE SHOOTER" Shows How to Locate and Correct any Automobile Engine Trouble

By E. H. SCOTT

This is the fifth of a series of specially prepared and illustrated articles showing the ordinary automobile driver how to locate any engine trouble.

What To Do When Your Engine Overheats Badly, or Stops Suddenly Because It Is Seized Up

If when you are driving along the road the engine stops VERY SUDDENLY, it may have seized up. If you try to turn it over, it is very stiff to turn or won't turn at all, or has been heating up and steam is coming from the radiator and the engine is knocking badly then—weather. If the water is circulating and there is plenty of water in the radiator then—

1. Look in the Radiator to see that there is enough water and that it is circulating. If it is very low, DO NOT pour in a fresh supply of water immediately, or you will crack the cylinders. If the water is very low, inspect the Radiator and hose connections for leaks, and make sure the drain cock at the bottom of the Radiator or the water pump has not accidentally jarred open. If the water does not seem to be circulating, and you have a pump fitted, the key in the pump handle may have sheared off, or the pump shaft may be broken. This trouble generally occurs in freezing weather. If the water is circulating and there is plenty of water in the radiator then—

2. Examine to see that you have sufficient oil in the crankcase, and that there is a pressure in the oil gauge. If the oil level is very low, and the engine has seized up, squirt about three tablespoons full of kerosene into each cylinder, allow the oil to soak in for half an hour. After this period, try to turn the engine over. If it is free, fill up with a fresh supply of oil, and pour a little oil into each cylinder through the Priming Cocks or Spark Plug Holes, then turn the engine over with the hand crank or Starter.

3. Examine the Fan Belt to see that it is not slipping or is broken. It should be adjusted so that when you pull the fan blade around with your hand, it is JUST possible to slide the belt on the pulley. If the fan belt is all right then—

4. Examine the Ignition Control connections to see that they are all connected up, and that they operate the Distributor properly, that is, when the Spark Lever is moved, LOOK TO SEE THAT THE DISTRIBUTOR HEAD MOVES AT THE SAME TIME. If it does, and you are sure that you have not been driving with your Spark Lever RETARDED, then check up the Ignition Timing to see that it has not slipped. The instructions in last week's article, No. 8, will show you how to do this. If the ignition timing checks up all right then—

5. Make sure the Brakes are not dragging. After running at a fair speed for some time, stop the car and feel the brake drums. If they are HOT, the brakes are binding or dragging. Jack up the rear wheels, and with the brake lever OFF, the wheels should turn quite freely. After Slack off the adjusting screw until the wheel turns freely. After adjusting the brakes, test them by running the car along the road, seeing that they act promptly in braking the car. If the Brakes are all right then—

6. Test the Clutch to see if it is slipping. To do this—1st, Pull on the brakes. 2nd, Speed up the engine to about the same speed it would be running on the road at 15 miles an hour. 4th, GRADUALLY let in the clutch. If the engine will STILL KEEP RUNNING, then the clutch needs adjusting, but if the engine STOPS when the clutch is let in, it is all right. If the Clutch tests out all right then—

7. If the engine knocked badly when the spark lever was advanced, and stopped knocking when it was retarded, the Crankshaft is cleaned out of the cylinders, either by taking off the cylinder head and scraping it out, or have it burned out at a service station with oxygen.

8. Test the Valve clearances to see that the adjustment is not set too close. Sometimes a inexperienced man will set the clearance so that the engine runs silently, but when it gets warm, the Valves have not got enough room to expand, with the result that they do not close properly. Find out from the Instruction Book you got with your car what the correct clearance is for your engine, and see that it is kept to this. With the engine well warmed up and valve seated, there should be a clearance or space between valve stem and tappet of the thickness of a sheet of business letter paper. If you do not know how to adjust your Valves, look for the special articles appearing next week. If however the Valve clearances are all right then—

9. Take off and clean out the Muffler. It gets clogged up with carbon. When this happens, the exhaust gasses cannot get away freely, and causes a back pressure, which takes all the life and pep out of the engine.

10. Test the Carburetor adjustment to see that the mixture is not either too rich or too lean. Consult the instruction book issued by the makers of the Carburetor or that issued with your car. It is advisable for the average man to have an expert adjust the Carburetor if it is possible. At a later date we will give you instructions showing how to "tune up" a Carburetor, when you find that this has to be done and you cannot get expert assistance.

NEXT WEEK—WHAT TO DO WHEN THE ENGINE WILL NOT RUN SMOOTHLY AND REGULARLY.

Why Hydrometer Reads High or Low

Here's why hydrometer reading is higher when the battery is charged than when it is discharged.

Sulphuric acid is almost twice as heavy as water. A pint of water weighs almost exactly one pound, while a pint of sulphuric acid weighs almost two pounds. The gravity of water is 1, and the gravity of pure concentrated sulphuric acid is 1.84. The liquid in a storage battery is made up of two parts of pure distilled water and one part of sulphuric acid. This electrolyte has a specific gravity of 1.280, or a little more than a quarter heavier than water. As the battery discharges, sulphur and oxygen leave the electrolyte and unite with the lead plate, forming lead sulphate. As the sulphur combines with the lead the electrolyte becomes lighter; thus the hydrometer gives a smaller reading when a battery is in a discharged state. On charge, the sulphur and oxygen are returned to the electrolyte from the lead plates and the hydrometer gives a high reading when the battery is charged.

CAUSES BREAKDOWNS
The neglect in tightening bolts or filling grease cups often leads to trouble and frequently a breakdown.

CARE OF AUTO WHEELS
Wheels should be removed for inspection once or twice a season, new washers replacing the old ones if necessary.

A FEW PERTINENT FACTS ABOUT AUTOS

New York state has 300 regularly organized motor bus companies.

A policeman in Lewiston, Me., uses a megaphone in directing traffic at one of the canal bridges in that city.

Many of the well-to-do families of Yonkers, N. Y., send their chauffeurs and costly limousines to coal yards to get loads of coal.

Motor vehicles now in operation in this country represent an original investment on the part of their owners of more than $11,000,000,000.

For the first time in history, mounted policemen were recently used in Paris for regulating street traffic at a few of the congested traffic centers.

From 1910 to 1922 the number of motor vehicles in the United States increased 200 per cent, and the increase in funds for road-buildings was only 400 per cent.

Mayor Curley of Boston has offered a prize to the student at Massachusetts Institute of Technology who shall submit the best plan for handling traffic congestion.

The production of automobiles in the United States this year, it is estimated, will exceed 2,400,000 vehicles, or a 10 per cent increase over the yearly record of 2,205,000 in 1920.

An automobile dealer in the Middle West has inaugurated a flat-rate service guarantee, by which he undertakes to keep the cars he sells in running order for one year at a cost of $25.

Cars entered in the 1923 French Grand Prix may not weigh over 1410 pounds and must have a maximum piston displacement of 122 inches. German and Austrian cars are restrained from entering.

Approximately 962,000 motor vehicles are licensed in Great Britain. This figure includes 314,000 passenger automobiles, 377,000 motor cycles, 150,000 motor trucks and 77,000 taxis. There are 13,663 licensed motor buses.

The state of Kansas has 152,000 separate farms. On these there are 114,719 automobiles, 5435 motor trucks, 921,874 tractors and 102 trailers. Only 10,000 farms of the total do not have either motor cars, trucks or tractors.

Highway engineers in England are constructing roads with an allowance for super-elevation on corner curves wherever desirable. French road engineers long ago adopted the banked curve, and in some parts of the United States they are now in use.

ARIZ. AND CALIF. GET PLENTY OF SNOW

Southern California mountains have had their full share of snow this season, but except for the out-of-the-way canyons and almost inaccessible peaks, the snow does not last long. Our neighboring state, Arizona, is generally considered more nearly tropic in climate than California, yet even there roads are occasionally made impassable, especially in the mountain districts of the northern portion of the state.

Arizona has done wonders in road improvement during the past two or three years, but the millions spent thus far served only the main traveled highways. Rain and snow soon renders unimproved dirt roads impassable, and the recent rainstorms, which turned into snow at higher elevations, played havoc with the desert route to Arizona by way of Needles, and from Prescott to Phoenix a large portion of the route was badly cut up and for a time actually blocked by snowdrifts.

Movement to Save "Gas" Is Urged

In a recent issue of "Automotive Industries" the action of the research department of the Society of Automobile Engineers in connection with fuel conservation is described. The committee has forwarded a statement to the La Follette committee of the senate investigating the gasoline situation in which certain recommendations toward gasoline conservation are recommended.

The first factor urges the adoption of a law requiring "universal" adoption of means for maintaining the engine and the carburetor at the intake at the best operating temperature. The next factor urged is the "adoption as rapidly as possible of carbureting device which can be adjusted once and for all by the maker to supply automatically a correct amount of fuel as completely atomized as possible for economical operation under all conditions."

CARE OF SPARE TIRES

The under side of the spare tire is one part of a car that is often overlooked, but should be attended to regularly. This part becomes coated with mud and road oil, and the spare stands in pool of water. Unless it is cleaned off, permanent injury may be done to the tread and to the casing if there are any breaks in the tread.

MOTORIST SHOULD LEARN TIRE PATCHING

It is not necessary to have a garage or service station make a small repair in a tube. The easiest and quickest method of treating holes which are not more than a sixteenth of an inch in diameter is to use any one of a variety of cement patches, which simply require one side of the patch covered with gasoline. Clean the space about the hole with the petrol, rub with sandpaper to provide the necessary "grip" and then put the patch in place. Keep a pressure on the patch for a few minutes and the job is complete.

MANY AUTOS AT CAPITAL

With an increase of 36.7 per cent, the District of Columbia during 1922 showed a larger percentage of increase in registration of motor vehicles than any state in the union.

TIRES SHOULD FIT WELL

To get the longest mileage out of tires, see that they are the proper tires for the rims, and see that they fit snugly.

The efficiency and dependability of the Dodge car can be vouched for by Detective Sergeant Royle of the Glendale police department.

Last June the local police department purchased a Dodge car from the Glendale agency and since that time has driven it 50,148 miles, with an expense for repairs of but 1 1/4 mills per mile. This car has been driven in police work entirely and has been run at speeds from 2 to 65 miles an hour. It has gone rain or shine, night and day, anywhere and everywhere. It averaged 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline.

The low repair cost is due in a great measure to the efficient work done on the car at the local Dodge agency, the firm of R. E. Corrigan, 145 South Brand boulevard.

USE SHELLAC-SOAP ON LEAKY SEAMS

A leaky seam in a gasoline tank can be temporarily repaired by painting the joint with common shellac. If shellac is not available, almost any kind of soap thoroughly worked into the seam will prove effective until such time as you can have the tank repaired. It is never advisable to attempt soldering a gasoline tank, for the work is so inexpensive, and the danger so great when attempted by an amateur, that it doesn't pay.

AUTOS APLENTY IN USE

There are enough motor vehicles in the United States to take the entire population of the country for a ride at the same time. At the beginning of 1922 there were 4.2 motor vehicles for each mile of road.

MOTORING PARTIES SPOILING OWN PLEASURES

Tin cans, paper bags, cracker crumbs and soiled paper napkins are responsible for some bad news which affects every auto owner in the western part of the United States but particularly in the southern counties of California, according to officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Official word is just received by the Auto club that motoring parties will be no longer allowed to camp in Palm, Andres and Murray Canyons. This step has been made necessary according to the United States field service report because of the rubbish, pollution of water and fire hazards occasioned by careless auto parties who have previously camped in these beautiful canyons of Southern California.

This indicates that strenuous measures are going to be taken by the government in forest reserve canyons to preserve the beauty of nature unadorned by festoons of sardine tins, orange peels and cast-off papers. Motorists who take their lunches in the canyons of Southern California and then throw what remains to the four winds, thus cluttering up the face of nature, are going to be responsible, says the Auto club, for the restriction on camping in many places unless they are careful from now on. With the closing of Palm Canyon, which is one of the most beautiful spots in the west, an important step has been taken toward the preservation of the natural wonders in this part of America.

Reports are being received from many other places that early spring auto camping parties are hard at work making rubbish dumps out of scenic spots. Please pick up all evidence of your lunches and put out your little camp fires, ask the officials of the department of the interior as well as the Auto club. It is just as easy to be clean and neat as not and the authorities suggest that if you throw the sardine tins, olive seeds and orange peels under the table at home, at least don't do it when you are out in the natural dining rooms of California Canyons. A strenuous "clean up" campaign is to be waged throughout this part of the country during the spring and summer.

MOTORING FACTS BOILED DOWN

"Metalduralumin" is a new metal now used in the production of motor vehicles.

Hooch caused 2641 operators of motor vehicles in Massachusetts to lose their licenses last year.

Australia, Belgium, Canada and Mexico are the leading markets for American motor trucks.

last year for motorcars destroyed by fire.

A taxicab equipped with radio was a feature of the recent motor show at Madison Square Garden, New York City.

More than two-thirds of the rubber produced in the world is being manufactured into automobile tires of various kinds.

According to the opinion of President Harding, costly highways ought to be made to serve as feeders rather than competitors of the railroads.

According to records, only about 30 out of every 100 automobile owners know their own license numbers.
